ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, except an alien seaman employed on board a vessel which shall depart immediately for a foreign port from a port of the United States, shall be permitted to land temporarily for the purpose of medical treatment, or for any other purpose, except in case of emergency or actual distress, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, and any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any such alien seaman who is permitted to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be required by such rules and regulations to report to the Department of Labor from time to time and to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or upon some other vessel, within such period as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such alien seaman who fails to depart with the vessel on which he arrived, or to report to the Department of Labor from time to time, or to depart from the United States within the period prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided by this Act. Any such alien seaman who departs from the United States shall be subject to the head tax and visa fee, if any, provided by this Act, unless he shall be otherwise exempt therefrom. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported at any time thereafter at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that he has become a bona fide resident of the United States and has procured employment therein.

SEC. 11. (a) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless the alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart or to remain was excusable or was not voluntary.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(c) If any alien shall be arrested within one year after the entry for which a head tax is required by this Act, and it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien entered the United States in violation of this Act, such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he came prior to such entry, or that he was not required to pay a head tax for such entry.

(d) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(f) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(g) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(i) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(j) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(k) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(l) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(m) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(n) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(o) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(p) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(q) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(r) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(s) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(t) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(u) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(v) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(w) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(x) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this Act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was excusable or was not voluntary.

(y) Any alien who shall enter the United States after the time with respect to which he was admitted as a temporary visitor, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his departure was prevented by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen, or that his departure was not reasonably practicable.

(z) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has remained in the United States in excess of the period during which he was permitted to land temporarily or has violated any of the conditions under which he was admitted as a nonquota immigrant, he shall cause such alien to be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list of races and peoples shall be printed on plain white paper in type not smaller than brevier capitals, and shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the forward part of the vessel, where it can be easily seen by the passengers. The list of races and peoples shall be the list of races and peoples specified in section 2 of the act of February 5, 1917, entitled "An act to regulate the immigration of aliens to, and the residence of aliens in, the United States," and shall not be added to or changed in any way. It shall be the duty of the master of each vessel to see that the list is so posted before the vessel leaves the port at which the last examination of passengers is had before departure from the United States, and to see that it remains so posted during the entire voyage. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $100 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That the master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver manifests, or to answer questions concerning passengers, as required by section 29 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to make the report required by section 34 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the tax imposed by section 35 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver lists of passengers, as required by section 32 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to make the report and furnish the information required by section 33 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to furnish such additional information relative to such passengers as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such passenger with respect to whom such refusal or neglect occurs, and no clearance shall be granted to such vessel while it remains in port, nor shall such vessel be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which is situated any seaport at which such master shall seek to enter his vessel after refusing or neglecting to furnish the information required of him by section 33 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to pay the tax imposed by section 35 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to deliver lists of passengers as required by section 32 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to make the report required by section 34 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to furnish such additional information relative to such passengers as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, as provided by section 33 of this act, until he shall have complied with such requirements of this section and paid the penalties herein prescribed: Provided, That clearance papers may be granted by the collector of customs of the district in which is situated any seaport at which such master shall seek to enter his vessel after refusing or neglecting to furnish the information required of him by section 33 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to pay the tax imposed by section 35 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to deliver lists of passengers as required by section 32 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to make the report and furnish the information required by section 34 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to furnish such additional information relative to such passengers as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, as provided by section 33 of this act, upon the payment or securing of the payment of the penalties herein prescribed, and upon the execution of a bond in such sum as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, not exceeding $900 for each passenger with respect to whom such refusal or neglect occurs, conditioned for the payment of such penalties as may be imposed under the provisions of this section: And provided further, That clearance papers may be granted by the collector of customs of the district in which is situated any seaport at which such master shall seek to enter his vessel after refusing or neglecting to furnish the information required of him by section 33 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to pay the tax imposed by section 35 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to deliver lists of passengers as required by section 32 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to make the report and furnish the information required by section 34 of this act, or after refusing or neglecting to furnish such additional information relative to such passengers as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, as provided by section 33 of this act, upon the execution of a bond in such sum as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, not exceeding $900 for each passenger with respect to whom such refusal or neglect occurs, conditioned for the payment of such penalties as may be imposed under the provisions of this section.

(a) Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver manifests, or to answer questions concerning passengers, as required by section 29 of this act, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(b) Any master who shall refuse or neglect to pay the tax imposed by section 35 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver lists of passengers, as required by section 32 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to make the report and furnish the information required by section 34 of this act, or who shall refuse or neglect to furnish such additional information relative to such passengers as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, as provided by section 33 of this act, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each offense.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the refusal or neglect of the master to perform any duty required by section 33 of this act was occasioned by the inability of the master to obtain the information required by reason of the fact that the passenger was destined to a locality remote from a railroad station or other place where information could be obtained, or by reason of the fact that the passenger was destined to a locality where there was no government officer authorized to administer oaths, the master may be excused from the performance of such duty upon such terms as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Rule 7. . . . B. . . . Any vessel which is not required to be inspected by section 4463 of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the act of February 7, 1917, entitled "An act to regulate the immigration of aliens to, and the residence of aliens in, the United States," and which is not subject to the provisions of section 4 of the act of June 15, 1917, entitled "An act to punish acts of interference with the foreign relations, the neutrality and the foreign commerce of the United States, to punish espionage, and better to enforce the criminal laws of the United States, and for other purposes," may be inspected upon the request of the master, owner, agent, or consignee, and a certificate issued specifying the number of passengers it is authorized to carry, and the route and conditions under which it is authorized to operate.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1824

SEC. 10. . . . That the owner, master, or commander of any vessel clearing from any port in the United States, or from any foreign port, for any port in the United States, who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the collector of the district to which such vessel may be bound, a manifest of the cargo on board such vessel, or a copy thereof, certified on the oath of such owner, master, or commander, to be a true and perfect manifest and copy, in every case in which a manifest or copy thereof may be required by this act, or by any regulation of the Secretary of the Treasury, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truly and fully all questions which may be demanded of him by the collector of the district to which such vessel may be bound, touching the manifest aforesaid, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000, and by imprisonment not exceeding one year.

SEC. 31. . . . That the master of any vessel bound to a port in the United States shall not be required to deliver a manifest of the cargo on board such vessel, or a copy thereof, if laden wholly by consignments to a resident within the district where the vessel may be entered, and the master shall, if required, make oath to that effect; but in such case a manifest shall be delivered to the collector, within twenty-four hours after the vessel shall be entered, by the consignee of the cargo or some one of the consignees, if more than one, or by the agent of such consignee; and if the master of any vessel shall neglect to deliver such manifest, or shall not make oath as to the fact of the consignment of the cargo, when required, he shall be liable to the same penalty as if he had failed to deliver a manifest.

SEC. 32. . . . That the master of every vessel bringing passengers into the United States from any foreign port shall, before any such passenger is landed, deliver to the collector of the district in which the vessel shall arrive a list or manifest of all such passengers, and shall subscribe and take and deliver to such collector a declaration in writing and under oath, that the list or manifest by him delivered contains a full, true, and perfect account of all such passengers who have taken passage on board such vessel at any foreign port or place, and of all such passengers who have been transported from any foreign port or place on board any vessel which has been consorted with such vessel, and that he will produce such list or manifest to any officer of the United States who may demand the same; and such master shall, with respect to each such passenger who shall not be included in such list or manifest, or with respect to the whole number of such passengers if no list or manifest shall have been delivered, pay to the collector the sum of $10, unless such master shall produce a certificate from a consul of the United States, residing at the port or place from which such passenger was brought, that the name of such passenger was unknown to such master, owner, agent, or consignee, and could not be ascertained by him after the exercise of reasonable diligence, which certificate shall be conclusive upon the collector as to the facts therein stated; and such master shall, moreover, before he shall be entitled to a clearance for the vessel on which such passengers shall have been brought, make oath before the collector that the matters and things stated in such list or manifest, and in the certificate of the consul, if any such be produced, are true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

SEC. 33. That the master of any vessel bringing passengers into the United States from any foreign port shall, before any such passenger is landed, deliver to the collector of the district in which the vessel shall arrive a list or manifest of all such passengers, and shall subscribe and take and deliver to such collector a declaration in writing and under oath, that the list or manifest by him delivered contains a full, true, and perfect account of all such passengers who have taken passage on board such vessel at any foreign port or place, and of all such passengers who have been transported from any foreign port or place on board any vessel which has been consorted with such vessel, and that he will produce such list or manifest to any officer of the United States who may demand the same; and such master shall, with respect to each such passenger who shall not be included in such list or manifest, or with respect to the whole number of such passengers if no list or manifest shall have been delivered, pay to the collector the sum of $10, unless such master shall produce a certificate from a consul of the United States, residing at the port or place from which such passenger was brought, that the name of such passenger was unknown to such master, owner, agent, or consignee, and could not be ascertained by him after the exercise of reasonable diligence, which certificate shall be conclusive upon the collector as to the facts therein stated; and such master shall, moreover, before he shall be entitled to a clearance for the vessel on which such passengers shall have been brought, make oath before the collector that the matters and things stated in such list or manifest, and in the certificate of the consul, if any such be produced, are true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that the refusal or neglect of the master to perform any duty required by section 33 of this act was occasioned by the inability of the master to obtain the information required by reason of the fact that the passenger was destined to a locality remote from a railroad station or other place where information could be obtained, or by reason of the fact that the passenger was destined to a locality where there was no government officer authorized to administer oaths, the master may be excused from the performance of such duty upon such terms as to the Secretary of Labor may seem just.

The list of races and peoples before which the inspectors are directed to place the letter which indicates the race to which each immigrant belongs is printed in the first column to the right of the immigrant's name. This list has been carefully revised by the Department of Labor and certain additions made which experience has shown are necessary in order to secure the correct classification of immigrants. The word "Hebrew" is not a race designation and should not be used. Many people of different races come from countries loosely designated as Turkish, Russian, etc. Care should be taken to ascertain the particular race to which each belongs. Thus, under the head of Turkish, Armenians, Greeks, Turks, Syrians, Arabs, Koords, Montenegrins, Albanians, Roumanians, Bulgarians, Servians, Croatians, Dalmatians, Bosnians, Herzegovinians, Slavonians, Ruthenians, Moldavians, Georgians, Lithuanians, Finns, Livonians, Esthonians, Lapps, Poles, Russian Hebrews, Russian Poles, Russian Germans, Russian Gypsies, Russian Moors, Russian Negroes, Russian Scandinavians, Russian Scotch, Russian Spanish, Russian Turkish, Russian Welsh, Russian West Indian, Russian Yankee, Russian Yemen, Russian Zincali, Russian Zingaro, Turkish Hebrews, Turkish Negroes, Turkish Spanish, Turkish Welsh, Turkish West Indian, Turkish Yankee, Turkish Yemen, Turkish Zincali, Turkish Zingaro, Spanish Hebrews, Spanish Negroes, Spanish Welsh, Spanish West Indian, Spanish Yankee, Spanish Yemen, Spanish Zincali, Spanish Zingaro, Hebrew Negroes, Hebrew Welsh, Hebrew West Indian, Hebrew Yankee, Hebrew Yemen, Hebrew Zincali, Hebrew Zingaro, Negro Welsh, Negro West Indian, Negro Yankee, Negro Yemen, Negro Zincali, Negro Zingaro, Welsh West Indian, Welsh Yankee, Welsh Yemen, Welsh Zincali, Welsh Zingaro, West Indian Yankee, West Indian Yemen, West Indian Zincali, West Indian Zingaro, Yankee Yemen, Yankee Zincali, Yankee Zingaro, Yemen Zincali, Yemen Zingaro, Zincali Zingaro, Italian (north), Italian (south), Corsican, Sardinian, Sicilian, Basque, Celtic, Cornish, Dutch, Flemish, Frisian, German, Hanoverian, Hessian, Prussian, Saxon, Wurtemburger, Bavarian, Austrian, Bohemian, Moravian, Tyrolese, Carinthian, Carniolan, Galician, Croatian, Dalmatian, Bosnian, Herzegovinian, Slavonian, Ruthenian, Moldavian, Georgian, Lithuanian, Finnish, Livonian, Esthonian, Lapp, Polish, Russian Hebrew, Russian Polish, Russian German, Russian Gypsy, Russian Moorish, Russian Negro, Russian Scandinavian, Russian Scotch, Russian Spanish, Russian Turkish, Russian Welsh, Russian West Indian, Russian Yankee, Russian Yemen, Russian Zincali, Russian Zingaro, Turkish Hebrew, Turkish Negro, Turkish Spanish, Turkish Welsh, Turkish West Indian, Turkish Yankee, Turkish Yemen, Turkish Zincali, Turkish Zingaro, Spanish Hebrew, Spanish Negro, Spanish Welsh, Spanish West Indian, Spanish Yankee, Spanish Yemen, Spanish Zincali, Spanish Zingaro, Hebrew Negro, Hebrew Welsh, Hebrew West Indian, Hebrew Yankee, Hebrew Yemen, Hebrew Zincali, Hebrew Zingaro, Negro Welsh, Negro West Indian, Negro Yankee, Negro Yemen, Negro Zincali, Negro Zingaro, Welsh West Indian, Welsh Yankee, Welsh Yemen, Welsh Zincali, Welsh Zingaro, West Indian Yankee, West Indian Yemen, West Indian Zincali, West Indian Zingaro, Yankee Yemen, Yankee Zincali, Yankee Zingaro, Yemen Zincali, Yemen Zingaro, Zincali Zingaro, Italian (north), Italian (south), Corsican, Sardinian, Sicilian, Basque, Celtic, Cornish, Dutch, Flemish, Frisian, German, Hanoverian, Hessian, Prussian, Saxon, Wurtemburger, Bavarian, Austrian, Bohemian, Moravian, Tyrolese, Carinthian, Carniolan, Galician, Croatian, Dalmatian, Bosnian, Herzegovinian, Slavonian, Ruthenian, Moldavian, Georgian, Lithuanian, Finnish, Livonian, Esthonian, Lapp, Polish, Russian Hebrew, Russian Polish, Russian German, Russian Gypsy, Russian Moorish, Russian Negro, Russian Scandinavian, Russian Scotch, Russian Spanish, Russian Turkish, Russian Welsh, Russian West Indian, Russian Yankee, Russian Yemen, Russian Zincali, Russian Zingaro, Turkish Hebrew, Turkish Negro, Turkish Spanish, Turkish Welsh, Turkish West Indian, Turkish Yankee, Turkish Yemen, Turkish Zincali, Turkish Zingaro, Spanish Hebrew, Spanish Negro, Spanish Welsh, Spanish West Indian, Spanish Yankee, Spanish Yemen, Spanish Zincali, Spanish Zingaro, Hebrew Negro, Hebrew Welsh, Hebrew West Indian, Hebrew Yankee, Hebrew Yemen, Hebrew Zincali, Hebrew Zingaro, Negro Welsh, Negro West Indian, Negro Yankee, Negro Yemen, Negro Zincali, Negro Zingaro, Welsh West Indian, Welsh Yankee, Welsh Yemen, Welsh Zincali, Welsh Zingaro, West Indian Yankee, West Indian Yemen, West Indian Zincali, West Indian Zingaro, Yankee Yemen, Yankee Zincali, Yankee Zingaro, Yemen Zincali, Yemen Zingaro, Zincali Zingaro.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The Act of 20th August 1890, sets forth the necessity on behalf of the Government that the Master of a vessel should be able to read the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and that he should understand the meaning of the various sound signals mentioned therein, and the Act further provides that a Certificate of Competency as Master, duly signed by a Board of Trade Examiner, shall be produced by the Master of a vessel to the Collector of Customs at the first port of entry in the United States at which the vessel shall arrive after the Master shall have received such Certificate, and that a note of the production of such Certificate shall be indorsed upon the Register of the vessel by the Collector of Customs, and that if the Master of any vessel shall fail to produce such Certificate when required so to do, he shall for each such failure be liable to a penalty not exceeding Fifty Dollars, and that the Collector of Customs shall not clear any vessel the Master of which shall not have received such Certificate, or a provisional Certificate granted as hereinafter mentioned, until the penalty aforesaid shall be paid.

Provided, That if the Master of any vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs that he has been prevented by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause from obtaining his Certificate before the vessel's departure from a port in the United States, a provisional Certificate may be granted to him by the Collector of Customs, which shall be in force for not more than three calendar months from the date of its issue, and no longer, unless in the meantime the Master shall have received his Certificate, and such provisional Certificate shall be produced to the Collector of Customs at the first port at which the vessel may arrive after the granting thereof, and a note of the production of such provisional Certificate shall be indorsed upon the Register of the vessel by the Collector of Customs in the same manner as the Certificate of Competency is required to be indorsed, and the penalty aforesaid shall be incurred in case of failure to produce such provisional Certificate as in the case of failure to produce the Certificate of Competency.

(b) That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to prepare and cause to be printed, for the use of the Customs Service, a sufficient number of copies of the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and to furnish a sufficient number of such copies to each vessel to which a certificate of competency as master is granted under the provisions of this Act, to enable such master to perform the duty required of him by this Act.

(c) That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to make such changes in the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea as may be found necessary from time to time, and as may be recommended by any board of three masters of vessels, who shall be appointed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor for the purpose of considering and recommending changes in said Rules and Regulations, whenever a majority of said board shall deem such changes necessary, and such changes shall take effect and be in force six months after they are reported to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor by said board, unless sooner disapproved by the President of the United States, or by Congress, and it shall be the duty of said board to meet annually in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, at such time as the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may designate, for the purpose of considering such changes, and said board shall consist of three masters of vessels, who shall be appointed by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and who shall hold their office for the term of three years, and who shall receive no compensation for their services other than their traveling expenses while in attendance upon the meetings of said board, to be paid out of the appropriation for the Bureau of Navigation.

(d) That the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall cause to be printed, from time to time, such number of copies of the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, as may be necessary for the use of vessels navigating the waters of the United States, and he may cause to be printed on the back of each certificate of competency issued to masters of vessels hereafter, or on a separate slip to be pasted on the back of each certificate now issued, the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and he may cause to be printed on the back of each provisional certificate hereafter granted to masters of vessels, or on a separate slip to be pasted on the back of each provisional certificate now issued, the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and he may cause to be printed on the back of each license hereafter granted to masters of steam vessels, or on a separate slip to be pasted on the back of each license now issued, the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and he may cause to be printed on the back of each license hereafter granted to masters of sailing vessels, or on a separate slip to be pasted on the back of each license now issued, the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and he may cause to be printed on the back of each license hereafter granted to masters of vessels propelled by steam other than steam vessels, or on a separate slip to be pasted on the back of each license now issued, the Rules and Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, and he may cause to be printed on the back of each license hereafter granted to masters of vessels propelled by any power other than steam or sail

If a list of aliens is required to be delivered on board a vessel before the vessel is granted clearance, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel will be required to make oath that the list contains the name of every alien on board such vessel, and that the list truly discloses the number of such aliens who have been allowed to land from such vessel, and the ports at which they were landed, and the number, if any, on board such vessel who have not been allowed to land, and the reasons why they were not allowed to land.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. If it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration, the Assistant Commissioner General of Immigration, or any board of special inquiry that any alien who has been admitted to the United States has become a member of one of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by this Act at the time of his admission, or that any alien who has been admitted to the United States has been found to have been at the time of his admission a member of one of such excluded classes which, by reasonable diligence, could have been ascertained by the examining officers at the time of admission, such alien shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, in the manner provided by section 20 of this Act for the deportation of aliens. The cost of the maintenance of any alien thus taken into custody while awaiting determination of his case and of his return, if he shall be finally ordered returned to the country whence he came, shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Pending such determination and return, such alien may be released from custody upon bail in such amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, but the decision of the Secretary of Labor in such cases shall be final.

SEC. 39. No alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States unless upon the same day he shall depart therefrom in the vessel on which he arrived, or some other vessel, or shall have procured a bond to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with sufficient sureties, in a penalty of not less than $300 nor more than $1,000, conditioned that he will depart on some vessel within such time as may be specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and that he will not become a public charge. Such bond shall be void when the alien departs, or if prevented from departing within the time specified by sickness or accident, or by the act of God, or the public enemies of the United States, or by any cause not the fault of the alien, and the fact is reported to the Secretary of Labor before the bond is forfeited. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, require or accept deposit of cash or bonds of the United States in lieu of sureties on any such bond, and may, after such deposit, in his discretion, receive interest or other income derived therefrom. Unless so required, no such deposit shall be necessary. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any alien seaman prior to the completion of any examination provided for in this Act.

SEC. 40. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who is not admitted into the United States shall be liable to a tax of $100 for each such alien seaman, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be collected by action of debt in the name of the United States.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing vessel on which he arrived may be made by any evidence which is satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor, and may consist merely of the failure of the master to deliver a list containing the name of such alien seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deposition of the alien seaman or the master of the vessel on which he arrived should be taken, he may designate any United States consul to take such deposition, and may order the vessel to remain in port a reasonable time for the purpose.

[Sec. 3. Citizenship, and all rights and privileges thereof, may be forfeited as provided by this Act, or by the Act of February 5, 1917, now in force, or hereafter enacted, by failure to comply with such provisions as to residence, support of dependents, and otherwise, as may be specified in such Act, or by treaty, in the case of citizens of countries with which the United States now is or hereafter may be at war, and by conviction of conspiracy to overthrow the Government of the United States, or of willful treason, or of any of the crimes specified in Title V, Chapter Three, of the Act of March 4, 1909, entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," or by conviction by court martial and dishonorable discharge from the military or naval forces of the United States, or by desertion from the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war, and by final order of a court of competent jurisdiction in proceedings taken for the purpose in the manner provided by law, and in the case of naturalized citizens, such proceedings may be instituted in the court in which such citizen was naturalized or in the district court of the district in which he resides, and jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon such courts for such proceedings; and by voluntary renunciation in the manner provided by law. Upon the institution of proceedings by the Government to cancel a certificate of naturalization, the certificate shall be promptly delivered to the court in which the proceedings are instituted and shall be surrendered by order of the court. Pending such proceedings the court may make such temporary orders as the facts of the case may require. Upon the entry of a judgment or decree finally canceling a certificate of naturalization, the court shall make such order as will require the surrender to it of the certificate of naturalization canceled and of any certified copy of such certificate in the possession of the person against whom such judgment or decree was entered, and shall notify the Department of Labor of such cancellation. If the certificate is not surrendered and cannot be found within thirty days after the entry of such judgment or decree, the court shall report the facts to the Department of Labor. Whenever it shall appear to the Secretary of Labor that any certificate of naturalization was illegally procured or was fraudulently or illegally obtained, he shall institute proceedings in the court in which such certificate was issued for the cancellation thereof, and for the surrender and cancellation of any certified copy of such certificate in the possession of the person against whom such judgment or decree was entered. Pending such proceedings the Secretary of Labor may make such temporary orders as the facts of the case may require. Upon the entry of a judgment or decree finally canceling a certificate, the clerk of the court shall notify

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Bernhard Carstensen Master, of the Norwegian M/S "SILLIVAGER" do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from and port to ports stating for persons foreign nations (Section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917), and Rule 8, subdivision (f), of the Immigration Rules, 1924, which appears below.

Sworn to before me this 22 day of March, 19 25

B. Carstensen Master,
Immigrant Inspector.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be later than the vessel. The list of members of alien members of crews (Asiatic descent) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered to the proper immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving seaman is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival [and] [each] alien employed on such vessel, whether the position they respectively hold in the ship's company; which said aliens are to be discharged in the port of arrival, or who may be destined to any port in the United States from such port of arrival, a complete list, manifest, and abstract of the alien seamen employed on board such vessel at the time of the arrival of the vessel at such port of arrival, which said list, manifest, and abstract shall be prepared and delivered by the master, consignee, or agent of such vessel to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's entry inwards, or immediately upon the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, and before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers. Such list, manifest, and abstract shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer. Such list shall contain the name, age, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether having a ticket through to such destination, whether in possession of money and how much, whether going to join a relative or friend (and if so, what relative or friend and his name and complete address), whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether in the employment of any foreign government, and whether a member of the anarchistic or other objectionable classes, whether coming in pursuance of any prearranged plan, and if so what, whether a stowaway, whether ever deported or removed from the United States, and the cause thereof, and such other facts and particulars in regard to such alien seamen as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list, manifest, and abstract shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, commanding officer, or first or second officer of such vessel, and the truth and correctness of the matters therein contained shall be certified to by the said master, commanding officer, or first or second officer, and by the surgeon of the vessel, if there be a surgeon employed thereon. Such list, manifest, and abstract shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such other information relative to such alien seamen as the Secretary of Labor may require.

(a) Every alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port shall be examined by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and no such alien seaman shall be admitted to entry into the United States unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is entitled to enter the United States under the immigration laws, and is not subject to be excluded or deported therefrom under any of the provisions of this Act.

(b) Section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of such contingencies as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien seaman to the country from which he came to the United States. The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the proper compliance with the provisions of this section by such alien seamen employed on board such vessel, and for the payment of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seamen pending their departure from the United States, and for the payment of any fine imposed under the provisions of this section.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival [as manifest and abstract] of aliens employed on board such vessel, and before any such alien seaman shall be allowed to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of such contingencies as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien seaman to the country from which he came to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of such contingencies as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien seaman to the country from which he came to the United States. The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the proper compliance with the provisions of this section by such alien seamen employed on board such vessel, and for the payment of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seamen pending their departure from the United States, and for the payment of any fine imposed under the provisions of this section.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the pendency of his application for a visa, or who shall depart from the United States within five years after the date of the issuance of a visa to him, shall be required, before being granted another visa, to establish to the satisfaction of the consular officer to whom he applies that he is entitled to the issuance of such visa, and to establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is entitled to enter the United States under the immigration laws, and is not subject to be excluded or deported therefrom under any of the provisions of this Act.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of a mental, physical, or other disability, he may cause such alien seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman may be treated otherwise until such expense has been paid to its pertinent Government to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 8

FAT. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees levied by Section 36 have been furnished, and not then unless, unless of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fines prescribed by section 35 hereof, have been refund, the deposit thereof in Rule 35 has been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The following is a list of all the races or peoples classified by the Department and to which the master, in answering question 12, page 7, must select from the list the race or people to which each alien belongs. Consult the record at the head of section 2 and write in the space provided the race or people to which each alien belongs. Do not write "Caucasian" or "white" or "black" or "brown" or "yellow" or "African" or "Negro" or "Mongolian" as any of these terms is too general to be of any value. Write in the space provided the race or people to which each alien belongs. If the alien belongs to a race or people not listed above, write in the space provided the name of the race or people to which he belongs. If the alien belongs to a mixed race, write the names of the races or peoples of which he is composed, as "Finn-Russian," "Irish-English," "Scotch-Irish," "Spanish-Indian," "Chinese-Negro," "Italian-Negro," "Spanish-Negro," "Indian-Negro," "Chinese-Indian," "Japanese-Indian," "Japanese-Chinese," "Chinese-Japanese," "Japanese-Korean," "Korean-Chinese," "Japanese-Russian," "Russian-Jewish," "Turkish-Jewish," "Arab-Jewish," "Spanish-Indian

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if alien be the guest of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold on board, and such information as is required by section 12 of this Act as to aliens in cabin or second class; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the delivery of such lists and information, and the penalty provided in section 8 of this Act may be imposed upon the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel for failure to deliver such lists and information. Such information shall be kept on file by the immigration officer at the port of arrival for a period of not less than two years from the date of the filing thereof, and shall be open to inspection by immigration officers and by such other persons as may be authorized by law or by direction of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who refuses to deliver such lists and information required by this section, or who refuses to allow immigration officers access to the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who refuses or fails to provide proper facilities for such inspection, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 37. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if alien be the guest of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold on board, and such information as is required by section 12 of this Act as to aliens in cabin or second class; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the delivery of such lists and information, and the penalty provided in section 8 of this Act may be imposed upon the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel for failure to deliver such lists and information. Such information shall be kept on file by the immigration officer at the port of arrival for a period of not less than two years from the date of the filing thereof, and shall be open to inspection by immigration officers and by such other persons as may be authorized by law or by direction of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who refuses to deliver such lists and information required by this section, or who refuses or fails to provide proper facilities for such inspection, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted over vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and no fines unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to such prescribed by section 35 of said Act have been given, and the penalty specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for the purpose of rendering assistance as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, other than a seaman (which includes an officer) in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1.25 for each alien so to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1.25 for each alien so examined in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or account for such seaman by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel. Such proof may be made by the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that such seaman was not found on board the vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof would cause undue hardship to such seaman, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be granted clearance upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such hardship, not exceeding $300, as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such seaman.

(d) Any such seaman who shall remain in the United States beyond the time for which he was granted permission to land shall be deported as an immigrant alien in the manner provided by law.

(e) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the charges of any alien seaman ordered deported from the United States on board such vessel, or who shall refuse to receive such alien seaman on board such vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to detain such alien seaman on board such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to deport such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board some other vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to report the illness or hospital treatment of such alien seaman, or who shall refuse or fail to perform any other duty required in connection with the deportation of such alien seaman, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom any such violation occurs.

(f) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to amend, repeal, or modify the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the payment of the head tax and the immigrant inspection fee.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That every alien arriving at a seaport in the United States from any foreign port or from the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Philippine Islands, to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival shall be examined as to his admissibility to enter the United States under the provisions of this Act, by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, which examination shall be made within five days after the vessel's entry if she has come directly to a port of the United States from a foreign port, and if she has touched at a foreign port she shall be detained at quarantine for such medical examination unless the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, the Commissioner of the United States Public Health Service, and the master of the vessel shall agree that such detention is unnecessary, and thereupon shall issue to each alien a certificate of such examination. In making the examination under this section the medical officer shall first examine the master, the crew, and the cabin passengers, and shall then examine in the order named such aliens as the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may direct. The physician shall have authority to order detained for further observation or special inquiry any alien certified by the surgeon at the foreign port of departure as showing signs of mental or physical disability or infection with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and any alien who arrives unaccompanied by the parent or guardian specified in the permit issued by the consular officer at the port of departure as required by section 2 of this Act, or who is found to be afflicted with any such disease or disability which would have been the cause for refusing him a visa as provided in section 2 of this Act, or who is found to be a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act, shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor for special inquiry as provided in section 16 of this Act. The physician shall also certify the condition of each alien inspected by him and indicate whether or not in his opinion the alien belongs to the class excluded by section 3 of this Act as likely to become a public charge, and his certificate to that effect shall be prima facie evidence that the alien is such a person, but shall not be conclusive unless approved by the immigrant inspector. Any alien certified by the physician as afflicted with any such disease or disability or as belonging to any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act shall be detained until a certificate is issued in accordance with section 16 of this Act, and the decision of the immigrant inspector shall be subject to review by the Secretary of Labor on appeal taken within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by him. Pending the final determination of the case, every alien certified by the physician shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and may be taken before a special inquiry officer for examination at such time as the immigrant inspector may direct. Such examination shall be completed as soon as practicable after the vessel's entry, and in the case of aliens who have been certified by the physician at the port of arrival shall be commenced within two hours after the vessel shall have been admitted to entry or after such further time as may be allowed by the immigrant inspector, not exceeding two hours, and shall be completed within two hours after the same has been commenced, unless further time be granted by the Secretary of Labor. Every alien who shall become entitled to enter the United States shall be given a certificate to that effect by the immigrant inspector.

SEC. 39. That every alien arriving at a seaport in the United States from a foreign port or from the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Philippine Islands shall be in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer at the port of departure, except that nothing in this Act shall be construed to require passports viséed by consular officers in the United States Territory of Alaska for the admission of aliens coming from or going to British Columbia, Mexico, Newfoundland, or the West Indies, or to require passports viséed by consular officers in the Philippine Islands for the admission of aliens coming from or going to China, Japan, or any other country in the Orient, or to require passports viséed by consular officers in the United States Territory of Hawaii for the admission of aliens coming from or going to countries in the Pacific Ocean, or to require passports viséed by consular officers in Porto Rico for the admission of aliens coming from or going to countries in the West Indies, except such countries as may be designated by the President of the United States, or to require passports viséed by consular officers in the United States for the admission of aliens coming from or going to countries contiguous to the United States, except such countries as may be designated by the President of the United States, or to require passports viséed by consular officers in the United States for the admission of aliens coming from or going to countries in Central or South America, except such countries as may be designated by the President of the United States, or to require passports viséed by consular officers in the United States for the admission of aliens coming from or going to the islands adjacent to the countries in this section named, except such islands as may be designated by the President of the United States, but the President of the United States may by proclamation order that passports viséed by consular officers shall be required of aliens coming from or going to any or all countries or islands adjacent thereto specified in such proclamation, and thereafter such passports shall be viséed by such consular officers except as otherwise provided by this Act. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require passports viséed by consular officers in the United States for the admission of aliens coming from or going to Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, or Panama, or the Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto, unless such aliens are citizens, subjects, or residents of countries other than those specified in this section.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel [illegible] arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital to which treatment as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the sufficient cause, or unless upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that such seaman (other than a native of the United States) is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer at the port of departure, or by the consular officer at the port where the vessel last touched before sailing for the United States, except that no such passport shall be required in the case of a seaman who is a native of the United States, or who is in possession of a seaman's certificate issued under section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended by section 2 of the Act of November 4, 1919, or who is a holder of a re-entry permit issued under section 6 of the Act of May 10, 1924. Any seaman who is excluded from admission to the United States under this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and shall be placed on board any vessel bound for a foreign port which will accept him, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be borne by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who refuses or fails to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor shall pay for each such refusal or failure a penalty of $1,000, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, to be recovered by libel proceedings in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master, agent, owner, or consignee of which is liable to a penalty hereunder, or from any vessel which has on board any alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States, until security has been given that such alien seaman will be duly deported.

(b) Upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that any alien seaman has been duly discharged from the vessel on which he arrived, and that security has been given that such alien seaman will be deported as provided in this section, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall be relieved from any penalty which may be incurred by reason of the presence of such alien seaman in the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel on which he arrived in the United States would be unreasonable, or that the cost of maintaining such alien seaman while detained would be unduly burdensome, he may cause such alien seaman to be granted a landing certificate, and such alien seaman shall thereupon be deported as provided in this section.

(d) Upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that any alien seaman has been duly discharged from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and that security has been given that such alien seaman will be deported as provided in this section, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall be relieved from any penalty which may be incurred by reason of the presence of such alien seaman in the United States.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States longer than the period for which he was admitted, or any alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having been examined by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, may be arrested without warrant and taken before the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or any special inquiry officer, and shall be subject to deportation in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(f) Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the penalty imposed by this section, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal or failure.

(g) Any alien seaman who shall fail to report for deportation or who enters any part of the United States in violation of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(h) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended by section 2 of the Act of November 4, 1919, or section 6 of the Act of May 10, 1924, relating to the granting of certificates of identity to aliens seamen.

(i) The Secretary of Labor shall have the power to prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

SEC. 14. That section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended by section 2 of the Act of November 4, 1919, be, and the same is hereby, amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 4. That no alien seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, unless such alien seaman (other than a native of the United States) is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer at the port of departure, or by the consular officer at the port where the vessel last touched before sailing for the United States, except that no such passport shall be required in the case of a seaman who is a native of the United States, or who is in possession of a seaman's certificate issued under section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended by section 2 of the Act of November 4, 1919, or who is a holder of a re-entry permit issued under section 6 of the Act of May 10, 1924. Any seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel in violation of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port shall be arrested without warrant and taken before the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or any special inquiry officer, and shall be subject to deportation in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor shall pay for each such refusal or failure a penalty of $1,000, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, to be recovered by libel proceedings in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master, agent, owner, or consignee of which is liable to a penalty hereunder, or from any vessel which has on board any alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States, until security has been given that such alien seaman will be duly deported.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel on which he arrived in the United States would be unreasonable, or that the cost of maintaining such alien seaman while detained would be unduly burdensome, he may cause such alien seaman to be granted a landing certificate, and such alien seaman shall thereupon be deported as provided in this section.

(b) Upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that any alien seaman has been duly discharged from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and that security has been given that such alien seaman will be deported as provided in this section, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall be relieved from any penalty which may be incurred by reason of the presence of such alien seaman in the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel on which he arrived in the United States would be unreasonable, or that the cost of maintaining such alien seaman while detained would be unduly burdensome, he may cause such alien seaman to be granted a landing certificate, and such alien seaman shall thereupon be deported as provided in this section, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall be relieved from any penalty which may be incurred by reason of the presence of such alien seaman in the United States.

(d) Upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that any alien seaman has been duly discharged from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and that security has been given that such alien seaman will be deported as provided in this section, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall be relieved from any penalty which may be incurred by reason of the presence of such alien seaman in the United States.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States longer than the period for which he was admitted, or any alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having been examined by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, may be arrested without warrant and taken before the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or any special inquiry officer, and shall be subject to deportation in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(f) Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor shall pay for each such refusal or failure a penalty of $1,000, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, to be recovered by libel proceedings in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master, agent, owner, or consignee of which is liable to a penalty hereunder, or from any vessel which has on board any alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States, until security has been given that such alien seaman will be duly deported

The list described below is prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and is ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port. The list of citizens of alien countries to serve (April 6th) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the boarding immigration officer at the port.

When an affidavit according to a "form-away," a duplicate to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 30. That every alien arriving in the United States from the foreign port or place if able to the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively examined by an said vessel, whether the application therefor they personally took the oath prescribed in the port of arrival, or else consignee, or master to report to any immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases of persons found on board of such alien not duly entered on the manifest, except with the information required by the Secretary of Labor to be had of the application; and before the vessel in which such alien arrived shall be granted clearance by the collector or other officer of the customs, or if such vessel be not required by law to obtain such clearance, before the departure of such vessel from the port, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall report to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the name of every such alien on board, whether destined to the United States or not, and shall furnish such information in regard to each such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse to report, or who shall report falsely, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question asked him by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse to allow any immigration officer to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the master thereof, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board of such vessel when required so to do by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse to deliver a list of the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position each alien employed on such vessel, or who shall refuse to carry back any alien passenger who may be refused a landing from such vessel, or who shall refuse to pay the head tax imposed by this Act in respect of any such alien passenger, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien while detained on board of such vessel, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of such alien's removal in case a landing shall be refused him, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted vessel until the fees required by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been collected, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 35 of said Act, if any, have been waived, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel transferred to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury to such vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such alien seaman (which inspection shall be made within 24 hours after the vessel arrives at the port, if such vessel arrives during the regular hours of such officer's employment), or has delivered to the master of such vessel a certificate issued by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor stating that such seaman may be permitted to land temporarily or permanently under the immigration laws. Any such alien who lands in violation of this section, and any master who permits such alien to land, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such alien so landed, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except foreign contiguous territory), or any person in charge at the port of arrival of any such vessel, who shall refuse to detain on board any alien seaman (whether an alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman or has delivered to the master of such vessel a certificate issued by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor stating that such seaman may be permitted to land temporarily or permanently under the immigration laws), or who fails to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain shore leave from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was deported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain such alien seaman on board.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or from any possession of the United States to any other port of the United States there shall be taken from each alien immigrant physical and mental examinations by such immigrant inspectors as may be detailed for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor, which examinations shall be made in accordance with such instructions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such examinations shall be conducted as follows: All aliens shall be first examined as to their mental condition, and such as are certified by the examining surgeon to be mentally defective shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor, and shall not be admitted to the United States unless such decision shall be reversed as hereinafter provided. All aliens shall be then examined as to their physical condition, and those who are certified by the examining surgeon to be suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor, and shall not be admitted to the United States unless such decision shall be reversed as hereinafter provided. All aliens who are certified by the examining surgeon to be suffering from any mental or physical defect, such defect being of a character which may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living, shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor, and shall not be admitted to the United States unless such decision shall be reversed as hereinafter provided. All aliens who are certified by the examining surgeon to be coming to the United States for the purpose of performing labor of any kind under contract, express or implied, made previous to the importation of such aliens, shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor, and shall not be admitted to the United States unless such decision shall be reversed as hereinafter provided. The Secretary of Labor shall issue such rules and prescribe such forms of procedure and shall appoint such boards of special inquiry as may be necessary to give to all persons who may be denied admission to the United States fair notice and opportunity for hearing before such boards of special inquiry in relation to the exclusion of any such persons. Such boards of special inquiry shall have authority to administer oaths and to take testimony concerning the right of any such person to enter the United States, and may by unanimous decision admit any person to the United States who may be excluded by the examining surgeon. The decision of such boards of special inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Such appeals may be taken by the person excluded or by the commanding officer of the vessel on which such person arrived. Pending the decision on such appeal, the person excluded shall be detained in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The Secretary of Labor may establish such boards of special inquiry at such ports of entry as may be necessary for the prompt determination of the cases of aliens detained at such ports for examination. Such boards shall be composed of three members, to be appointed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall have authority to call for the production of books, papers, and witnesses, to administer oaths, and to take such testimony and evidence as may be pertinent to the cases of aliens coming before them for decision. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, order the cancellation of any certificate granted by any commissioner of immigration, board of special inquiry, or other officer acting in the premises whenever in his judgment such certificate was improvidently granted or was granted upon a misrepresentation of any material fact, and any alien in respect to whom such certificate is canceled shall be notified of the cancellation thereof before he shall be permitted to land in the United States. Such cancellation may be made at any time within one year after the entry of the alien in respect to whom it is made, and shall be effective to support the warrant of the Secretary of Labor for the deportation of such alien under the provisions of section 19 of this act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 6. Children shall not be detained for examination by reason of the illness or disability of parents, guardians, or custodians, but may be temporarily transferred to the hospital with the parent or guardian, if necessary, and shall be detained therein only during the period of such illness or disability.

SEC. 7. Aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have departed therefrom for a temporary visit abroad may be admitted upon their return in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, under such rules as he may prescribe, to the same status as that occupied at the time of departure from the United States, and such aliens shall not be regarded as seeking admission thereto within the meaning of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, unless the Secretary of Labor has reason to believe that they have become subject to some ground of exclusion existing at the time of such departure from the United States not disclosed at the time of such departure.

SEC. 8. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish and maintain such stations in connection with the United States immigrant stations established at seaports as he may deem necessary for the proper examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States at places where no such immigrant stations are established: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, refuse to establish such stations at any seaport where in his judgment the number of aliens arriving does not warrant the establishment of such station.

SEC. 9. That the Secretary of Labor may enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the adequate performance by such lines, at ports in the United States and at such other ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of the service required in connection with the inspection of aliens, the provisions of this act relating to the return of aliens, and such other services as may be required from time to time in connection with the administration of this act; and the Secretary of Labor may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 10. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and removal of aliens, including the power and duty to prescribe all rules and regulations which he may deem necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall have charge of all matters relating to the execution of said laws, and may employ such attorneys and clerks as may be necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and may delegate such authority as he may deem necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this act to such officers of the United States Government as he may designate for the purpose.

SEC. 11. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power to enter into contracts with any State or territorial board of charities, or similar agency, or with any society or association authorized by the Secretary of Labor to enter into such contracts, for the support and care of such aliens as may become insane within five years after their entry into the United States, and for the transportation to their homes in foreign countries of such aliens as become insane within one year after their entry into the United States, and for the transportation to their homes in foreign countries of such aliens as may become public charges within one year after their entry into the United States from causes existing prior to their entry, and for the transportation to their homes in foreign countries of such aliens deported under the provisions of this act as may be destitute and public charges at the time of their deportation, and for the burial of such aliens who may die before such deportation, and the Secretary of Labor may pay the cost of such contracts, care, transportation, burial, and burial expenses out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 12. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, and issue such instructions as he may deem necessary and proper to carry into effect the provisions of this act relating to the entry and exclusion of aliens.

SEC. 13. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, and issue such instructions as he may deem necessary and proper to carry into effect the provisions of this act relating to the admission, detention, and deportation of aliens who become public charges within one year after their entry into the United States from causes existing prior to their entry.

SEC. 14. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and removal of aliens, including the power and duty to prescribe all rules and regulations which he may deem necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall have charge of all matters relating to the execution of said laws, and may employ such attorneys and clerks as may be necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and may delegate such authority as he may deem necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this act to such officers of the United States Government as he may designate for the purpose.

SEC. 15. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish and maintain such stations in connection with the United States immigrant stations established at seaports as he may deem necessary for the proper examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States at places where no such immigrant stations are established: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, refuse to establish such stations at any seaport where in his judgment the number of aliens arriving does not warrant the establishment of such station.

SEC. 16. That the Secretary of Labor may enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the adequate performance by such lines, at ports in the United States and at such other ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of the service required in connection with the inspection of aliens, the provisions of this act relating to the return of aliens, and such other services as may be required from time to time in connection with the administration of this act; and the Secretary of Labor may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 17. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and removal of aliens, including the power and duty to prescribe all rules and regulations which he may deem necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall have charge of all matters relating to the execution of said laws, and may employ such attorneys and clerks as may be necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and may delegate such authority as he may deem necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this act to such officers of the United States Government as he may designate for the purpose.

SEC. 18. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish and maintain such stations in connection with the United States immigrant stations established at seaports as he may deem necessary for the proper examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States at places where no such immigrant stations are established: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, refuse to establish such stations at any seaport where in his judgment the number of aliens arriving does not warrant the establishment of such station.

SEC. 19. That the Secretary of Labor may enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the adequate performance by such lines, at ports in the United States and at such other ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of the service required in connection with the inspection of aliens, the provisions of this act relating to the return of aliens, and such other services as may be required from time to time in connection with the administration of this act; and the Secretary of Labor may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 20. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and removal of aliens, including the power and duty to prescribe all rules and regulations which he may deem necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall have charge of all matters relating to the execution of said laws, and may employ such attorneys and clerks as may be necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and may delegate such authority as he may deem necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this act to such officers of the United States Government as he may designate for the purpose.

SEC. 21. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish and maintain such stations in connection with the United States immigrant stations established at seaports as he may deem necessary for the proper examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States at places where no such immigrant stations are established: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, refuse to establish such stations at any seaport where in his judgment the number of aliens arriving does not warrant the establishment of such station.

SEC. 22. That the Secretary of Labor may enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the adequate performance by such lines, at ports in the United States and at such other ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of the service required in connection with the inspection of aliens, the provisions of this act relating to the return of aliens, and such other services as may be required from time to time in connection with the administration of this act; and the Secretary of Labor may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 23. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and removal of aliens, including the power and duty to prescribe all rules and regulations which he may deem necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall have charge of all matters relating to the execution of said laws, and may employ such attorneys and clerks as may be necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and may delegate such authority as he may deem necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this act to such officers of the United States Government as he may designate for the purpose.

SEC. 24. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish and maintain such stations in connection with the United States immigrant stations established at seaports as he may deem necessary for the proper examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States at places where no such immigrant stations are established: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, refuse to establish such stations at any seaport where in his judgment the number of aliens arriving does not warrant the establishment of such station.

SEC. 25. That the Secretary of Labor may enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the adequate performance by such lines, at ports in the United States and at such other ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of the service required in connection with the inspection of aliens, the provisions of this act relating to the return of aliens, and such other services as may be required from time to time in connection with the administration of this act; and the Secretary of Labor may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 26. That the Secretary of Labor shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and removal of aliens, including the power and duty to prescribe all rules and regulations which he may deem necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and shall have charge of all matters relating to the execution of said laws, and may employ such attorneys and clerks as may be necessary for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act, and may delegate such authority as he may deem necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of this act to such officers of the United States Government as he may designate for the purpose.

SEC. 27. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish and maintain such stations in connection with the United States immigrant stations established at seaports as he may deem necessary for the proper examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States at places where no such immigrant stations are established: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, refuse to establish such stations at any seaport where in his judgment the number of aliens arriving does not warrant the establishment of such station.

SEC. 28. That the Secretary of Labor may enter into contracts with such transportation lines as may be necessary for the adequate performance by such lines, at ports in the United States and at such other ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of the service required in connection with the inspection of aliens, the provisions of this act relating to the return of aliens, and such other services as may be required from time to time in connection with the administration of this act; and the Secretary of Labor may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

SEC. 29. INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFESTS

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States, according to separate manifests immigrants inspected and examined, as defined by the Immigration Act of 1924; that those arriving at a seaport cannot be held for the final action of the Immigrant Inspector at a later time or at another port; and that those arriving at a land border port may be admitted, upon the same inspection and examination, as those arriving at seaports.

Family shall include husband, wife, unmarried children under 18 years of age, and parents, if they are members of the family group.

Columns 1 to 5 (inclusive).—The entries should be typewritten if practicable, otherwise plainly printed in ink. Ditto marks may be used to repeat data in columns 1 to 5 (inclusive).

Column 6 (Sex).—The entry should be either M (male) or F (female).

Column 7 (Married or single).—The entries should be M (married), S (single), W (widowed), or D (divorced).

Column 8 (Calling or occupation).—The entry should describe as specifically as possible the occupation followed by the immigrant, as for example: Clerk, bookkeeper, stenographer, accountant, physician, surgeon, dentist, nurse, midwife, engineer (civil, mechanical, mining, etc.), chemist, inventor, farmer, farm laborer, laborer (general), etc. Do not use simply the designation "engineer," "laborer," or "farmer."

Column 9 (Can read).—The entry should be either Y (yes) or N (no). A person is literate who can read some language, whether English or not.

Column 10 (Can write).—The entry should be either Y (yes) or N (no). A person is literate who can write some language, whether English or not.

Column 11 (Name and address of person in the United States whom immigrant intends to join or visit).—Enter the name and address (number and street, city or town, and State) of the person in the United States whom the immigrant intends to join or visit.

Column 12 (Relationship).—Enter the relationship, if any, of the person mentioned in column 11 to the immigrant, as father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, cousin, friend, employer, fiancé, fiancée, etc. Do not use simply the word "relative" or "friend."

Column 13 (Final destination in the United States).—Enter the name of the city or town and the State in which the immigrant intends actually to reside. Do not enter simply "New York City" or "Chicago" or "Philadelphia," or the like, but the name of the borough, street, and number, if possible, in which the immigrant intends to live. If the immigrant intends to go to a farm, the name of the county and State should be given.

Column 14 (Whether having a ticket through to final destination).—Enter "Yes" or "No" to indicate whether or not the immigrant has a ticket through to his final destination in the United States.

SEC. 38. That alien entering or attempting to enter the United States who was excluded from admission to the country or who was arrested and deported and who enters or attempts to enter the United States within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to his reapplication for admission he shall have obtained the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission to the United States, or unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the proper immigration officer or the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that he was specially inquired about and passed upon by such officer or Commissioner at the time of his departure from the United States, shall be taken into custody and deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor in his discretion shall waive such deportation. Any alien who shall willfully return to the United States within five years after deportation shall be deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not return to the United States of his own free will and accord, or that he did not know at the time of his departure from the United States that he was excluded and deported, and that he has not received a reasonable opportunity after his return to the United States to depart therefrom. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. Any alien who shall willfully remain within the United States in violation of this section for a longer period than one year shall be incapable of receiving any certificate of naturalization unless in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor the special circumstances of his case shall justify the granting to him of such certificate.

Rule 6. Conveyance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 32 hereof have been furnished, and no clearance shall be granted to any vessel which has been entered from a foreign port or place, or which has been detained for the action of the immigrant inspector at the port of entry, until the master has delivered to the immigrant inspector a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or steerage passengers, and whether citizens of the United States or not, in the form prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which list or manifest shall be prepared and delivered by the master of such vessel before the immigrant inspector shall be required to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the passengers. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master of such vessel, who shall make oath before the immigrant inspector to the correctness thereof. Such list or manifest shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom he fails to furnish such information, or concerning whom the information furnished is found incorrect in any respect.

Applied to the administrative functions performed by each section of the United States Immigration Service by the Act approved February 5, 1917, and to the Immigration Service at large.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving at the United States shall be permitted to land temporarily for the purpose of medical treatment, or hospital care, or for any other purpose except under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, whether such alien seaman is destined to the United States or not. Upon the certification by the medical officer in charge of the hospital to which any alien seaman has been sent for treatment that such alien seaman is able to proceed to the vessel on which he arrived, or to some other vessel, such alien seaman shall be returned to such vessel, unless he shall have become a public charge, in which case he shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws of the United States. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws of the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived, or to any other vessel to which he may be transferred, or upon any vessel which is ready to depart for a foreign port, and the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained, and of his deportation, shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived. Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be incapable of receiving a certificate of naturalization unless in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor the special circumstances of his case shall justify the granting to him of such certificate.

(a) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien who has been admitted as a seaman will result in his becoming a public charge at any time within five years after such admission, the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the owner of any vessel has failed to comply with the provisions of this section, or with any regulations made thereunder, the Secretary of Labor may withhold clearance of such vessel from any port of the United States until such owner shall have complied with such provisions and regulations, and may refuse the issuance of such clearance to any subsequent vessel owned by such owner, and may refuse to permit the entry into the United States of any vessel owned by such owner, pending the compliance with such provisions and regulations.

(c) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to affect the operation of section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917 in the case of any alien seaman who shall be found to be suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects described in that section.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all causes that arose, rights that accrued, and penalties that were incurred thereunder prior to the enactment of this Act.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list hereinbefore given shall be printed on blank forms furnished by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer not more than twenty-four hours before the vessel arrives at the port of entry. The list of passengers shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival and before the inspection of the passengers begins. Any person who willfully refuses to deliver such list, or who willfully delivers a false list or who refuses to subscribe to the oath before an immigration officer, or who refuses to answer any question put to him by the immigrant inspector or the immigration officer in charge, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

The master of the vessel shall also be required to report the sickness or death of any passenger during the voyage, and the cause thereof, and to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a true list of all deaths and sickness that have occurred on board during the voyage, stating the name, age, sex, nationality, destination, and last residence of each person who died or was sick, and the cause of death or sickness, as far as known. Masters of vessels who fail to report deaths or sickness, or who refuse to deliver such list, or who refuse to answer any question put to them by the immigrant inspector or the immigration officer in charge, shall be liable to the penalties prescribed by law in the case of masters refusing to deliver lists of passengers.

Masters of vessels will be required to detain in a proper place on board the vessel, pending examination by the medical examiner, all persons who appear to be afflicted with any contagious disease, and to report the presence of such persons to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of entry. Masters of vessels will be required to detain in a proper place on board the vessel, pending examination by the medical examiner, all persons who appear to be afflicted with any contagious disease, and to report the presence of such persons to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of entry.

Masters of vessels will be required to detain in a proper place on board the vessel, pending examination by the medical examiner, all persons who appear to be afflicted with any contagious disease, and to report the presence of such persons to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of entry.

SEC. 36. That from and after the expiration of ninety days after the passage of this Act no person physically capable of reading who can not read the English or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish, shall be admitted into the United States: Provided, That for the purpose of ascertaining whether aliens can read such test as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, each alien may be required to read the English language or such other language or dialect as the immigrant inspector may direct: Provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall apply to persons who are not otherwise excluded who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who return to the United States from a temporary visit abroad, nor shall this section apply to persons coming to the United States to escape religious persecution, provided the fact that they are seeking to escape such persecution shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor: And provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall exempt persons who are otherwise excluded from the effects of the provisions of this section by reason of their being members of certain races or peoples, which races or peoples are not readily capable of assimilation with the people of the United States, to be determined by the Secretary of Labor, who is hereby authorized to make such investigations and inquiries through such boards or agents as he may deem necessary for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not persons of such races or peoples are admissible under the provisions of this section.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon request of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman employed from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States, or any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, shall be discharged from such vessel, unless the foreign consular officer of the nation to which such seaman belongs, or the commissioner of navigation, or the shipping commissioner at the port of arrival, or the immigrant inspector in charge at such port, or such other person as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be satisfied that such seaman is not a deserter from such vessel, and shall grant a certificate to that effect, and no such certificate shall be granted by any such officer unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall appear before such officer and make application for the discharge of such seaman, and produce the shipping articles under which such seaman shall have served, and the list of crew delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival, and such certificate shall be produced to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel before such seaman shall leave the vessel. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien seaman so discharged, and also the amount paid to such seaman for wages, which may be recovered in the same manner as wages due to seamen are recovered: Provided, That the penalty of $10 for each alien seaman shall not be imposed in case it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the seaman absconded prior to the departure of the vessel on which he was reported by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel has complied with the provisions of this section relative to the report and production of such seaman before the departure of such vessel: And provided further, That the penalty of $10 for each alien seaman shall not be imposed in case it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the seaman was forced to desert by reason of cruelty or abuse on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or officers of such vessel, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel could not have reported such seaman before the departure of such vessel without serious detriment to the vessel's business: And provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any seaman after the vessel on which he arrived shall have departed on account of sickness or injury.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States, or any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or deportation of such alien when required by the Secretary of Labor, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, unless such alien is in possession of a valid passport and a valid unexpired immigration visa, if an immigrant, or unexpired nonimmigration visa, if a nonimmigrant, or unless such alien is in possession of a special permit issued by the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe. Such permit may be issued to such alien for a period not exceeding 29 days, and may be extended by the Secretary of Labor for such additional period or periods as he may deem necessary, in his discretion, to accomplish the purpose for which the permit was issued. Such permit may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time and the alien departed on any vessel designated by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien who fails to depart from the United States upon the revocation of such permit shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917. Any alien who enters the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917.

(a) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived has not been accomplished within thirty days after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917.

(e) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any seaman after the vessel on which he arrived has departed on account of sickness or injury.

(f) Section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels that arrive, depart, or attempt to depart prior to the enactment of this Act.

(g) Section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels that arrive, depart, or attempt to depart prior to the enactment of this Act.

(h) Section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels that arrive, depart, or attempt to depart prior to the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 38. That alien seamen who have been admitted to the United States and who desire to depart therefrom and to be employed on board vessels of the country to which they belong, or any other country, may be granted upon the departure of such vessels from the United States a certificate of identity in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, which certificate shall be presented to the master of the vessel before the departure thereof. Upon the presentation of such certificate to the master of such vessel, and the filing of a list containing the name of such alien, the immigration officer at the port of departure shall issue to such alien a permit to go on board such vessel and depart from the United States in the employment specified in such certificate. Such permit shall be granted only upon the production by such alien of a passport visaed by a consular officer of the United States, if such visa be required by the President, and upon the payment by such alien of a head tax of $8, unless such alien is specifically exempted from the payment of such tax by the provisions of section 3 of this Act. Such certificate of identity and permit to go on board shall be valid only for the departure of the alien before mentioned within four months from the date of the issuance thereof, and shall not be transferable. Upon the arrival of such alien at a port of the United States he shall be subject to all the provisions of this Act relating to aliens arriving at such ports from foreign countries, and if found to be unlawfully in the United States or to belong to any of the classes excluded by this Act shall be deported in the same manner as other aliens found unlawfully in the United States. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That from and after the first day of May, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in addition to the persons now debarred by law from admission to the United States, all persons physically capable and over the age of sixteen years who can not read the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish, shall be debarred from admission into the United States: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall apply to citizens of countries now existing or hereafter established in which the inhabitants are required by law to attend school for a period of not less than six years, who can show the completion of such required attendance upon school, and who are not otherwise debarred by the terms of this Act: And provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall apply to persons who have come to the United States prior to January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, or who are the fathers, mothers, grandfathers, grandmothers, husbands, wives, sons, or daughters of persons lawfully admitted to the United States, or who have been lawfully domiciled in the United States for five years next preceding the date of their application for admission to the United States, and who are found to be admissible in all other respects under this Act, if such persons shall apply for admission to the United States within six months from the passage of this Act, or from the date of such residence in the United States, whichever shall be later, and if they are otherwise admissible under the provisions of this Act: And provided further, That the provisions of this section relating to illiteracy shall not apply to aliens who are seeking admission to the United States to avoid religious persecution in the countries of their last permanent residence, whether such persecution be evidenced by overt acts or by laws or governmental regulations which deny to such aliens the opportunity to earn a livelihood or any other means of subsistence, or which deny to such aliens liberty of conscience or the free exercise of their religion.

SEC. 37. (a) That the number of aliens of any race who may be admitted in any fiscal year under section 3 of the Act of May nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty, or who may enter the United States under the provisions of section 4 of said Act, shall be limited to three per centum of the number of such aliens of such race who were resident in the United States according to the census of nineteen hundred and ten, but the minimum quota of any such race may be one hundred.

(b) The quota of any race for the fiscal year beginning July first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, and for each fiscal year thereafter, shall be two per centum of the number of such race resident in the United States according to the census of nineteen hundred and ten, but the minimum quota of any such race may be one hundred.

(c) The Secretary of State, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor shall each annually report to Congress the number of quota immigrants admitted during the preceding fiscal year, the countries of birth of such immigrants, and the number who applied for admission but were excluded, and such other facts and figures as they may deem relevant to the operation of the quota provisions of this Act.

(d) For the purpose of this section a person shall be charged to the country of birth unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor, or such consular officer as the Secretary of State may designate for the purpose, that he was not born in his country of birth, in which case he shall be charged to the country of which he was a subject at the time of his birth: Provided, That a person born in the United States who has not acquired nationality elsewhere shall be charged to the quota of the country of which his parents last were subjects: Provided further, That a person born in a country which does not grant its citizens the right to retain their nationality when residing abroad shall be charged to the quota of the country of which he was last a subject: Provided further, That a person born in a dependency of a country shall be charged to the quota of the country of which the dependency is a part.

(e) The Secretary of State shall, at the beginning of each fiscal year, apportion the quotas for the various countries among consular officers in such manner as will prevent discrimination as between natives of different parts of the same country, and as will make available for issuance to quota immigrants during each month of the fiscal year such proportion of the quota for the year as the Secretary of State may deem appropriate, but not more than 10 per centum of the quota for any country may be issued in any one month.

(f) No person shall be admitted under this section as a quota immigrant unless he is of the race for which there is a quota, is of the nationality of the country to which such quota is applicable, and is admissible under the immigration laws.

(g) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of any alien who was admissible under section 4 of the Act of May nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty, or who entered the United States prior to July first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, to enter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or shall exclude the wife, husband, unmarried children under eighteen years of age, or parents of any such alien if admissible under the immigration laws, or the unmarried children under eighteen years of age of any such wife or husband if admissible under the immigration laws.

(h) Quota immigrants may be admitted under section 4 of the Act of May nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty, during the fiscal year beginning July first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, to the extent of one-half of the number specified in the provisions of section 3 of said Act, but not thereafter.

(i) For the purposes of this section a person born in the United States who has not acquired nationality elsewhere shall be charged to the quota of the country of which his parents last were subjects: Provided, That a person born in a dependency of a country shall be charged to the quota of the country of which the dependency is a part.

(j) Nothing contained in this section shall affect the right of any person entitled to the nonquota status under section 4 of the Act of May nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty, to enter the United States, or his nonquota status after entry.

(k) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants coming from countries in North America, Central America, South America, the Islands adjacent thereto, Newfoundland, or islands under the jurisdiction of Great Britain adjacent to Canada, or to aliens who have resided continuously for two years prior to their application for admission in the United States in the capacity of bona fide students, professors of colleges, universities, seminaries, or academies, and their families, or to aliens who have resided continuously in the United States for two years prior to their application for admission, and intend to reside permanently therein.

(l) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants entitled to enter the United States solely to carry on trade under and in pursuance of the provisions of a present existing treaty of commerce and navigation.

(m) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, nurses, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, or persons performing distinguished merit of an exceptional degree.

(n) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are children under sixteen years of age, if accompanied by one or both parents.

(o) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are skilled agriculturists, or agriculturists' laborers, over sixteen years of age, with their wives and children, who come to the United States to cultivate the land, and who have sufficient means to pay their way from the port of entry to the place of their destination.

(p) Not more than 2 per centum of the number of aliens of any nationality who are admitted under the provisions of this section shall be naturalized in any fiscal year.

(q) Nothing contained in this section shall affect the right of any alien who was admissible under section 3 of the Act of May nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty, or who was in the United States on July first, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, to have his status changed under section 4 of said Act.

(r) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are ministers of any religious denomination, or professors of colleges or seminaries, who are admissible as nonquota immigrants under section 4 of the Act of May nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty, and the wives and children of any such persons if accompanying or following to join them.

(s) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are bona fide students admitted under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and who attend recognized schools in the United States, such as primary schools, secondary schools, high schools, colleges, universities, seminaries, academies, and other institutions of learning, including those for special and technical training.

(t) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are professional musicians, or persons of distinguished merit and ability in the arts, their families and attendants.

(u) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are members of a race which has a quota, and who are coming to the United States to join a husband or parent who is a citizen of the United States and who has resided therein for at least five years: Provided, That such husband has married such immigrant before the date of the issue of the visa.

(v) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are natives of the Kingdom of Iraq, Arabia, Palestine, Syria, Armenia, Persia, Afghanistan, or the Turkish Empire, or of islands not possessed by the United States in the Pacific Ocean, or of Asiatic Russia.

(w) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are natives of the Kingdom of Egypt, Abyssinia, Liberia, or Union of South Africa, or of islands not possessed by the United States in the Pacific Ocean, or of Australia, New Zealand, or adjacent islands.

(x) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are natives of the Kingdom of Hejaz, Nejd, Asir, Yemen, Oman, Muscat, Bahrein Islands, Koweit, Mesopotamia, Syria, Armenia, Persia, Afghanistan, or the Turkish Empire, or of islands not possessed by the United States in the Pacific Ocean, or of Asiatic Russia.

(y) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are natives of the Kingdom of Egypt, Abyssinia, Liberia, or Union of South Africa, or of islands not possessed by the United States in the Pacific Ocean, or of Australia, New Zealand, or adjacent islands.

(z) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to immigrants who are natives of the Kingdom of Hejaz, Nejd, Asir, Yemen, Oman, Muscat, Bahrein Islands, Koweit, Mesopotamia, Syria, Armenia, Persia, Afghanistan, or the Turkish Empire, or of islands not possessed by the United States in the Pacific Ocean, or of Asiatic Russia.

That aliens may be examined here to the determination of such duration when desired by a one solicitor to cover such time.

The duration of the permit to land temporarily under the provisions of this rule shall be determined by the immigrant inspector at the time the permit is granted, but such duration may be extended upon application to the commissioner in charge at the port of arrival, or to such officer as he may designate for the purpose, before the expiration of the permit.

The physical and mental examination of aliens applying for permits to land temporarily under the provisions of this rule shall be made by the medical officer of the port, or by a civil surgeon designated for the purpose by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and the certificate of such examination shall be filed with the application for the permit.

Every alien who is in the United States in violation of any law or regulation made in pursuance thereof, or who remains in the United States for a longer time than that for which he was admitted and allowed to land temporarily under the provisions of this rule, shall be taken into custody and deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was due to circumstances beyond his control or to the enforcement of quarantine regulations.

Every alien who is in the United States in violation of any law or regulation made in pursuance thereof, or who remains in the United States for a longer time than that for which he was admitted and allowed to land temporarily under the provisions of this rule, shall be taken into custody and deported upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was due to circumstances beyond his control or to the enforcement of quarantine regulations.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman admitted from adjacent foreign territory to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, unless in the case of any such seaman the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that the proposed landing is necessary for the proper operation of the vessel, and issues a permit therefor, and such seaman is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the United States at the port where he shall have embarked, or at the nearest port in which a consular officer of the United States is stationed, and is in possession of a valid seaman's certificate of identity. Any such seaman who remains in the United States for a longer time than that for which he was admitted and allowed to land temporarily under the provisions of this section, or who violates any condition upon which he was admitted and allowed to land temporarily under the provisions of this section, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. When an alien crewman has been permitted to land temporarily under the provisions of this section, a notation to that effect shall be made on the manifest.

The list specified below shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival from foreign ports at least 24 hours before the departure of the vessel at the port of arrival. The list or manifest of aliens shall not be required or used for any other purpose than to ascertain the facts stated therein concerning such aliens, and shall be destroyed by the master of the vessel upon the completion of the voyage during which it was prepared. The words "steerage," as used in the following extract from the law, shall be construed to mean all parts of the vessel occupied by passengers who pay less than the cost of cabin passage.

I, [illegible], of the M.S. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving vessel has on board citizens of the United States, or aliens entitled to enter the United States without a visa, as provided by section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, a separate list of such persons shall be prepared and delivered to the principal immigration officer at the port. The list or manifest of aliens required to be delivered before the vessel is granted clearance papers may be typewritten or printed, but shall be otherwise prepared by the master of each vessel, or a person authorized by him, and shall be subscribed by him at the end thereof. Each sheet of such list or manifest shall be numbered consecutively, and the word "none" written across the first page of such list or manifest if no aliens are on board. Such list or manifest shall contain the name of every alien on board the vessel, and shall show the following additional information regarding each alien:

(1) Full name.
(2) Age.
(3) Sex.
(4) Married or single.
(5) Calling or occupation.
(6) Whether able to read or write.
(7) Nationality.
(8) Last permanent residence.
(9) Final destination, if known.
(10) Whether ticketed to destination.
(11) Whether in possession of money, and how much, if less than $30.
(12) Whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, and his name and complete address.
(13) Whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where.
(14) Whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, and if so, what and where.
(15) Whether a polygamist.
(16) Whether under a contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia.
(17) Whether in the United States in pursuance of such a contract or agreement.
(18) Whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia.
(19) Whether a person who has been deported at any time and, if so, how many times.
(20) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.
(21) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.
(22) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.
(23) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving vessel has on board citizens of the United States, or aliens entitled to enter the United States without a visa, as provided by section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, a separate list of such persons shall be prepared and delivered to the principal immigration officer at the port. The list or manifest required before a vessel shall be granted clearance papers shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in an envelope to be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest required before a vessel shall be granted clearance papers may be typewritten or printed, but shall be otherwise prepared by the master of each vessel, or a person authorized by him, and shall be subscribed by him at the end thereof. Each sheet of such list or manifest shall be numbered consecutively, and the word "none" written across the first page of such list or manifest if no aliens are on board. Such list or manifest shall contain the name of every alien on board the vessel at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be the last sheet of such list or manifest. The following additional information regarding each alien shall be given in answer to the several headings:

(1) Full name.
(2) Age.
(3) Sex.
(4) Married or single.
(5) Calling or occupation.
(6) Whether able to read or write.
(7) Nationality.
(8) Last permanent residence.
(9) Final destination, if known.
(10) Whether ticketed to destination.
(11) Whether in possession of money, and how much, if less than $30.
(12) Whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, and his name and complete address.
(13) Whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where.
(14) Whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, and if so, what and where.
(15) Whether a polygamist.
(16) Whether under a contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia.
(17) Whether in the United States in pursuance of such a contract or agreement.
(18) Whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia.
(19) Whether a person who has been deported at any time and, if so, how many times.
(20) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.
(21) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.
(22) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.
(23) Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at the expense of the United States under the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and, if so, when and where.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine that any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel having on board citizens of the United States, or aliens entitled to enter the United States without a visa, as provided by section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, is infected with any contagious disease, he may, in addition to any other powers vested in him by law, make such quarantine regulations as he may deem necessary to prevent the introduction of such disease into the United States, and may delay the departure of such vessel from any port or place in a foreign country for the purpose of the inspection of the alien passengers thereon, and may refuse clearance papers to such vessel until such regulations have been complied with.

(d) Section 23 of the immigration act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all acts, duties, powers, obligations, conditions, and matters arising under said section prior to the enactment of this act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival [the remainder of this section relates to the procedure to be followed in the inspection of aliens arriving at ports of the United States, and is omitted].

SEC. 29. That no master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall refuse to allow any immigration officer to go and remain on board of such vessel, whether the destination of such vessel be to a port of the United States or to a foreign port, for the purpose of inspecting the manifest and all the persons on board such vessel, or any part thereof, and such officer shall have power to go and remain on board of any vessel arriving from a foreign port until the inspection of such vessel is completed and the vessel cleared or granted a permit to land its passengers. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to allow an immigration officer to go on board of and remain upon such vessel, or who refuses to facilitate such inspection in any way, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company which shall land any alien, other than an alien lawfully in transit from a foreign country through the United States, upon the request of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall furnish to such immigration officer a complete list of all aliens carried on such vessel, with such information in regard to each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall furnish such information in regard to the sailing of such vessel and the intended future ports of call while in the United States of vessels carrying aliens to ports of the United States as the Secretary of Labor may require.

(b) Any person, company, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined for each offense not more than $200 and not less than $10, or imprisoned for a period not exceeding six months, or both.

SEC. 31. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company which shall land any alien, other than an alien lawfully in transit from a foreign country through the United States, upon the request of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall furnish to such immigration officer a complete list of all aliens carried on such vessel, with such information in regard to each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall furnish such information in regard to the sailing of such vessel and the intended future ports of call while in the United States of vessels carrying aliens to ports of the United States as the Secretary of Labor may require.

(b) Any person, company, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined for each offense not more than $200 and not less than $10, or imprisoned for a period not exceeding six months, or both.

SEC. 32. That the master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien to a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company which shall land any alien, other than an alien lawfully in transit from a foreign country through the United States, upon the request of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall furnish to such immigration officer a complete list of all aliens carried on such vessel, with such information in regard to each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall furnish such information in regard to the sailing of such vessel and the intended future ports of call while in the United States of vessels carrying aliens to ports of the United States as the Secretary of Labor may require.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall determine that any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel having on board citizens of the United States, or aliens entitled to enter the United States without a visa, as provided by section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, is infected with any contagious disease, he may, in addition to any other powers vested in him by law, make such quarantine regulations as he may deem necessary to prevent the introduction of such disease into the United States, and may delay the departure of such vessel from any port or place in a foreign country for the purpose of the inspection of the alien passengers thereon, and may refuse clearance papers to such vessel until such regulations have been complied with.

(d) Section 23 of the immigration act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all acts, duties, powers, obligations, conditions, and matters arising under said section prior to the enactment of this act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman shall be granted admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place, unless such alien seaman shall be identified to the satisfaction of the commissioner of immigration and naturalization or such immigration officer as he may designate for the purpose, and shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence. Any alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel while in the United States shall be deported at any time within five years upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, limiting the deportation of aliens to those who shall have become public charges within two years after entry, and without regard to the provisions of section 20 of said act, relating to the deportation of aliens who have been convicted of certain crimes and misdemeanors, and shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed without obtaining a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, or who fails to report on board the vessel on which he arrived at the time of departure specified by the master thereof, shall be deported as provided in this section, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was excusable or was not due to fault or neglect on his part. Any alien seaman who shall be employed on board any vessel in violation of this section shall be deported as provided herein, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman so employed. Clearance papers shall not be granted to any vessel upon which an alien seaman is required by this section to be deported until the master thereof shall have deposited with the immigration officer in charge at the port a sum sufficient to cover such deportation, which sum shall be refunded to the master if the alien seaman is not deported within five years. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such expenses, or pending the payment of any fine imposed upon the master of such vessel, or while the master thereof is under arrest charged with violation of the laws of the United States from any place outside thereof, or while any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be detained in the United States for the purpose of giving testimony in connection with the prosecution of any such charge, or for the purpose of identification in connection with the deportation of any alien seaman, unless such vessel shall furnish a bond with sufficient surety to secure the Government against any such expense, in such sum as may be required by the commissioner of immigration and naturalization or such immigration officer as he may designate for the purpose, or unless the master shall deposit with such officer a sum sufficient to cover such expense, or pending the settlement of proceedings before the Secretary of Labor. Any master who refuses to receive on board his vessel any alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States, or who refuses to detain such alien seaman on board his vessel while in port, or who refuses to deliver such alien seaman to the officers charged with the execution of the warrant of deportation, or who refuses to pay the cost of detaining such alien seaman on board his vessel while in port, or who refuses to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman while in the custody of the United States pending his deportation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

SEC. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 30 have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by such section or to that prescribed by section 33 have been waived, the deposit required in view of section 31 has been made.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Gabriel [illegible], master of the "M.S. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list furnished below shall be prepared in duplicate unless otherwise provided by the Department and by agents for the immigration interest pertaining the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall be delivered to the master of the vessel. The list of aliens for whom the master or owner of such vessel desires a certificate of admission at the port of arrival must be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival, and such certificate will be issued by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival only.

Only aliens not to be examined on board, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival. "Alien in transit" means a foreigner destined to a foreign country, who is in transit through the United States and who has a ticket or other evidence showing his destination to be a foreign country.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That alien arrival of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place, if shall be the duty, at the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens on board such vessel, giving the place from which each immigrant sailed, the nationality, last residence, and destination as far as known, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Secretary of Labor, including whether each alien has been convicted of a crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he is coming in pursuance of any previous promise, agreement, or solicitation to perform labor in the United States, whether he is in possession of sufficient money to pay his way to the place of his destination, whether he has been deported from the United States, whether he is coming in pursuance of a ticket or passage paid for by others, whether he has been in prison or in a poorhouse, whether he is a professional beggar, whether he is coming to the United States for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose, whether he is a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining such belief or advocating such overthrow, whether he is a person who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, and such other information regarding each alien as the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may require. The master of such vessel shall also cause to be kept a correct list of all aliens who may be taken from such vessel during its call at any port, and shall deliver a copy of such list to the immigrant inspector at the time of departure of such vessel from such port. Such list shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list, or who refuses or neglects to answer questions or furnish information in relation to the aliens carried by him to the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

SEC. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel that the head required by section 38 have been furnished, and not then unless, under the penalties prescribed in Rule 25 applicable to the administrative tax prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 32 hereof, the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel has deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such tax, if any, as may be assessed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, unless a certificate has been issued by the Secretary of Labor that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws now existing or hereafter enacted, or deported from the United States under the provisions of this Act, shall be entitled to land in the United States from any vessel, except temporarily for medical treatment, or for hospitalization, or for burial, or because of shipwreck, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the control and removal of such alien seamen (whether temporarily in all cases shall include a hearing before special inquiry officers), and unless in the case of any alien seaman such hearing is accorded him before he lands in the United States. Any alien seaman who lands in the United States contrary to the provisions of this section, or who fails to depart with the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, or who fails to report to the immigrant inspector at the time of departure of such vessel from a port of the United States, shall be deported in the same manner as provided for in cases of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to report the illness or hospitalization of any alien seaman, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien seaman who has been ordered deported to the custody of the person designated to receive such alien seaman for deportation, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of the maintenance of any such alien seaman while in hospital or elsewhere pending his deportation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax.

(a) Except that an alien seaman who lost his employment through no fault of his own prior to the termination of his contract of shipping, or who has been discharged by the master with the consent of the Secretary of Labor, or who has been forced to leave the vessel because of illness or injury, may be permitted to land in the United States temporarily under bond in such amount, not exceeding $500, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman to the vessel or his deportation in pursuance of law, as the case may be.

(b) Section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all seamen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of cabin passengers of crews (Form 888) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port.

When an affidavit accompanies it a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and intended destination of each alien employed, which lists shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master of such vessel if such be in the employ of the United States, and in the case of all other vessels by the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, to the best of his knowledge and belief. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer of the customs duly authorized to grant clearance papers until the master has delivered to the immigration officer the lists required by this section, and has subscribed and sworn to the same before the officer granting clearance papers. Any master who refuses to deliver the lists required by this section, or who refuses to subscribe and swear to the same, or who knowingly and willfully makes false statements in any such lists shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such refusal, false statement, or failure, and shall be imprisoned not more than one year. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit the entry of any one or more aliens employed on such vessel, but such refusal shall not preclude the prosecution and punishment of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel for violation of the provisions of this section. The Secretary of Labor shall have the power to enter any such vessel to inspect the same and the manifests of all aliens employed thereon, and to take such other steps as he may deem necessary to secure the proper execution of the provisions of this section. The Secretary of Labor may employ such additional immigrant inspectors as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and may designate any customs officer to perform the duties imposed by this section in ports where there is no immigrant inspector.

(a) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person who brings any alien on board such vessel in charge of the port of arrival for inspection, or who has charge or control of such alien, shall be responsible for the proper presentation of such alien for examination, and for the prevention of the landing of such alien in any manner or at any time or place not designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival in connection with such examination, and for the prevention of any communication with such alien prior to such examination, except as authorized by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this subdivision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any charge under this section or while any such charge is pending, and no such vessel shall receive clearance papers if the master thereof is under arrest and held for trial under this section.

(b) That any alien seaman who shall depart from the jurisdiction of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, in violation of law, or who shall be found on board of any vessel departing for any foreign port or place, or who shall secrete himself on board such vessel with intent to depart from the United States in violation of law, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which he belongs, or country from which he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. The master of any vessel upon which any alien seaman shall arrive in the United States from any foreign port or place shall report the name of such alien seaman to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and shall, before such seaman shall be granted a permit to land, deposit with such immigration officer a sum sufficient to pay the cost of the maintenance while detained and the transportation of such alien seaman to the port of embarkation, unless such master shall produce to such immigration officer the consent in writing of such alien seaman that the cost of his maintenance while detained and his transportation to the port of embarkation may be deducted from his wages, and such consent shall be sufficient authority for making such deduction. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this subdivision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any charge under this section or while any such charge is pending, and no such vessel shall receive clearance papers if the master thereof is under arrest and held for trial under this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, and upon vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such alien seaman, until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has received a report from the Secretary of Labor, or such officer as he may designate for the purpose, recommending the granting of a permit to land, and a permit has been granted by the Secretary of Labor or such officer as he may designate for the purpose. Pending the decision as to the granting of such permit, such alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port, and the cost of such detention shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section, or with any rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for the enforcement of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any charge under this section or while any such charge is pending, and no such vessel shall receive clearance papers if the master thereof is under arrest and held for trial under this section.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port shall be responsible for the maintenance of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has issued a landing permit to such alien seaman, or has otherwise provided for his proper disposition under the immigration laws, or has delivered such alien seaman to the custody of a duly authorized official of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, except that during the period of quarantine such alien seaman may be detained on board the vessel. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who fails to comply with the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any such charge under this section or while any such charge is pending, and no such vessel shall receive clearance papers if the master thereof is under arrest and held for trial under this section.

(b) That any alien seaman who shall depart from the jurisdiction of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, in violation of law, or who shall be found in the United States in violation of law, or who shall secrete himself on board such vessel with intent to depart from the United States in violation of law, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which he belongs, or country from which he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. The master of any vessel upon which any alien seaman shall arrive in the United States from any foreign port or place shall report the name of such alien seaman to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and shall, before such seaman shall be granted a permit to land, deposit with such immigration officer a sum sufficient to pay the cost of the maintenance while detained and the transportation of such alien seaman to the port of embarkation, unless such master shall produce to such immigration officer the consent in writing of such alien seaman that the cost of his maintenance while detained and his transportation to the port of embarkation may be deducted from his wages, and such consent shall be sufficient authority for making such deduction. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this subdivision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any charge under this section or while any such charge is pending, and no such vessel shall receive clearance papers if the master thereof is under arrest and held for trial under this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, and upon vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, [illegible], [illegible] of the "[illegible]" [illegible], do depose and say that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, wherever employed on board said vessel, and of all persons who have been taken on board from any foreign port or place during the present voyage. I have noted the cause of separation from the vessel of any person who was a member of the crew when the vessel left her last port, and the intended destination of each person who will not continue in the vessel to the next port of arrival.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens of alien immigrants (888 shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of entry (Form 8294) "MONTANA," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel at the first port of entry to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each such alien, the amount of money in possession of each, whether he has a ticket through to his destination, whether the passage has been paid in whole or in part by any person or corporation, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long, whether he has been deported or returned from any port of the United States, whether he intends to return to the United States, whether he is an anarchist, polygamist, or believer in the practice of polygamy, whether he is a person who has a contagious disease, and whether he is a person who has been in prison or in a almshouse or institution for the care of the insane or supported by charity; and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall also report the sickness and the death of any alien during the voyage, stating the cause of death, and shall deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens who died during the voyage since the last previous report, and the information required concerning those who died shall be furnished as far as practicable in the case of those reported on the list delivered at the time of departure from the last foreign port or place touched at. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the list required by this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct facts are not furnished, and in the event such alien shall not be produced upon demand of the Secretary of Labor, then a further sum of $100: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted for vessel until the fees required by section 35 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 10 to final prescribed by section 35 of said act have been waived, the deposit specified in rule 53 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or to secure other seamen to replace him, unless specially authorized by the Secretary of Labor under such conditions as he may prescribe, and then only under bond in such sum, not less than $300, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the return of such alien on board the vessel upon which he arrived or such other vessel as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for removal to the country to which he belongs under the provisions of this Act, or to such other country as may accept him, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, or the owner of the vessel on which he arrived, or the master of such vessel, as the Secretary of Labor may require. Any such alien may be granted a temporary permit to go ashore under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, but no such permit shall be granted to any alien seaman who is certified by the examining surgeon to be suffering from any disease or condition which will endanger the public health: Provided, That in case of the death of any alien seaman while in the United States the Secretary of Labor may cause such sum as may be necessary to defray the expenses of burial of such alien seaman to be paid from any moneys due or owing to such alien seaman and may cause the effects of such alien seaman to be delivered to the consul general or consul of the country to which such alien seaman belongs.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on any other vessel is unreasonably delayed or that for any reason it is impracticable or unreasonable to require the deportation of such alien seaman within a period of four months after the date of the final order of deportation, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on any vessel bound for a foreign port selected by such alien seaman and may cause the cost of his maintenance, not to exceed $4 per day, pending such deportation, and his transportation to be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the pendency of deportation proceedings against him, whether on a vessel on which he arrived or on any other vessel, shall be deemed to have been deported in pursuance of law, irrespective of the time or place of his departure and irrespective of the cause of his departure from the United States.

(e) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while he remains in the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(f) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while he remains in the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(g) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to become a citizen of the United States.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on any other vessel is unreasonably delayed or that for any reason it is impracticable or unreasonable to require the deportation of such alien seaman within a period of four months after the date of the final order of deportation, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFEST

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States, regardless of separate manifests previously and subsequently executed at intermediate ports. Each manifest should be limited to passengers shown under one Consular visa number, and those whose visas do not bear such number should be listed on a supplemental manifest. The number of the manifest, if more than one is used, should be shown in the upper right-hand corner of each sheet. Each manifest should show the name of the vessel and the date of sailing. Entries should be made in the spaces provided for each column, as follows:

Column 1. (Last name first.)—Enter surname of alien, followed by given names, in the order shown on the unexpired immigration visa. INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFEST

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States; according to separate manifests immigrants and nonimmigrants, as defined by the immigration Act of 1924; and also according to sex; and those under 16 years of age should be entered on separate lines from those sixteen years of age or over. The names of all members of a family should be entered consecutively on the same manifest sheet, and their ages given in the same class; thus 37 yrs., 35 yrs., 8 yrs., 6 yrs., 4 yrs., 2 yrs. Infants under 1 year of age should be entered as 1 yr. Each adult should be made on the sheet on which the re-entry names are listed.

A separate manifest should be made for each vessel and each sailing.

A person is one and a quarter a man, woman, or child.

Answer every question by a cross (×) or by the word "yes" or "no" as the case may be, unless otherwise directed.

Column 1 (Last name, first name, and middle name).—Surname (family name) should be written first, followed by given names and middle name or initial, if any. Titles, such as Mr., Mrs., Miss, Dr., Rev., Hon., Prof., Count, Countess, Baron, Baroness, Lord, Lady, Sir, Mme., Mlle., Capt., Maj., Lieut., Col., Gen., Adm., Rear Admiral, Vice Admiral, etc., should be omitted.

Column 2 (Age).—The words in this column should be expressed in years or, if under 1 year of age, in months.

Column 3 (Sex).—The word in this column should be written M (male) or F (female).

Column 4 (Married or single).—The words should be written M (married) or S (single).

Column 5 (Occupation).—The words should be written to show the occupation of persons 10 years of age and over. Such terms as "laborer," "servant," "clerk," "student," "housewife," "child," "none," etc., are inadequate to describe properly the occupation of persons coming to the United States. Persons having any occupation should be described by the name commonly used to designate it, as "mason," "carpenter," "painter," "shoemaker," "tailor," "seamstress," "dressmaker," "engineer," "farmer," "farm laborer," "fisherman," "physician," "surgeon," "clergyman," "professor," "author," "musician," "actor," "actress," "editor," "journalist," "lawyer," "merchant," "manufacturer," "miner," "mason," "baker," "painter," "butcher," "blacksmith," "locksmith," "gunsmith," "machinist," "silversmith," "goldsmith," "weaver," "stenographer," "bookkeeper," "accountant," "agent," "salesman," "clerk," "barber," "hairdresser," "cook," "waiter," "waitress," "porter," "janitor," "maid," "housekeeper," "nurse," "midwife," "chauffeur," "driver," "boatman," "sailor," "fireman," "soldier," "officer," "policeman," "detective," "guard," "watchman," "apprentice," "student," "scholar," "teacher," "professor," "librarian," "clerk," "bookkeeper," "stenographer," "typist," "secretary," "cashier," "bank clerk," "messenger

Manifestele separate trebuie întocmite pentru fiecare port în parte în care se îmbarcă pasagerii destinați Statelor Unite, conform Legii de Imigrare din 1924; de asemenea, manifeste separate trebuie întocmite pentru pasagerii din clasa a treia și din așa-numita clasă turistică, deoarece acestora li se aplică regulile de admitere. Toate numele trebuie scrise pe rânduri separate, iar dacă sunt mai multe pagini, acestea trebuie numerotate. Dacă o persoană călătorește în mai multe clase, trebuie întocmite manifeste separate pentru fiecare clasă în parte.

Coloana 1 (Numele și adresa).—Scrieți numele de familie, prenumele și adresa completă a fiecărui pasager. Exemplu: Popescu, Ion, str. Florilor nr. 5, București.

Coloana 2 (Vârsta).—Scrieți vârsta în ani împliniți. Dacă pasagerul are mai puțin de un an, scrieți vârsta în luni.

Coloana 3 (Sexul).—Scrieți „M" pentru masculin și „F" pentru feminin.

Coloana 4 (Locul nașterii).—Scrieți orașul și țara în care s-a născut pasagerul.

NOTE.—Full text of section 8S as follows: Whoever a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government, or who advocates the assassination of public officials, or who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, or who advocates or teaches or is affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching disbelief in or opposition to organized government or who writes or publishes or causes to be written or published any book, paper, document, or writing containing the same or similar teachings, or who shall knowingly or wilfully print, publish, edit, issue, circulate, sell, distribute, or publicly display any such book, paper, document, or writing, or shall knowingly or wilfully procure the same to be done, or shall knowingly or wilfully assist therein, or who shall knowingly or wilfully solicit or receive any contribution or fund for the purpose of disseminating the same, or who shall knowingly or wilfully solicit membership for any organization teaching, advocating, or disbelieving in the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who shall knowingly or wilfully become a member of or affiliate with any such organization, group, or society, knowing the purposes thereof—

Shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFEST

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States according to schedule immediately and intermediate, as defined by the Immigration Act of 1924; and also according to separate manifests those aliens entering transit in the first class and the so-called tourist class, whose rates per the United States Lines, Transport, and those whose rates do not peal such entries. The names of all members of a family should appear upon the same manifest sheet when they travel in the same class; but if they travel in different classes, appropriate cross references should be made on the sheets on which the respective names are listed.

(HYDE) PARATI

The people who are going to join a part of a group of Italian origin, Rome, the Abruzzi Mountains, and the Adriatic coast, the Apennines, Tuscany, the Tyrrhenian Sea (1.9 compartimento) to Italian Tuscany, the Apennines, Calabria, Sicily, and Sardinia) and their descendants should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States according to schedule immediately and intermediate, as defined by the Immigration Act of 1924; and also according to separate manifests those aliens entering transit in the first class and the so-called tourist class, whose rates per the United States Lines, Transport, and those whose rates do not peal such entries. The names of all members of a family should appear upon the same manifest sheet when they travel in the same class; but if they travel in different classes, appropriate cross references should be made on the sheets on which the respective names are listed.

Columns 1 and 2 (Name in full).—Given and surname in full, the latter first, followed by the Christian name or names. Titles, such as Mr., Mrs., Miss, Dr., Rev., Prof., Hon., etc., should be omitted.

Column 3 (Age).—Age last birthday, as "1 year," "2 years," etc., or "1 month," "2 months," etc., as appropriate. If under 1 month, the age may be entered in days, as "1 day," "2 days," etc.

Column 4 (Sex).—Write "M" for male or "F" for female.

Column 5 (Married or single).—Write "M" for married or "S" for single, as appropriate. If widowed or divorced, write "W" or "D," respectively.

Column 6 (Calling or occupation).—Write "None" for children and persons of no occupation. Wives should not be returned as "housewife" unless they have an occupation other than that of managing their own household. Do not return merely "laborer," "clerk," "manufacturer," or "agent" without specifying the character of the labor performed or the article manufactured or handled. Be specific. Thus, a locomotive engineer, mine foreman, or weaver should be so described, not merely as "engineer," "foreman," or "operative." Define the character of the business with which connected, as "railroad," "coal mine," "cotton mill," etc. Do not return as laborers persons who have been engaged in any other occupation, but state the occupation at which they will work in the United States. If without occupation, state whether "student," "housework at home," "no occupation," etc.

Column 7 (Nationality).—Country of which citizen or subject at present. Thus, a native of Prussian Poland, but now a subject of Germany, should be returned as a German; a native of Austrian Galicia, now a subject of Poland, as a Pole; a native of Hungary, but now a citizen of Czechoslovakia, as a Czechoslovak; a native of Turkey in Asia, but now a subject of Great Britain, as a British subject, etc.

Column 8 (Race or people).—Race or people to which belongs, as Negro, Spanish, English, Scotch, Irish, German, French, Italian, Polish, Russian, Finnish, Hebrew, Bohemian, Slovak, Croatian, Servian, Bulgarian, Dalmatian, Greek, Portuguese, Roumanian, Magyar, Ruthenian, Lithuanian, Scandinavian, Dutch, Flemish, Spanish, Mexican, Indian, Chinese, Japanese, East Indian, Armenian, Syrian, Arabic, Turkish, Palestinian, Egyptian, Abyssinian, Afghan, Hindu, Pacific Islander, Australian, New Zealander, or other native race or people. Do not return as "white" or "colored."

Column 9 (Last permanent residence).—Name of country of which subject or citizen. If in doubt as to correct designation, consult the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended by the Act of May 29, 1928.

Column 10 (Final destination).—Write the name of the city or town.

Column 11 (Yes or no).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded.

Column 12 (Seaworthy).—Write "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded.

Columns 13 and 14 (Height and weight).—Enter height in feet and inches and weight in pounds. Infants under 1 year may be omitted.

Columns 15–18.—Enter "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded.

Column 19 (Deformed or crippled).—Enter "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded. Mental defectives are to be reported under this column.

Column 20 (Number in family).—Enter the number of persons in the family group (including the alien himself) covered by the entry on the same line. Thus, if the alien himself is the only member of his family in the United States, write "1"; if he has a wife and two children here, write "3"; if he has a wife and two children here and a father in the old country, write "3" on the line of the alien himself and "1" on the line of the father, etc.

Column 21 (Relative).—Write "Father," "Mother," "Husband," "Wife," "Son," "Daughter," "Brother," "Sister," "Grandfather," "Grandmother," "Uncle," "Aunt," "Cousin," "Nephew," "Niece," "Grandson," "Granddaughter," "Father-in-law," "Mother-in-law," "Son-in-law," "Daughter-in-law," "Brother-in-law," "Sister-in-law," "Stepfather," "Stepmother," "Stepson," "Stepdaughter," "Stepbrother," "Stepsister," "Half brother," "Half sister," "Fiancé," "Fiancée," or "Friend," as appropriate, to describe the relationship to the person in the United States to whom the alien is going.

Column 22 (Ultimate destination).—Enter the name of the city, town, or village in the United States to which the alien is going.

Column 23 (Whether having a ticket).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate.

Column 24 (Whether being assisted).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded.

Column 25 (Whether coming under contract).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded.

Column 26 (Last permanent residence).—Write the name of the country in which the alien has had a permanent residence immediately prior to coming to the United States. Do not return as the last permanent residence a country in which the alien has been merely a visitor, or in which he has been employed for a short time as a member of the crew of a vessel, or in which he has been a prisoner of war.

Column 27 (Whether ever in U. S.).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded.

Column 28 (Whether ever in U. S., when, and where).—If the alien has been in the United States at any time, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status. If he has been in the United States more than once, give particulars of each visit. If he has been in the United States for permanent residence, but has since been deported or has departed therefrom, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status. If he has been in the United States for permanent residence, but has since been deported or has departed therefrom, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status.

Column 29 (Whether ever in U. S., when, and where).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded. If the alien has been in the United States at any time, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status. If he has been in the United States more than once, give particulars of each visit. If he has been in the United States for permanent residence, but has since been deported or has departed therefrom, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status.

Column 30 (Whether ever in U. S., when, and where).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded. If the alien has been in the United States at any time, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status. If he has been in the United States more than once, give particulars of each visit. If he has been in the United States for permanent residence, but has since been deported or has departed therefrom, state when and where he entered and whether he was admitted as an immigrant or temporarily as a visitor, merchant, student, or in some other nonimmigrant status.

Column 31 (Whether ever in U. S., when, and where).—Answer "Yes" or "No," as appropriate, to questions propounded. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That alien arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, whether they be passengers duly examined and admitted or not, or whether they be passengers duly examined and admitted or not, or whether they be passengers held for special inquiry, or stowaways, or deserting members of the crew, or persons employed in any capacity on board such vessel, and persons who shall be taken on board at quarantine or elsewhere. Such lists shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel shall be admitted to enter, or to obtain clearance papers at the port of departure, and before the vessel shall depart from the port of arrival. The lists of aliens required to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be in addition to any other lists or documents required by law to be delivered by the master of a vessel before entering or clearing from a port of the United States. The master of every vessel bringing aliens to the United States who fails to deliver lists containing the names of all such aliens, or who shall refuse to deliver such lists to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to allow the immigration officer to go on board the vessel for the purpose of examining the list of aliens, or who shall refuse to allow the immigration officer to make such examination, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien not listed, or for each alien concerning whom the master refuses to furnish information required by this section, or for each alien concerning whom the master refuses to allow the immigration officer to go on board the vessel for the purpose of examining the list of aliens, which penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by suit, or the payment thereof may be enforced by the withholding of the clearance papers of the vessel. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in the list of aliens required to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who knowingly makes a false statement in the affidavit required to be made by the master in relation to the list of aliens, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(a) Any alien who shall be excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this section may be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien ordered deported under the provisions of this section will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, after a hearing, suspend deportation of such alien until the Secretary of Labor shall direct otherwise.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien ordered deported will be injurious to the public interests, he may, after a hearing, suspend deportation of such alien until the Secretary of Labor shall direct otherwise.

(d) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of six months from the date of any final order of deportation made against him under the provisions of this section, unless the time is extended by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall thereafter return to the United States, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for a term of not more than five years and shall thereafter be deported as provided by this section.

(e) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor in charge of deportations, unless the cost of deportation shall be paid by the steamship company or other transportation company which brought such alien to the United States, as provided by section 16 of this act.

(f) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be deported to the country whence he came, unless he may elect to be deported to another country willing to receive him, and which may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, but no greater sum shall be paid for the deportation of any alien than is paid for the deportation of an alien deported to the country whence he came.

(g) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation such sum of money as may have been withheld from his wages by any steamship or transportation company, not exceeding $10, in order to provide him with food and other necessaries during the journey.

(h) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(i) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(j) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(k) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(l) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(m) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(n) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(o) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(p) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(q) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(r) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(s) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(t) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

(u) Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to receive from the deportation officer in charge at the time of deportation transportation for himself and his family and baggage, not exceeding 100 pounds in weight for each adult and 50 pounds in weight for each child under 12 years of age, from the place of residence in the United States to the port of departure in the country whence he came.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the illness of the alien seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, or in case of the failure of the master, consignee, or agent of the vessel to return the alien seaman on board such vessel when she departs from the port, or in case the vessel is libeled to pay a fine or penalty, or in case the alien seaman is a bona fide member of the crew of another vessel which has arrived at the port and is ready to depart therefrom within a reasonable time, and has been certified by the master of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port as a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel, and has been passed by such officer as not coming within any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this act, or as not likely to become a public charge. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. Any master, consignee, or agent of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who is excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be prohibited from bringing a vessel to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the illness of the alien seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining such treatment for such illness, or in case of the failure of the master, consignee, or agent of the vessel to return the alien seaman on board such vessel when she departs from the port, or in case the vessel is libeled to pay a fine or penalty, or in case the alien seaman is a bona fide member of the crew of another vessel which has arrived at the port and is ready to depart therefrom within a reasonable time, and has been certified by the master of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port as a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel, and has been passed by such officer as not coming within any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this act, or as not likely to become a public charge. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. Any master, consignee, or agent of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who is excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be prohibited from bringing a vessel to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the illness of the alien seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining such treatment for such illness, or in case of the failure of the master, consignee, or agent of the vessel to return the alien seaman on board such vessel when she departs from the port, or in case the vessel is libeled to pay a fine or penalty, or in case the alien seaman is a bona fide member of the crew of another vessel which has arrived at the port and is ready to depart therefrom within a reasonable time, and has been certified by the master of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port as a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel, and has been passed by such officer as not coming within any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this act, or as not likely to become a public charge.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge of any railroad car entering the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be prohibited from landing or permitting any alien to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the illness of the alien, or for the purpose of obtaining such treatment for such illness, or in case of the failure of the master, consignee, or agent of the vessel to return the alien on board such vessel when she departs from the port, or in case the vessel is libeled to pay a fine or penalty, or in case the alien is a bona fide member of the crew of another vessel which has arrived at the port and is ready to depart therefrom within a reasonable time, and has been certified by the master of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port as a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel, and has been passed by such officer as not coming within any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this act, or as not likely to become a public charge. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. Any master, consignee, or agent of any vessel bringing an alien seaman who is excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be prohibited from bringing a vessel to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or in case of the illness of the alien seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining such treatment for such illness, or in case of the failure of the master, consignee, or agent of the vessel to return the alien seaman on board such vessel when she departs from the port, or in case the vessel is libeled to pay a fine or penalty, or in case the alien seaman is a bona fide member of the crew of another vessel which has arrived at the port and is ready to depart therefrom within a reasonable time, and has been certified by the master of such vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port as a bona fide member of the crew of such vessel, and has been passed by such officer as not coming within any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this act, or as not likely to become a public charge.

Immigrant Inspector.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alterations of crews (Form 632) shall be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an alien employed on such vessel absents himself from the vessel at a port of arrival, or has contracted to absent himself, the master or owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall report the fact in writing to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, giving the name of the alien, the reason for his absence, and, if known, the destination to which he has gone. Such report shall be made at the time of the departure of the vessel from the port, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to fill the places of those absenting themselves. Failure to report to such immigration officer, at arrival, as well as at departure, the absence at any port of any alien employed on such vessel, subjects the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the penalty prescribed in the law.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of entry of Baltimore, Boston, Galveston, Key West, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Portland (Me.), Portland (Oreg.), San Francisco, and Seattle shall deliver the lists required by this law to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Detroit, Mich., Duluth, Minn., Honolulu, T. H., Key West, Fla., Mobile, Ala., Port Arthur, Tex., Portland, Me., Portland, Oreg., Providence, R. I., Richmond, Va., Rochester, N. Y., Sabine, Tex., San Diego, Calif., Savannah, Ga., Tampa, Fla., Vancouver, Wash., Wilmington, N. C., and Wilmington, Del., shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Albany, Buffalo, Cape Vincent, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Ogdensburg, Oswego, Rochester, Sault Ste. Marie, Toledo, and Vermont shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Boston, Mass., Brownsville, Eagle Pass, El Paso, Laredo, Nogales, Presidio, Rio Grande City, and San Luis Obispo, Calif., shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Hartford, Conn., Newport News, Va., Norfolk, Va., Philadelphia, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Portland, Me., Providence, R. I., Richmond, Va., Rochester, N. Y., Sabine, Tex., San Diego, Calif., Savannah, Ga., Tampa, Fla., Vancouver, Wash., Wilmington, N. C., and Wilmington, Del., shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Albany, Buffalo, Cape Vincent, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Ogdensburg, Oswego, Rochester, Sault Ste. Marie, Toledo, and Vermont shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Detroit, Mich., Duluth, Minn., Honolulu, T. H., Key West, Fla., Mobile, Ala., Port Arthur, Tex., Portland, Me., Portland, Oreg., Providence, R. I., Richmond, Va., Rochester, N. Y., Sabine, Tex., San Diego, Calif., Savannah, Ga., Tampa, Fla., Vancouver, Wash., Wilmington, N. C., and Wilmington, Del., shall not be required to deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, but shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector at the first port of call of such vessel at which such inspector is stationed.

Masters of vessels arriving at the ports of Baltimore, Md., Charleston, S. C., Galveston, Tex., Mobile, Ala., New Orleans, La., Norfolk, Va., Philadelphia, Pa., Port Arthur, Tex., Portland, Me., Portland, Oreg., Providence, R. I., Richmond, Va., Rochester, N. Y., Sabine, Tex., San Diego, Calif., Savannah, Ga., Tampa, Fla., Vancouver, Wash., Wilmington, N. C., and Wilmington, Del., shall not be required to deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, but shall deliver the lists required by this law to the immigrant inspector at the first port of call of such vessel at which such inspector is stationed.

(A) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place, whether entering the United States or not, and every alien departing from the United States who is employed on board any vessel arriving at or departing from a seaport of the United States, shall be required to have in his possession a certificate of identification issued by the Secretary of Labor, or by such officers or employees of the United States as he may designate for the purpose, and to present such certificate upon demand for inspection by any immigrant inspector or other officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws.

(B) Every alien who fails to obtain or present a certificate of identification when required so to do, or who obtains or attempts to obtain, or assists or attempts to assist any other alien to obtain, such certificate of identification by fraud, or by willfully making any false statement or representation for the purpose of obtaining such certificate of identification, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(C) The Secretary of Labor is authorized and directed to establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of application and certificates, and perform such other acts as he deems necessary to carry into execution the provisions of this section relating to the registration and certification of aliens.

(D) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to apply for or obtain a certificate of identification when and as required under the provisions of this section, or who shall willfully fail or refuse to present such certificate of identification upon demand by any immigrant inspector or other officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(E) Any person who shall knowingly transport, harbor, conceal, or shield from detection, or attempt to transport, harbor, conceal, or shield from detection, in any manner whatsoever, any alien who has entered the United States in violation of law, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each alien so transported, harbored, concealed, or shielded from detection.

(F) Any person who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to enter the United States in violation of law, or who shall connive or conspire with any person or persons to bring any alien into the United States in violation of law, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each alien with respect to whom any violation of this subdivision occurs.

(G) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien ordered on the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien vessel shall not be required to delay its departure for the purpose of the hearing of such case. Any alien who shall fail to depart upon the vessel on which ordered deported, unless specifically authorized by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such alien departs or its further detention is deemed by the Secretary of Labor not necessary for the enforcement of this section.

SEC. 36. That from arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively born, the last foreign residence of each, whether in the United States or not, the intended destination of each alien, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage has been paid in whole or in part by any person or corporation in the United States, and by whom, whether such alien has in his possession any money, and if so how much, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long he resided therein, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or is opposed to organized government, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining such belief, whether he is coming in pursuance of a previously made contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and what is the condition of his health, mental and physical, and such other questions relative to the immigration, nationality, and object in coming to the United States of each alien as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The master of each vessel shall subscribe and deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the delivery of the list required of him by this section a certificate, under oath, that the list contains a full, correct, and complete list of all aliens employed on such vessel, and that the answers to the questions therein contained are true to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief. Any master who shall refuse to deliver such list or certificate, or who shall refuse to answer any question touching the matters about which he is required by this section to report, or who shall answer any such question falsely, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each such offense. Any master who shall fail to deliver such list or certificate, or to answer any such question, within the time prescribed by this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such default, which may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor, upon application made within one year from the time of such default. Such penalty may be sued for and recovered by the United States, or may be deducted from any moneys owing by any person, agent, consignee, or master to any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer liable for such penalty. Clearance may be refused any vessel the master of which refuses or neglects to deliver such list or certificate, or any master who refuses to answer any question herein authorized to be asked by the immigrant inspector, until a list or certificate is delivered or answers are given to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, or, if there be no such officer at the port, to the customs officer designated by the Secretary of Labor to perform the duties imposed by section 36 of said Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to hospital, or temporarily to ship as a seaman on board another vessel, during the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may issue a permit for such alien to land for a period not exceeding five days, which may be extended in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor for a further period not exceeding five days in any one case. Such permit may be revoked at any time in the discretion of the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, and upon such revocation the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which the alien arrived shall be liable to the same penalty as provided in section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, for the failure to deport such alien. Every alien seaman (except members of the crew of a vessel of war of any nation) who shall land in the United States from any vessel shall be required, at the time of such landing, to deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10.00 for each alien seaman, to guarantee such alien seaman's departure from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board some other vessel within a period of four months from the date of such deposit, except that the Secretary of Labor may, upon the application of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, extend such period of four months in any case in which he is satisfied that the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived will return to the United States within such period of four months, and may thereupon direct the refund of the deposit made by such alien seaman. Any such deposit not refunded within two years after the date of the deposit shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States. Any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived, and who shall fail to maintain the status in which he was admitted, or to comply with the conditions upon which he was granted permission to land temporarily, or to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or on board some other vessel within the period of four months, or within the time granted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel and who shall remain therein for a period of more than five days without having made the deposit required by this section shall be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel and who shall remain therein for a period of more than five days without having made the deposit required by this section shall be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel and who shall remain therein for a period of more than five days without having made the deposit required by this section shall be deported as provided in this Act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of entry lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each such alien, as far as known, and specifying which of such aliens are in possession of valid immigrant visas and which are not. Such lists shall be delivered at the time of the arrival but not after the vessel has been granted entry by the immigration officer, and before the vessel shall leave the port. Such lists shall be subject to the inspection of any immigration officer, in which as soon as discovered, all aliens in which case such alien shall be detained on board the vessel pending the completion of the inspection; and before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or in the case of a vessel departing from a port where there is no collector of customs, by any officer of customs designated for the purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, the master of such vessel shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of departure a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who intend to depart therefrom, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, and the intended destination of each such alien, together with such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required of him by this section, or who shall refuse to permit any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who connives with or willfully permits any alien employed on such vessel to evade any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(a) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, prior to the inspection of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, a manifest of all passengers, including the members of the crew, on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of an immigrant visa, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, the name and complete address of such relative or friend, whether in possession of a ticket through to destination, whether the passage was paid for by himself or by others, whether in possession of $50 or more, whether ever before in the United States, whether ever before in prison or an almshouse, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind to perform labor in the United States, whether deformed or crippled, and if so, from what cause, and such other facts regarding each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such manifest shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's departure from a foreign port as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall be subject to such verification before the boarding of the vessel or at the time of arrival at the port of entry as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such manifest shall be in addition to any other list required by law, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of the manifest required by this subdivision any list required by law to be delivered by the master of the vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, provided such list contains the information required by this subdivision to be shown on the manifest.

(b) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, prior to the inspection of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, a list containing the name of each alien employed on such vessel who is ineligible to citizenship and who is not in possession of an unexpired immigrant visa, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be subject to such verification before the boarding of the vessel or at the time of arrival at the port of entry as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such list shall be in addition to any other list required by law, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, accept in lieu of the list required by this subdivision any list required by law to be delivered by the master of the vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, provided such list contains the information required by this subdivision to be shown on the list.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such owner produces proof satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor that adequate provision has been made for the maintenance of such alien seaman while in the United States and for his deportation on such vessel or some other vessel at the expense of the owner of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or in the case of a port where there is no collector of customs, by any officer of customs designated for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor, upon the deposit with him of a sum sufficient to cover such expense as he may estimate. Any balance of such deposit remaining after the deportation of such alien seaman shall be returned to the person who deposited it.

(d) Upon the refusal of any master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel to deliver the list required by subdivision (a) or (b) of this section, or upon the refusal of any such master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel to deliver to any immigrant inspector any alien seaman employed on such vessel, such master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such refusal occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such refusal occurs has been deposited with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, to be refunded to the person who deposited it if it is subsequently established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that no penalty was incurred under this section in respect of such alien seaman. Any such deposit not refunded within two years from the date of the deposit shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as a penalty.

(e) Any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place which has on board any alien seaman who has been ordered deported from the United States and who has not been granted a stay of deportation by the Secretary of Labor shall not be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel has furnished to the collector of customs a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman has been removed from the United States on such vessel or on some other vessel, or that the cost of such removal has been deposited with the Secretary of Labor, or that such alien seaman is not required to be removed from the United States.

(f) Any master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to comply with the provisions of this section, or who connives with or willfully permits any alien seaman employed on such vessel to evade any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of illness or the administrative time prescribed by said section or of time prescribed by section 38 of said Act has elapsed, the deposit required in rule 53 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of illness of such seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, or because of the necessity for making repairs to such vessel, or for any other reason found sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, under such conditions as he may prescribe, to warrant the granting of such permission, and such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such amount and with such sureties as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, or upon the payment of the cost of his deportation, and such seaman may be required to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or to give a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(b) Upon application by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a permit to any alien seaman employed on such vessel entitling him to land temporarily in the United States for the period of the stay of the vessel in port, or for a period not exceeding 29 days, whichever is shorter, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may require a bond in such sum and with such sureties as he may deem necessary to insure compliance with the conditions of the permit. Such permit may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time and the alien required to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or any other vessel. Such permit may be granted to any such alien seaman who is in possession of a valid passport and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor his intention and ability to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the period of the permit.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a period longer than 29 days, or for such longer period as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall depart from the United States on a vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, or some other vessel, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(e) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to pay the head tax, visa fee, and other charges against any such alien seaman, or who shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien seaman when requested so to do by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

(f) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the head tax, visa fee, and other charges against any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien seaman when requested so to do by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

(g) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman employed on board such vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the United States any alien seaman employed on board such vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

(b) Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States who shall desert while in the United States, or who shall remain in the United States longer than the period for which he is granted a permit, or who shall go from the vessel on which he arrived to any other vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(d) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to pay the head tax, visa fee, and other charges against any such alien seaman, or who shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien seaman when requested so to do by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

(e) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the head tax, visa fee, and other charges against any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien seaman when requested so to do by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

(f) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands any alien seaman employed on board such vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of illness of such seaman, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for such illness, or because of the necessity for making repairs to such vessel, or for any other reason found sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, under such conditions as he may prescribe, to warrant the granting of such permission, and such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such amount and with such sureties as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, or upon the payment of the cost of his deportation, and such seaman may be required to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or to give a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(b) Upon application by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a permit to any alien seaman employed on such vessel entitling him to land temporarily in the United States for the period of the stay of the vessel in port, or for a period not exceeding 29 days, whichever is shorter, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may require a bond in such sum and with such sureties as he may deem necessary to insure compliance with the conditions of the permit. Such permit may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor at any time and the alien required to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or any other vessel. Such permit may be granted to any such alien seaman who is in possession of a valid passport and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor his intention and ability to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within the period of the permit.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a period longer than 29 days, or for such longer period as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall depart from the United States on a vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, or some other vessel, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(e) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to pay the head tax, visa fee, and other charges against any such alien seaman, or who shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien seaman when requested so to do by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

(f) Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the head tax, visa fee, and other charges against any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien seaman when requested so to do by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the name and last residence of all passengers who have been examined by the consular officer at the port of departure and who are destined to the United States, which lists shall be verified by the oath of the master, commander, purser, surgeon, agent, or consignee of the vessel, taken before the consular officer at the port of departure, and also upon the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States before any of the passengers shall be landed therefrom, by the master, commander, purser, surgeon, agent, or consignee of the vessel, taken before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and shall be in the form prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section, including the number of such lists required and the form thereof, and may require such additional information to be furnished thereon as he shall deem necessary for the proper administration of the immigration laws. Such lists shall be open to the inspection of immigration officers and other officers of the United States designated by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 37. (a) That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien who shall come in such vessel, and such vessel may be detained until such penalty is paid or secured to be paid to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor or a person designated by him for the purpose, or such vessel may be sold to pay such penalty. It shall be the duty of the master of every vessel bringing an alien to the United States to prevent any such alien from landing at any port in the United States at which the master is not lawfully entitled to land such alien, and to detain such alien on board or in such vessel while in port, subject to the regulations of the Secretary of Labor. The master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States who is afflicted with any contagious disease, or who is found to be a person excluded from admission by section 3 of this Act, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless he shall have caused such alien to be detained on board or at quarantine a sufficient length of time to determine whether or not he is afflicted with such disease, and shall have complied with such other reasonable regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the safeguarding of the United States from the introduction of such diseases. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, and clearance shall not be granted the vessel while such lien remains undischarged. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require, or authorize the requirement of, the detention in quarantine for a longer period than is otherwise provided by law of any alien who is not afflicted with such disease at the time of his arrival at the port of the United States.

(b) Any person who shall bring, or cause to be brought, into the United States by vessel or otherwise, any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or any alien for the admission of whom a certificate is required under the provisions of this Act which certificate has not been issued, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court, one half of such fine to be paid to the informer, if any there be, otherwise to the Secretary of Labor, for the use of the United States, to be used in the enforcement of the provisions of this Act.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien has been unlawfully brought into the United States by any vessel, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel knowingly connived at or was negligent in such unlawful bringing, except that no penalty shall be remitted or refunded in case it shall be established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel had no reason to believe that such alien was unlawfully brought into the United States, and had exercised due diligence to prevention thereof, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit or refund any fine, penalty, or exaction collected from such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, or any bond given to secure the payment thereof, or any part of such fine, penalty, or exaction, and cancel any lien against such vessel.

(d) Any person who shall knowingly bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or any alien for the admission of whom a certificate is required under the provisions of this Act which certificate has not been issued, or who shall knowingly aid or abet the same, or who shall knowingly conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court, one half of such fine to be paid to the informer, if any there be, otherwise to the Secretary of Labor, for the use of the United States, to be used in the enforcement of the provisions of this Act.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien will be facilitated by the issuance of a warrant of arrest, he may issue his warrant for that purpose, and any officer of the United States designated by the Secretary of Labor may, within such limits as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, arrest such alien and take him on board any vessel or other conveyance in which he may be found, or to any port of the United States to which such vessel may be destined, or to any other port to which the master may be willing to take such alien, and detain such alien on board or in custody while in port, and remove him from the United States in pursuance of the law. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, pay the reasonable cost of the maintenance of such alien while in custody or detention, and the cost of his removal from the United States, including head money, if any, and any amount so paid shall be deemed a part of the expenses of the service for the year in which paid.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization to such extent as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien seaman (unless readmission to all other such purposes is granted by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor) to the port of entry from which he departed, or to a foreign port not farther away therefrom than a port in the country of which he is a subject, or in which he resided, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be required to remove such alien to such port. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel and who is certified by the Secretary of Labor to be suffering from any contagious disease, or who is found to be a person excluded from admission by section 3 of this Act, shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall be liable to the same penalties provided by such laws in the case of other aliens ordered deported thereon, and such vessel shall be required to remove such alien seaman from the United States on such vessel or on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or it is guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(a) That no alien seaman shall be granted a permit to enter the United States unless upon the application of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign port, and upon the certificate of the boarding officer at the port of arrival that the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been furnished with a list containing the name of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel, stating the last vessel on which each such alien seaman was employed, the date of his engagement, the capacity in which he was employed, and the port at which he was engaged, and that such alien seaman appears to be entitled to admission to the United States. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master shall deliver the original and duplicate to the boarding officer, who shall deliver the original to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and the duplicate to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, to be delivered by him to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman departs from the United States. The triplicate shall be delivered by the boarding officer to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, to be delivered by him to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman departs from the United States. The quadruplicate shall be delivered by the boarding officer to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, to be delivered by him to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman departs from the United States.

(b) Any master who shall fail to deliver to the boarding officer the list required by subdivision (a) of this section, or who shall fail to deliver to the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman departs from the United States the duplicate list required by subdivision (a) of this section, or who shall fail to deliver to such alien seaman the triplicate list required by subdivision (a) of this section, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the quadruplicate list required by subdivision (a) of this section, or who shall fail to deliver to such alien seaman

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port of persons it shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of any vessel or other craft bringing any alien to the United States, to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists or manifests of all such aliens, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which lists or manifests shall be verified by the oath of such master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge, before and attested by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, the Secretary of Labor, or by any such immigration officer, shall be furnished at such time and place and in such manner as may be prescribed by any such officials. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel or other craft who refuses to deliver such lists or manifests, or refuses or neglects to answer any question, or to furnish any information required by this section or any rule made thereunder, or who answers any question falsely, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

Par. 6. Certificate shall not be granted upon record that has been produced in execution of the writ of February 5, 1917, save upon the order of the court before which the record is produced, and in the presence of the judge thereof, or by consent of parties, entered of record in the cause.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or destined to any port of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital treatment, or burial, or for the purpose of obtaining other seamen to take the place of those left behind, or for the purpose of taking on board and carrying to a foreign port such seaman, and then only under such rules as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who lands in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to citizenship.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the port of arrival from a foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands (except Cuba, Mexico, Central America, South America, the West Indies, Bermuda, and the Canal Zone), shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the information called for by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer, or the first or second officer, and by the purser, surgeon, or chief steward, if there be one, and shall be in such form as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel or other craft who refuses to deliver such lists, or refuses or neglects to answer any question, or to furnish any information required by this section or any rule made thereunder, or who answers any question falsely, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on some other vessel within the limit of time fixed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such seaman has been prevented from departing from the United States by sickness, accident, or other cause beyond his control, or by reason of the refusal of the master of the vessel on which he arrived to allow him to depart, or by reason of the failure of the master of such vessel to notify the immigration officer at the port of arrival of the intended departure of such vessel with such seaman on board, or by reason of the refusal of such immigration officer to grant such seaman a permit to go on board such vessel prior to the departure thereof, or by reason of the refusal of the master of such vessel to permit such seaman to go on board prior to the departure thereof, or by reason of the failure of such vessel to carry such seaman on the voyage for which he was originally scheduled, or by reason of the destruction of such vessel subsequent to the arrival of such seaman in the United States. Any such seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on some other vessel within the limit of time fixed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such seaman has been prevented from departing from the United States by sickness, accident, or other cause beyond his control, or by reason of the refusal of the master of the vessel on which he arrived to allow him to depart, or by reason of the failure of the master of such vessel to notify the immigration officer at the port of arrival of the intended departure of such vessel with such seaman on board, or by reason of the refusal of such immigration officer to grant such seaman a permit to go on board such vessel prior to the departure thereof, or by reason of the failure of such vessel to carry such seaman on the voyage for which he was originally scheduled, or by reason of the destruction of such vessel subsequent to the arrival of such seaman in the United States. Any such seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on some other vessel within the limit of time fixed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such seaman has been prevented from departing from the United States by sickness, accident, or other cause beyond his control, or by reason of the refusal of the master of the vessel on which he arrived to allow him to depart, or by reason of the failure of the master of such vessel to notify the immigration officer at the port of arrival of the intended departure of such vessel with such seaman on board, or by reason of the refusal of such immigration officer to grant such seaman a permit to go on board such vessel prior to the departure thereof, or by reason of the failure of such vessel to carry such seaman on the voyage for which he was originally scheduled, or by reason of the destruction of such vessel subsequent to the arrival of such seaman in the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman at the vessel or other craft by which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be detained on account of the failure of such seaman to depart.

(d) Any such seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on some other vessel within the limit of time fixed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such seaman has been prevented from departing from the United States by sickness, accident, or other cause beyond his control, or by reason of the refusal of the master of the vessel on which he arrived to allow him to depart, or by reason of the failure of the master of such vessel to notify the immigration officer at the port of arrival of the intended departure of such vessel with such seaman on board, or by reason of the refusal of such immigration officer to grant such seaman a permit to go on board such vessel prior to the departure thereof, or by reason of the failure of such vessel to carry such seaman on the voyage for which he was originally scheduled, or by reason of the destruction of such vessel subsequent to the arrival of such seaman in the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, to whom they are known, and where they intend to go; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a certificate of the master of such vessel, and the physician thereof, if there be one, that to the best of their knowledge and belief the information given by them in pursuance of the provisions of this section is correct and true in all respects; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master thereof to report to such immigration officer, in writing, the name of every alien who may have been discharged, and the cause of such discharge, and the name of every alien who may have been employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival but who will leave such vessel before the departure of such vessel from such port, and the intended destination of such alien, and the reason for such change in the employment of such alien; and for every failure to comply with the provisions of this section by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel, or by any person employed thereon, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $10 for each such alien in relation to whom such failure occurs: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, mitigate or remit any penalty provided for in this section.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or from adjacent islands, or who has been employed on board any vessel during the last four months of service in the waters of the United States next preceding the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment in a hospital, or to secure subsistence, unless a certificate is issued by the Secretary of Labor, or such person as he may designate for the purpose, stating that the sanitary condition of the vessel at the time of her departure and the records of the vessel do not indicate that the applicant for landing is afflicted with any contagious disease, and that the vessel has complied with the provisions of law relating to the sanitary inspection of vessels and the discharge of aliens.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person who knowingly assists, solicits, or encourages the illegal landing of any alien therefrom, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed or attempted to be landed, or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any such alien who shall land in the United States in violation of law may be arrested and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 hereof.

(c) Any such alien who shall land in the United States in violation of law shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States and shall be forever debarred from entering the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment in a hospital, or to secure subsistence, unless a certificate is issued by the Secretary of Labor, or such person as he may designate for the purpose, stating that the sanitary condition of the vessel at the time of her departure and the records of the vessel do not indicate that the applicant for landing is afflicted with any contagious disease, and that the vessel has complied with the provisions of law relating to the sanitary inspection of vessels and the discharge of aliens.

(d) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly certified by the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, and any person who shall knowingly conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien in pursuance of any such illegal landing, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be detained on such vessel as the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared during the time so detained, except by the permanent authorization of the Secretary of Labor.

(f) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in accordance with the provisions of law applicable thereto, or who shall enter the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof in violation of law, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, and in addition shall be imprisoned for not more than one year.

(g) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port in the United States shall be considered to have entered the United States in violation of law, and shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof.

SEC. 21. (a) That any person, including the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien, other than a seaman, who may be excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, to any port within the United States shall be required to take back to the country whence he came the alien so excluded, and the said master, agent, owner, or consignee shall pay all the expenses connected with the maintenance of such excluded alien while in the United States, and shall also pay the cost of returning such alien to the country whence he came, unless the Secretary of Labor shall allow such alien to land temporarily during the pendency of a prosecution under this Act.

(b) Any master, agent, owner, or consignee who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be detained on such vessel as the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared during the time so detained, except by the permanent authorization of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of illness which in the opinion of the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival may necessitate such treatment, or pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, or on board some other vessel, or pending the departure on some other vessel within a period of five days of the vessel on which he arrived, unless such alien seaman shall be duly certified by the Secretary of Labor from any place outside thereof to the United States immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and such alien seaman (whether previously or then employed on such vessel or not) has been given a physical examination by the medical examiner, or boards of medical examiners, at such port of arrival, and found not to be affected with any of the diseases or mental defects for the exclusion of which aliens are subject to examination under the immigration laws. Such certification shall be made only upon the affidavit of the master or commanding officer, or first or second officer of the vessel, and upon the certificate of the examining medical officer or boards of medical officers, and upon the identification of such alien seaman by a photograph and such other means as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such certification shall be refused and such alien seaman shall be excluded from admission into the United States if the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival has reason to believe that such alien seaman is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental defects for the exclusion of which aliens are subject to examination under the immigration laws, or that such alien seaman belongs to any of the classes excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is not excludable under the immigration laws. Such alien seaman may appeal from the decision of the immigrant inspector to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final. Such alien seaman shall be given a reasonable opportunity to communicate with counsel, friends, and relatives before and pending the decision of his case, and shall be given all reasonable facilities for the preparation of his case. Pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor, such alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival. If the Secretary of Labor shall decide that such alien seaman is entitled to land, a certificate to that effect shall be issued to him, which shall be surrendered by him upon his departure from the United States. Such certificate shall be valid only for the departure of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived, or for the departure of some other vessel within a period of five days, and only for the particular alien seaman to whom it is issued. Such certificate shall be void if the alien seaman fails to depart on the vessel on which he arrived, or within five days on some other vessel, or if he remains in the United States for more than five days after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been found to be unlawfully in the United States, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. Such alien seaman shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived, or on any vessel ready to receive him, or on the vessel on which he is employed at the time of the Secretary of Labor's decision, or on any vessel on which he may be found in the United States, or on any vessel which may be

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival; and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. If crew (from 950 shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alleged seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival listz containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and discharged, from the beginning of the last or current voyage, and the ports at which they touched during such voyage; and the master of such vessel shall, before any alien employed on such vessel shall be granted a permit to land from the vessel, deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a certificate stating whether or not he has any information or knowledge of any such alien employed on such vessel who has deserted or is about to desert the vessel or who has refused or neglected to report on board before the departure of such vessel from such port, and the reasons, if any known, for such desertion or such refusal or neglect to report, and shall furnish such information as he may have or obtain relative thereto. Any master who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a permit to any such master to discharge in a foreign port or place any alien seaman who may be ill or injured at the time of the vessel's departure from such port or place, and who in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor is unable to proceed to the United States without danger to his life, and may also issue a permit to any alien seaman employed on such vessel to enable him to visit a physician for treatment, and in his discretion require a bond for the return of such alien seaman to such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall have been granted a permit to land temporarily in the United States under the provisions of this section and who shall fail to return to such vessel or to report on board thereof at the time of its departure from the port at which such seaman shall have been granted such permit shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be arrested and deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall have been granted a permit to land temporarily in the United States under the provisions of this section and who shall remain in the United States for a period longer than twenty days after the departure of the vessel from the port at which such seaman was granted such permit shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be arrested and deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, unless such seaman shall have been prevented from departing from the United States within such period of twenty days by reason of the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such seaman arrived to furnish transportation for such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, or by reason of such seaman being in the hospital as a patient at the time of the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, or by reason of such seaman having been granted a permit to remain in the United States for a longer period by the Secretary of Labor, or by reason of such seaman having been arrested as an alien illegally in the United States and taken before a commissioner for a hearing, or by reason of such seaman having been committed to jail by a commissioner or by a court for any cause, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by a commissioner or by a court to remain in the United States as a witness in any case, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for the purpose of identification or for the purpose of assisting in the investigation of the cause of the death of any seaman who died on board the vessel on which he arrived, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for the purpose of testifying in any case in which the United States is interested, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for any other reason beyond the control of such seaman: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, require a bond for the return of such alien seaman to such vessel in such sum as he may deem sufficient in any case in which he has granted a permit to such seaman to land temporarily in the United States: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such inquiry or investigation upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such time.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act has been removed, the deposit directed in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital relief, or because of the necessity of obtaining repairs to the vessel on which he arrived, during the period of time reasonably necessary for the purpose for which he was permitted to land, or for the purpose of rendering assistance to the vessel on which he arrived in case of an emergency, or for the purpose of participating in a race conducted by the Government of the United States or by the municipal government of any city in the United States, or for the purpose of receiving treatment in a hospital as a patient, or because of the necessity of obtaining supplies for the vessel on which he arrived, or because of the necessity of obtaining a crew for the vessel on which he arrived, or because of the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived to furnish transportation for such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, or by reason of such seaman being in the hospital as a patient at the time of the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, or by reason of such seaman having been granted a permit to remain in the United States for a longer period by the Secretary of Labor, or by reason of such seaman having been arrested as an alien illegally in the United States and taken before a commissioner for a hearing, or by reason of such seaman having been committed to jail by a commissioner or by a court for any cause, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by a commissioner or by a court to remain in the United States as a witness in any case, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for the purpose of identification or for the purpose of assisting in the investigation of the cause of the death of any seaman who died on board the vessel on which he arrived, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for the purpose of testifying in any case in which the United States is interested, or by reason of such seaman having been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to remain in the United States for any other reason beyond the control of such seaman: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such inquiry or investigation upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such time, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any port in contiguous territory or adjacent islands shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart within the period of his temporary permit by the master of such vessel as a steerage passenger.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of his physical condition, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of crew (Form 988) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions upon which employed in the ship's company, when and where each was engaged, the nationality of such alien, and the final port of destination, and to furnish such information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be delivered before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers, and before the departure of any such alien from the port of arrival, and the master of such vessel shall report to the said immigration officer the name of any alien employed on such vessel who shall leave the port, and the cause for such departure, so far as known or ascertained by him. Upon the arrival of such vessel at the port of destination in the United States from any foreign port or place the master of such vessel shall deliver to the said immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the name of all aliens who were employed thereon at the time of the sailing of such vessel from the last port or place, and the names of all aliens who have shipped or deserted from such vessel at such port or place, and shall report the cause for such departure, so far as known or ascertained by him. Any master who fails to deliver such list or report, or who lands or permits to land any alien employed on such vessel at any port or place in the United States without reporting the same and delivering such list as herein provided, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. Any such master may be arrested either before or after the departure of such vessel from the United States, and shall be held responsible, and may be prosecuted and punished in the district court of the United States within any district into which such vessel may enter or in which she may be found, and such vessel shall be liable for the payment of any fine imposed upon the master thereof under the provisions of this section, and may be seized and proceeded against through admiralty process in the manner provided for the seizure, forfeiture, and condemnation of vessels violating the customs revenue laws. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any fine imposed upon the master of any vessel under the provisions of this section.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been collected, and no fees unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act have been waived, the default thereof noted in rule 33 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 9. 2% alien seamen excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or both, when necessary, but shall be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws. Any such alien seaman who is ordered deported shall be detained on board or at such port as may be designated by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which he arrived, to be deported in such vessel, or in case she shall sail before such deportation can be effected, then in another vessel of the same line. The cost of maintenance while detained on board and the actual expenses of deportation shall be paid by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien arrived. Such cost and expenses may be collected by suit, or may be deducted from moneys due or to become due such master, agent, owner, or consignee, or may be paid out of moneys deposited by him to cover such expenses, or may be recovered from the surety on any bond given that such alien will not become a public charge. Such cost and expenses shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel in admiralty. Such seaman may be treated in a hospital at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and which vessel shall be liable for such expense. Such seaman may be permitted to land temporarily without the payment of the head tax provided for in section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and without the issuance of a visa, upon certification by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived that adequate provision has been made for his return on board, and such certification shall be sufficient warrant for the issuance of a clearance for such vessel without the payment of the head tax provided for in section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917. Any such seaman who fails to depart on board such vessel or any other vessel within the period of time specified by the Secretary of Labor shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any such seaman who shall desert while in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be liable for the payment of any fine imposed upon the master thereof under the provisions of this section, and may be seized and proceeded against through admiralty process in the manner provided for the seizure, forfeiture, and condemnation of vessels violating the customs revenue laws. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any fine imposed upon the master of any vessel under the provisions of this section.

(a) If any seaman, shipped, signed, or employed in the United States on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, shall desert while such vessel is in port, or shall remain on board after the vessel is ready to proceed on her next voyage, or shall refuse to proceed on such voyage, or shall neglect to join such vessel at any port or place in the United States from which she may depart, or shall refuse duty, or shall be absent from such vessel without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the departure of such vessel from any port or place in the United States, unless such seaman can show reasonable cause for any of the acts or omissions hereinbefore mentioned, he shall be liable to a penalty of $50 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and to forfeiture of all or any part of the wages which may be due him.

(b) If any seaman who has been engaged in a foreign port or place to serve on a vessel bound to a port or place in the United States, or who has been engaged in the United States to serve on a vessel bound to a foreign port or place, shall refuse to proceed on such vessel, or shall neglect to join such vessel at any port or place at which she may touch in the course of her voyage, or shall neglect to proceed on such voyage, or shall be absent from such vessel without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the departure of such vessel from any port or place at which she may touch in the course of her voyage, unless such seaman can show reasonable cause for any of the acts or omissions hereinbefore mentioned, he shall be liable to a penalty of $50 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and to forfeiture of all or any part of the wages which may be due him.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any seaman on the request of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel on which he arrived, or on account of the failure of such vessel to comply with the provisions of this section, is unduly severe, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel, or may cause him to be detained on board or at his pay while awaiting the sailing of such

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or others to whom instructions of views (Form 888) shall not be referred on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an affidavit accompanies it a notwithstanding a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and intended final destination of each such alien, so employed, which lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's entry into port, and no such alien shall be allowed to land from such vessel if found by the said officer or by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival to be afflicted with any contagious disease, or to have come in violation of law, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each and every such alien so landed or found, and may be arrested before the departure of such vessel from the port and prosecuted, and on conviction shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such offense: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any such alien to land temporarily under bond in such sum and with such conditions as he may prescribe to protect the interests of the United States, but no such alien shall be permitted to land for permanent residence who is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease: And provided further, That if any such alien shall become a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his landing, it shall be deemed sufficient ground for his deportation in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act: And provided further, That the decision of the Secretary of Labor, when adverse to the admission of any alien, shall be final, unless such alien shall prove to the satisfaction of a United States court of competent jurisdiction that he is a citizen of the United States or is entitled to admission under existing treaties relating to the immigration of aliens.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe rules and make all necessary orders not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act to carry the same into effect, and shall have charge of the administration thereof, and he may, in his discretion, employ any of the officers of the United States Public Health Service to perform any of the duties which may be performed by medical officers.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and no fines unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to other prescribed by section 35 of said Act have been paid, the amount thereof checked in rule 35 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or touching at any port of the United States on any voyage to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the failure of the master, consignee, or agent of the vessel to comply with the provisions of this section, or for the purpose of and subject to the conditions prescribed in the case of bona fide alien seamen specified in section 3 (except that deportation in all cases shall include a personal interview examination by the immigrant examiners), or who fail to depart with their vessel on which employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has granted such seaman (except that deportation in all cases shall include a personal interview examination by the immigrant examiners), or who fail to depart when required so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $2,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. A vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of the foregoing sum or any part thereof, or while the case remains pending, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with such vessel, or that he was temporarily by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens so prepared shall be known as the "manifest of aliens" (Form 6raa) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 6rb) shall be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like certificate & the manifest of all persons on board the same, including the members of the crew, and the foreign ports from which they severally embarked and the ports at which they are destined, and to answer such questions in addition thereto touching the right of any and all persons to enter the United States as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. All expenses in connection therewith, including the boarding and inspection of such vessels, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any master who refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer, at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, the certificate or manifest of aliens required by this section, or who refuses to permit any such immigration officer to enter upon the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who refuses to detain any alien when ordered so to do by such officer, or who refuses to deliver to any such immigration officer a truthful answer to each question touching the right of any alien to enter the United States which may be propounded to him by such officer, or who refuses to comply with the provisions of this act relative to the bringing of aliens suffering from loathsome or dangerous contagious diseases, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who knowingly brings into the United States any alien who is not duly admitted by an immigrant inspector or who knowingly conceals, harbors, or shields from detection any such alien shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master who shall fail to report, detain, or deport any alien as herein provided shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien in respect of which such failure occurs. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, and shall determine the form of the certificate to be delivered hereunder by masters of vessels and the information to be contained therein. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein stated in favor of any master who shall have delivered the same in due form and who shall have no reason to believe the same to be false in any particular. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to repeal, alter, or affect the provisions of section 8 of the act entitled "An act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States," approved February 20, 1907.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the data required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative officer has been given as provided by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act.

Attach here extract, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the sickness or injury of such seaman, or for the proper care of the mentally diseased, such seaman (whether recommended in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to whom a bona fide offer of employment on board any other vessel upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been made and refused. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation hereof, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the departure therefrom of such vessel from any port in the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country in which he was born, or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation hereof, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the departure therefrom of such vessel from any port in the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country in which he was born, or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation hereof, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the departure therefrom of such vessel from any port in the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country in which he was born, or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation hereof, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the departure therefrom of such vessel from any port in the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country in which he was born, or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation hereof, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the departure therefrom of such vessel from any port in the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country in which he was born, or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States in violation hereof, or who shall fail to report on board the vessel on which he arrived upon the departure therefrom of such vessel from any port in the United States, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure so to report was occasioned by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country in which he was born, or in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the ontgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to report, but such proof may be overcome by the certificate of the master of the vessel (Form 6rb) that such alien was duly entered on the manifest of such vessel as a seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof until an immigration officer has been notified and has inspected such alien seaman, or has removed him from the vessel, or has given notice to the master that such inspection is not required, shall be punished by a fine of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onshore manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof was prima facie evidence that he was not inspected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport him, or failure to take on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued a certificate that such alien seaman (unless incapacitated by such illness as would endanger the public health if allowed to land) has been given a thorough physical examination by the medical examiners, or upon time to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 828) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an alternate seaman is to "work," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival their contributive per capita tax moneys respectively, which moneys, or evidence, and upon delivery shall be discharged in the port of arrival; or they shall continue on board of such vessel, and upon failure to do so they shall be liable to the penalty of one hundred dollars for each and every such alien employed on board of such vessel, and upon failure to pay such penalty the vessel shall be liable to seizure and forfeiture to the United States, and may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States in the district into which such vessel may enter or in which she may be found, and may be sold to pay such penalty; and the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall be liable to the United States for any deficiency in the proceeds of such sale to pay such penalty. It shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, calling, or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each such alien, whether he or she has been in the United States previously or not, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination or not, whether the passage of such alien is paid for by himself or herself or by other persons or by the transportation company bringing such alien to the United States, whether such alien has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity within the United States, and whether such alien is connected with any criminal or immoral organization in the United States. Such list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and shall be in such form and contain such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival at least one hour before the vessel is ready to depart from such port. Such list or manifest shall be delivered in duplicate, and the immigration officer receiving the same shall return one copy thereof to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, with his certificate indorsed thereon showing the date of the delivery of such list or manifest and the number of aliens therein listed. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall deliver a true copy of such list or manifest, certified by him to be correct, to the commanding officer of the last United States port touched by such vessel before departing therefrom for a foreign port or place if such be the only list or manifest required to be delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel at such port or place. The list or manifest required to be delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel at the port of departure from the United States shall contain the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port or place, whether they have been hired at such port or place or at some previous port or place at which such vessel has touched, and shall show the additional information required by this section concerning such aliens as may be determined by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the commanding officer of the vessel by the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section requiring the production of lists or manifests of aliens employed on vessels touching at ports in the United States, in the case of vessels making regular trips across the boundary between the United States and any foreign country contiguous thereto, or between the United States and any insular possession thereof, or between any two such insular possessions, or between any two ports in the United States, or touching at ports in the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board bunker coal, supplies, or sea stores, or solely for the purpose of receiving or discharging pilots, or solely for the purpose of discharging cargo destined for such ports or places, or solely for the purpose of receiving cargo destined for foreign ports or places, and

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, naming and describing those to be landed at the port of arrival; of those remaining on board the vessel at the departure of such vessel from such port, and the intended destination of each person who is a passenger; and of those who have died on board during the journey, and the date and cause of death. Such lists shall be prepared at the time of the vessel's departure from each foreign port or place, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the passengers shall be landed from such vessel, and before the vessel shall leave the custody of the officers of the customs. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists to the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of any such vessel at the port where the inspection is to be made, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully to the best of his information, knowledge, and belief all questions which may be asked him by any immigration officer concerning any person who may be on board such vessel, or who shall fail to report and deliver to the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of any such vessel at the port where the inspection is to be made any such person not mentioned in the lists aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the data required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless section 41 of the said Act has been complied with.

No vessel shall be granted clearance until the master has produced to the collector of customs a certificate from the immigration officer at the port of arrival that the inspection of the crew (and passengers, if any) has been completed.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of actual distress, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver such seamen (whether inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), to duly appointed immigration officers at the port of arrival immediately upon the arrival of such vessel at such port, and no such seaman shall be granted shoreleave before such inspection or be permitted to land in the United States except under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Any such seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival from which he shall have departed, or by the immigration officer at the port of departure from the United States, if such seaman shall have been allowed to land temporarily, to the vessel on which he arrived, or to any vessel which will accept him for passage to the country whose flag such vessel flies, or to the country to which such seaman belongs or in which he resided before coming to the United States, at the option of the master of such vessel, and such seaman shall be deported to such country at the earliest practicable time. Any such seaman who shall not be deported within five years after the date of his arrival in the United States shall be deported only upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who shall be deported to a country other than that from which he came shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act unless the master of the vessel on which he arrived shall pay the cost of his deportation to such country, or unless the consul general or consul of the country to which he is deported shall pay the cost of his deportation to such country.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, but which vessel shall not be granted clearance until such seaman has been held at the pleasure of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Upon the arrival in the United States of any vessel on which an alien seaman shall be employed, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel, stating the position each seaman is rated to fill on the articles, and the wages each is receiving, and shall deliver to such officer a list containing the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel, which list shall be verified by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the alien seamen shall be allowed to land. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall fail to report and deliver such list, or who shall report or deliver a false list, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his information, knowledge, and belief any question which may be asked him by any immigration officer concerning any alien seaman employed on such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel as to which such report or list is required by this section to be delivered or concerning which such false report is made, or such question unanswered truthfully.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as provided by the collector of customs, and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or fail to deport any such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman so required to be deported, such sum to be recovered, notwithstanding any other penalty or provision of law, in an action of debt in the name of the United States. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer may be arrested before the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived departs from the port of arrival, and may be prevented from clearing with such vessel until he shall deposit sufficient money to secure the payment of the penalty provided by this section, or may furnish a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(f) Upon the arrival in the United States of any vessel on which an alien seaman shall be employed, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel, stating the position each seaman is rated to fill on the articles, and the wages each is receiving, and shall deliver to such officer a list containing the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel, which list shall be verified by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any of the alien seamen shall be allowed to land. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall fail to report and deliver such list, or who shall report or deliver a false list, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully to the best of his information, knowledge, and belief any question which may be asked him by any immigration officer concerning any alien seaman employed on such vessel as to which such report or list is required by this section to be delivered or concerning which such false report is made, or such question unanswered truthfully, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel as to which such report or list is required by this section to be delivered or concerning which such false report is made, or such question unanswered truthfully.

(g) Any such seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival from which he shall have departed, or by the immigration officer at the port of departure from the United States, if such seaman shall have been allowed to land temporarily, to the vessel on which he arrived, or to any vessel which will accept him for passage to the country whose flag such vessel flies, or to the country to which such seaman belongs or in which he resided before coming to the United States, at the option of the master of such vessel, and such seaman shall be deported to such country at the earliest practicable time. Any such seaman who shall not be deported within five years after the date of his arrival in the United States shall be deported only upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who shall be deported to a country other than that from which he came shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act unless the master of the vessel on which he arrived shall pay the cost of his deportation to such country, or unless the consul general or consul of the country to which he is deported shall pay the cost of his deportation to such country.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, but which vessel shall not be granted clearance until such seaman has been held at the pleasure of the Secretary of Labor.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 6X6) shall not be lettered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

Where an alien seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in or any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company; when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged; and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed upon the vessel who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure; and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to fill vacancies, and the names of all aliens employed upon the vessel who have been paid off, discharged, or left the vessel at any port or place during her then current voyage. Every such list required to be delivered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel shall be subscribed and sworn to before the officer to whom delivered. Any person who shall knowingly refuse to deliver any such list, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any question concerning the matters required to be stated therein, or who shall knowingly make any false statement in answering such questions, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom he shall refuse to answer truthfully any such question, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 2

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 have been furnished, and not then unless, before the collector of customs shall be satisfied that the provisions of law in relation to the payment of head tax have been complied with.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 12. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, otherwise than temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury incurred in the service of such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued a certificate to the master of such vessel that such alien seaman has been treated in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to obtain on board such seaman a certificate from such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to the effect that such seaman has been treated or that such inspection or to obtain such seaman a receipt for the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of May 19, 1924, or who fails to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deposit such receipt by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port before the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 6S0 shall not be returned or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival).

When an arrival manifest is a "motor vessel," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like corresponding and identical lists of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be produced at the same time as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, owner, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such aliens have illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the vessel shall depart from the port of arrival it shall be the duty of the master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel since the filing of the original list, but who have been hired or have shipped since the arrival of the vessel at such port, and the cause of separation from the vessel of those who have left the same; and it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either of the said lists or lists of aliens employed on such vessel to the proper immigration officer at any other port in the United States at which such vessel may arrive after her departure from the port of arrival, and before her departure from such other port, and to report the illegal landing of any alien not included in any list which may have been delivered by the master at such other port. It shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either of the said lists or lists of aliens employed on such vessel to the proper immigration officer at the port of departure, and before the departure of the vessel from the port, and also to report the illegal landing at any subsequent port of any alien who was employed on the vessel at the time of her departure from the port of arrival, and the cause of separation from the vessel of any such alien, so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver either of the said lists, or to report any such illegal landing or absence from the vessel, or to do so to the proper officer, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel may arrive a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien in respect to whom such default occurs. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, remit any fine or penalty provided for in this section or mitigate the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty, or while the master is under arrest therefor, but clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or penalty or the amount of bail required in any such case. Clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine hereinafter by said section or to that thereafter by section 38 of said Act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or bringing to such territory as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alien from the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless such alien shall have been issued a visa by an American consular officer in a country foreign to that in which such seaman was employed on such vessel after such consular officer or the Secretary of Labor shall have determined that such alien is not excludable under the immigration laws and that such alien is a bona fide seaman entitled to shore leave. Any such alien who shall land in the United States without such permit shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States without inspection or who have been admitted upon the certificate of a physician at the port of arrival that immediate deportation would endanger the life of such alien, shall be deported to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of the vessel on which he arrived, and shall not be admitted to the United States on any vessel within one year thereafter, except in the case of a seaman employed on board a vessel which shall have been certified by the Secretary of Labor as a vessel on which such seaman is required, and which shall depart from the United States within such period of time as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the cost of such deportation, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer any such seaman for deportation, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the master thereof is under arrest therefor, but clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or the amount of bail required in any such case. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for by this section upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(a) That for the purposes of this Act the term "vessel" shall include every description of watercraft or other contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water, but does not include aircraft.

(b) That for the purposes of this Act the term "crew" means all persons actually employed and entered on the articles on board any vessel.

(c) That for the purposes of this Act the term "United States" means the United States and any waters, territories, or possessions thereof over which the United States has exclusive sovereignty or control.

(d) That for the purposes of this Act the term "foreign contiguous territory" means any territory of a country foreign to the United States which is immediately adjacent to the United States or to any navigable waters in which vessels of the United States may proceed from the United States without traversing the waters of any other country.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory shall be liable to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued a permit for the landing of such alien seaman or permit other than temporary shall be granted by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, except in the case of a seaman employed on board a vessel which shall have been certified by the Secretary of Labor as a vessel on which such seaman is required, and which shall depart from the United States within such period of time as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe. Any such alien who shall land in the United States without such permit shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States without inspection or who have been admitted upon the certificate of a physician at the port of arrival that immediate deportation would endanger the life of such alien, shall be deported to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of the vessel on which he arrived, and shall not be admitted to the United States on any vessel within one year thereafter, except in the case of a seaman employed on board a vessel which shall have been certified by the Secretary of Labor as a vessel on which such seaman is required, and which shall depart from the United States within such period of time as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the cost of such deportation, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer any such seaman for deportation, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the master thereof is under arrest therefor, but clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or the amount of bail required in any such case. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for by this section upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that such deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman cannot be deported on another vessel to which the Secretary of Labor may cause him to be transferred, or that his detention on board such vessel or at the port of arrival pending deportation will cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at the port of arrival pending deportation, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may cause such alien seaman to be taken from such vessel to a hospital for medical treatment, and may cause such alien seaman to be detained in such hospital pending such treatment, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may cause such alien seaman to be returned to such vessel.

(d) That for the purposes of this Act the term "vessel" shall include every description of watercraft or other contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water, but does not include aircraft.

(e) That for the purposes of this Act the term "United States" means the United States and any waters, territories, or possessions thereof over which the United States has exclusive sovereignty or control.

(f) That for the purposes of this Act the term "crew" means all persons actually employed and entered on the articles on board any vessel.

SEC. 31. (a) That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like corresponding and identical lists of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be produced at the same time as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, owner, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such aliens have illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the vessel shall depart from the port of arrival it shall be the duty of the master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel since the filing of the original list, but who have been hired or have shipped since the arrival of the vessel at such port, and the cause of separation from the vessel of those who have left the same; and it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either of the said lists or lists of aliens employed on such vessel to the proper immigration officer at the port of departure, and before the departure of the vessel from the port, and also to report the illegal landing at any subsequent port of any alien who was employed on the vessel at the time of her departure from the port of arrival, and the cause of separation from the vessel of any such alien, so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver either of the said lists, or to report any such illegal landing or absence from the vessel, or to do so to the proper officer, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel may arrive a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien in respect to whom such default occurs. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, remit any fine or penalty provided for in this section or mitigate the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty, or while the master is under arrest therefor, but clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or penalty or the amount of bail required in any such case. Clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine hereinafter by said section or to that thereafter by section 38 of said Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or bringing to such territory as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alien from the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless such alien shall have been issued a visa by an American consular officer in a country foreign to that in which such seaman was employed on such vessel after such consular officer or the Secretary of Labor shall have determined that such alien is not excludable under the immigration laws and that such alien is a bona fide seaman entitled to shore leave. Any such alien who shall land in the United States without such permit shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States without inspection or who have been admitted upon the certificate of a physician at the port of arrival that immediate deportation would endanger the life of such alien, shall be deported to the country from which he came to the United States, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of the vessel on which he arrived, and shall not be admitted to the United States on any vessel within one year thereafter, except in the case of a seaman employed on board a vessel which shall have been certified by the Secretary of Labor as a vessel on which such seaman is required, and which shall depart from the United States within such period of time as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the cost of such deportation, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer any such seaman for deportation, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the master thereof is under arrest therefor, but clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or the amount of bail required in any such case. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for by this section upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that such deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman cannot be deported on another vessel to which the Secretary of Labor may cause him to be transferred, or that his detention on board such vessel or at the port of arrival pending deportation will cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at the port of arrival pending deportation, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may cause such alien seaman to be taken from such vessel to a hospital for medical treatment, and may cause such alien seaman to be detained in such hospital pending such treatment, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may cause such alien seaman to be returned to such vessel.

(d) That for the purposes of this Act the term "vessel" shall include every description of watercraft or other contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water, but does not include aircraft.

(e) That for the purposes of this Act the term "United States" means the United States and any waters, territories, or possessions thereof over which the United States has exclusive sovereignty or control.

(f) That for the purposes of this Act the term "crew" means all persons actually employed and entered on the articles on board any vessel.

SEC. 31. (a) That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like corresponding and identical lists of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be produced at the same time as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, owner, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such aliens have illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the vessel shall depart from the port of arrival it shall be the duty of the master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel since the filing of the original list, but who have been hired or have shipped since the arrival of the vessel at such port, and the cause of separation from the vessel of those who have left the same; and it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either of the said lists or lists of aliens employed on such vessel to the proper immigration officer at the port of departure, and before the departure of the vessel from the port, and also to report the illegal landing at any subsequent port of any alien who was employed on the vessel at the time of her departure from the port of arrival, and the cause of separation from the vessel of any such alien, so far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver either of the said lists, or to report any such illegal landing or absence from the vessel, or to do so to the proper officer, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel may arrive a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien in respect to whom such default occurs. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, remit any fine or penalty provided for in this section or mitigate the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty, or while the master is under arrest therefor, but clearance may be granted any such vessel upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or penalty or the amount of bail required in any such case. Clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival [and shall not be removed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of view (Form 598) shall not be removed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port where an alleged accident is to be investigated.]

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if space of the crew, decks, cabins, passageways, and dining rooms, and upon departure from the port of arrival [the condemnation of such as may be found] shall be made by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival [the condemnation of such as may be found] shall be made by the immigration officer at the port of arrival; or [the condemnation so much of such vessel, decks, cabins, passageways, and dining rooms as may be found] shall be made by the immigration officer at the port where such vessel shall be first inspected after such discovery. All cases in which such condemnation shall be made shall be reported forthwith by telegraph to the Secretary of Labor [and approved by him] and a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the vessel, its master, agent, consignee, or owner shall be granted clearance papers or other authorization by the Secretary of Labor [and approved by him] to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such certificate has not been delivered, to be collected as a head tax; but no such vessel shall be refused clearance papers by the Secretary of Labor, [nor] to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such certificate has not been delivered, to be collected as a head tax; but no such vessel shall be refused clearance because of the failure to deliver certificates in respect to any such alien if it satisfactorily appears to the Secretary of Labor [and to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located] that such alien was specially examined by an inspector at the time of the vessel's departure and found not to belong to any of the classes excluded by this act, and [in the event such alien becomes a public charge within one year after the entry of the alien, it was a bona fide resident of the United States at the time of the vessel's departure, and also that the master of the vessel had no reason to believe that such alien belonged to any of the excluded classes, or that the master has complied with such rules as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor with respect to the admission of aliens to the United States.]

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 3. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and [not then unless notice of inability to do so has been received by such section or is then furnished by wireless or otherwise from the immigration officer at the port of arrival] the master has certified that the list contains the names of all aliens employed on board the vessel and the ports at which they were shipped, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief the information contained in such list is correct and complete in every particular.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless a bond in the penal sum of $500 is deposited for each such alien with the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel shall arrive, conditioned for the return of such alien on board such vessel when she departs, or for the deposit in lieu of such bond of such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor not to exceed $1,000 for each alien.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be responsible for the proper treatment, maintenance, and safekeeping of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel while in port, and for the proper medical examination, or waiver thereof, of each such alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), at such time as may be required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival [and immediately] for medical treatment, or unless a bond in the penal sum of $500 for each such alien seaman is furnished by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located [and no such alien seaman shall be allowed to land in the United States pending the determination of such question by the Secretary of Labor] or unless such alien seaman is in transit to a foreign port in a vessel in which he is employed, and has been duly certified by the immigration officer at the port of arrival. It [shall] be the duty of the master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman [who is afflicted with any contagious disease] to report the name of such alien seaman and the fact of such affliction or disease to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and to detain such alien seaman on board the vessel or at quarantine as directed by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having been granted such permission, or who shall remain beyond the period for which such permission is granted, shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this act.

(c) Any master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such violation, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, and such penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision upon the matter shall be final. Clearance may be withheld or granted in accordance with the provisions of section 4378 of the Revised Statutes (U. S. C., title 46, sec. 91).

(d) Any master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse to comply with the request of any immigration officer for the removal from the vessel to a hospital on shore for treatment of any alien seaman suffering from any disease, or who shall refuse to detain any alien seaman on board the vessel or at quarantine as directed by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman with respect to whom such refusal occurs.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel on which he arrived has been unduly delayed by the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of such vessel, such alien seaman shall be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor.

(f) Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section, or who knowingly aids or abets any alien seaman to violate any of the provisions of this section, or who knowingly aids or abets any alien seaman in attempting to violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(g) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly certified by the Secretary of Labor as a vessel primarily engaged in trade between ports of the United States and ports of the Panama Canal, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Alaska, or the Philippine Islands, or between ports of the United States and ports of Mexico, Cuba, Central America, Santo Domingo, Haiti, Newfoundland, Canada, or Miquelon, or between ports of the United States and ports of Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, or the islands adjacent thereto, or between ports of the United States and ports of the Atlantic, Pacific, or Indian Oceans, or the Mediterranean Sea, or Gulf of Mexico, or Caribbean Sea, or Red Sea, or Persian Gulf, or Arabian Sea, or Bay of Bengal, or Malay Peninsula, or Japan Sea, or Yellow Sea, or East China Sea, or Timor Sea, or Arafura Sea, or Coral Sea, or Tasman Sea, or Great Australian Bight, or Solomon Sea, or Bismarck Archipelago, or Banda Sea, or Celebes Sea, or Java Sea, or Flores Sea, or Timor Sea, or Gulf of Carpentaria, or Arnhem Land, or Van Diemen Gulf, or Timor Sea, or Indian Ocean, or Bay of Bengal, or Arabian Sea, or Red Sea, or Persian Gulf, or Gulf of Aden, or Gulf of Oman, or Arabian Sea, or Indian Ocean

SEC. 3. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business that each performed both in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged or secured, and the intention where each alien is to be landed as far as known, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival may require the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to subscribe to the truth of such lists before some person to be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and before the departure of any such vessel from the port of arrival the master thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer a certificate, signed by him, stating the number of aliens, if any, who have been taken on board at such port, and the names of all such aliens, so far as known, who have been landed at any port in the United States from any foreign port or place, and the reasons for the landing of each such alien, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival may require the master to report the names of all aliens who have been landed from such vessel at any port prior to the arrival thereof at the port of arrival, and the reasons for the landing of each such alien, and may require the master to make oath before a person designated by the Secretary of Labor to the truth of such certificate and report. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer any list required by this section, or who shall refuse to report, sign, or make oath to any certificate or report required by this section, or who shall report falsely or make false oath concerning the same, or who shall refuse to pay the tax imposed by this section, or any master who shall refuse to land any alien entitled to land, or who shall land any alien at any port other than a port designated by the Secretary of Labor as a port of entry for aliens arriving by vessel, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board his vessel when required so to do by any immigration officer, or who shall refuse to carry back any alien rejected by the Board of Special Inquiry, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any such default occurs. Any vessel which shall land any alien at any port in the United States from which such alien is prohibited from landing under the provisions of this act shall be required to return such alien to the country whence he came, or to the country from which such vessel last came, at the expense of the vessel, and may be refused clearance pending the compliance with this requirement. Any vessel which shall land any alien at any port in the United States in violation of this act shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien so landed, and may be refused clearance pending the payment of such penalty

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens to alien immigrants of steam (Form 2pp) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master at the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving seaman is a "motorman," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessels in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port or district immigration officer a manifest and list of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the names in full of all aliens who depart from any port of the United States on board such vessel, and such other information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report at each immigration office to which the vessel is bound the additions to the crew by birth or otherwise, and the departures from the crew by death, desertion, or otherwise, since the vessel sailed from the last foreign port or place, and the reasons therefor, so far as such facts can be ascertained by reasonable effort and inquiry, and to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the first port or place in the United States where inspection is provided a list or manifest of such additions and departures not theretofore reported, and the reasons therefor, so far as the same can be ascertained by reasonable effort and inquiry. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay a penalty of $10 for each and every such refusal or neglect, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the payment of such penalty or while the same remains unpaid; nor shall such vessel be granted clearance papers in case of refusal to furnish a complete list of the crew, or any part thereof, as herein provided, until the same is furnished: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 8

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees provided by section 36 have been furnished, and not then unless, unless of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 38 hereof, the deposit specified in Rule 55 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman employed from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of some temporary illness requiring hospital treatment, or because of a bona fide quarantine, or because of some regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the allowance of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such vessel upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival [and in addition to any penalty prescribed by law] any alien seaman employed on board such vessel upon the immigration officer at the port of arrival [and in addition to any penalty prescribed by law] any alien seaman employed on board such vessel upon the immigration officer at the port of arrival, to deport such alien seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien seaman arrived, or to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island in which such alien seaman shall have embarked, or to the country in which he shall have begun his journey to the United States as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and the cost of maintaining any such alien seaman pending such deportation shall be paid by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien seaman arrived. Any such master, agent, owner, or consignee who shall refuse or fail to perform any such duty or to pay any such cost of maintenance shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of any question upon the application for clearance, until such question is finally determined by the Secretary of Labor, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to such determination or such payment upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Proof shall be taken before such immigrant inspector as the Secretary of Labor may designate, and shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reasonable effort by the immigration officer at the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(h) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman employed on board any vessel departing from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained by the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival for investigation, or for participation in the commission of a crime under the jurisdiction of the United States, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued to each alien seaman (whether inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who lands to every such alien seaman on board after such inspection or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the determination of the ineligibility to the privilege of landing is made the sum of $10.00 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the ineligibility to the privilege of such landing, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) From that on alien seaman did not obtain upon the discharge of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof a part of the fine imposed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, the Secretary of Labor may remit the whole or any part of such fine, upon the production of such alien seaman to the Secretary of Labor, or to such officer as he may designate for the purpose, within two years from the date of the imposition of such fine, and upon the payment of the expenses of the maintenance and return of such alien seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has been delayed by the failure of the master to comply with the provisions of this section, he may cause such alien seaman to be deported on such vessel or any other vessel of the same owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is reprinted, but shall remain in force as to all aspects, other than as to the amendment of this Act.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival not more than twenty-four hours before the vessel is due to arrive. The list of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 080) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an alternative manifest is authorized by the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, and the nationality, race or people to which they belong. The master, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall also deliver to the Secretary of Labor, when required, a description of such vessel, its tonnage, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be prepared and delivered in such form and manner and contain such other particulars concerning each alien employed on board such vessel as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival before any such alien shall be allowed to land. Any master, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists, or who shall deliver incomplete or inaccurate lists, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That all aliens arriving at ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory by water, and such aliens arriving by land at such ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be subject to the provisions of this section relating to the delivery of lists and the examination of aliens employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign ports, except that the Secretary of Labor may by regulations provide for the examination of such aliens by the immigration officers at the ports of arrival at such times after the arrival of such vessels as he may deem expedient.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that the transportation of aliens on vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or that the refusal of masters of such vessels to deliver lists or to submit to examination relative to such aliens as required by the Secretary of Labor, or to the procedure at the ports of arrival in connection with the inspection of such aliens, unduly delays such vessels, the Secretary of Labor may by regulations provide for the performance of the duties imposed upon masters by this section by such officers of the United States as he may designate, and may prescribe the reasonable fees or charges to be collected therefor from the masters of such vessels, which fees or charges shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may withhold clearance for any vessel the master, agent, consignee, or owner of which shall refuse to pay such fees or charges.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the inspection abroad of aliens destined to the United States, the cost of such inspection to be borne by the transportation lines so contracting, and to detail immigrant inspectors for duty at any foreign port for the purpose of such inspection.

SEC. 38. That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to prescribe rules and regulations not inconsistent with law for the enforcement of the provisions of this act, and shall have power to establish such bureaus of information and such boards of special inquiry as may be necessary to assist in the proper execution of the work of the immigration service.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien employed on board such vessel after such inspection as to such alien as may be required by such immigration officer at the port. Clearance may be granted such vessel upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That all aliens arriving at ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory by water, and such aliens arriving by land at such ports as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be subject to the provisions of this section relating to the delivery of lists and the examination of aliens employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign ports, except that the Secretary of Labor may by regulations provide for the examination of such aliens by the immigration officers at the ports of arrival at such times after the arrival of such vessels as he may deem expedient.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that the transportation of aliens on vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or that the refusal of masters of such vessels to deliver lists or to submit to examination relative to such aliens as required by the Secretary of Labor, or to the procedure at the ports of arrival in connection with the inspection of such aliens, unduly delays such vessels, the Secretary of Labor may by regulations provide for the performance of the duties imposed upon masters by this section by such officers of the United States as he may designate, and may prescribe the reasonable fees or charges to be collected therefor from the masters of such vessels, which fees or charges shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may withhold clearance for any vessel the master, agent, consignee, or owner of which shall refuse to pay such fees or charges.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFEST

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port at which passengers embark for the United States, according as they are destined to the same or different districts. Each manifest must be complete in all particulars as to the aliens named therein, as defined by the immigration Act of 1924; and also accurate so far as the same can be ascertained from the aliens themselves. The manifest must be typewritten or prepared in ink, and must be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel or by the first officer or purser, if the master or commanding officer is incapacitated by illness or other cause from performing the duty. Any manifest which is illegible or incomplete may be returned for correction, and the vessel will not be granted clearance papers until a satisfactory manifest is produced.

Columns 1 to 4 (Name; Nationality; Last residence; Destination).—Enter the name in full of each alien, the nationality, the last residence, and the destination in the United States, as required by the immigration Act of 1924. Do not use initials for the given names. Do not enter merely "U. S." as the destination, but the name of the city or town.

Columns 5 (Head tax status).—Immediately after the name of each alien enter in column 5 the letter "E" if he is in possession of an unexpired immigration visa, or the letter "A" if he is admissible without a visa as a nonquota immigrant under section 4 (a) or (b) of the Act of 1924, as a returning resident, or as a bona fide alien visitor for business or pleasure. Leave column 5 blank in the case of all other aliens.

Columns 6 (Race).—The entry should be the race or people to which each alien belongs, as "English," "French," "Spanish," "Italian," "German," "Irish," "Scotch," "Welsh," "Dutch," "Flemish," "Swedish," "Norwegian," "Danish," "Polish," "Russian," "Finnish," "Hebrew," "Portuguese," "Roumanian," "Greek," "Lithuanian," "Bulgarian," "Servian," "Croatian," "Slovenian," "Ruthenian," "Turkish," "Armenian," "Japanese," "Chinese," "Syrian," "Negro," "Indian," "Mexican," or "Mexican Indian." Do not enter "Latin," "Slavic," "Teutonic," "Oriental," "African," "Asiatic," "American," or "European" race.

Columns 7 (Occupation).—The entry should describe as accurately as possible the occupation of each alien, as "Laborer," "Farmer," "Merchant," "Clerk," "Servant," "Housewife," "Actress," "Musician," "Author," "Lecturer," "Professor," "Physician," "Surgeon," "Nurse," "Engineer," "Chemist," "Mason," "Carpenter," "Painter," "Plumber," "Tailor," "Shoemaker," "Baker," "Butcher," "Miner," "Blacksmith," "Machinist," "Weaver," "Dressmaker," "Milliner," "Barber," "Hairdresser," "Jeweler," "Watchmaker," "Bookkeeper," "Stenographer," "Typist," "Clergyman," "Missionary," "Teacher," "Student," "Actor," "Artist," "Sculptor

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
IMMIGRATION SERVICE
Form 500

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, C. A. HARRIS, do declare:

That I am the MASTER of the AMERICAN S. S. EMMA ALEXANDER of the port of NEW YORK; that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew discharged in said vessel from said port or place during the period from the 1st day of MARCH, 1954, to the 8th day of MARCH, 1954, both inclusive, and that the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, entitled "An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens to, and the residence of aliens in, the United States," printed on the reverse side of the list, is a true copy of so much of said Act as relates to the shipping of aliens from ports of the United States, and of sections 13 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, relative thereto.

Sworn to before me this 8th day of MARCH, 1954.

Immigrant Inspector.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of departure from the United States at the time the vessel is ready to leave the dock. The list of members of the crew must be complete in every particular, and no changes, additions, or omissions may be made therein after the vessel has left the dock. Failure to comply with these requirements may result in the imposition of a penalty of $10 for each person not listed or improperly described, for which sum the vessel will be liable and may be seized and sold. Any person willfully making a false statement in the list of the crew with respect to the right of any alien to enter the United States shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The list of members of the crew must be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. The list of members of alien members of the crew (Form 508) shall not be destroyed or mutilated, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of departure, or, if the vessel is lost, to the consul of the country to which the vessel belongs.

When an alternate address is given, it must be a definite street address, not a general delivery address.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality they respectively claim at the time of arrival; or, lacking such claim, the nationality they are entitled to under the provisions of this Act; as far as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation have time and opportunity to ascertain the same; and before the vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the customs clearing the same, the master thereof shall deliver to such collector or other officer a certificate that such lists are correct and contain the names of all such aliens employed on such vessel, and that no such alien has been overlooked, concealed, or omitted to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure; and such certificate shall be sworn to by the master before the collector or other officer of the customs clearing the vessel. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the purposes of this Act. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver such lists, or to sign such certificate, or to deliver such additional information relative thereto, the vessel may be refused clearance by the collector or other officer of the customs clearing the same. The master of any vessel who knowingly conceals, removes, or harbors, or knowingly permits the concealment or removal of any such alien on board such vessel, or who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure any such list required of him, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien concerning whom such offense is committed, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in the list of the crew with respect to the right of any alien to enter the United States shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel liable to penalty prescribed by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, unless such penalty shall have been paid or the payment thereof guaranteed by bond satisfactory to the administrative officer prescribed by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917. Where such penalty has been incurred, the consul shall report the facts to the Commissioner General of Immigration, Washington, D. C., and shall not grant clearance until he has been informed by the Commissioner General of Immigration that the penalty has been remitted or that a bond has been accepted to cover the amount of the penalty.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands (other than Canada, Newfoundland, Cuba, Mexico, Central America, South America, the West Indies, Bermuda, and the Canal Zone), or who has been employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization to which he is certified, shall be deported, removed, or deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws, to the foreign country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. Deportation pursuant to this section shall be effected within five years after the entry of the alien seaman with respect to which it is made, if the cause for deportation shall then exist and be known to the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(e) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(f) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(h) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(i) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(j) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(k) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(l) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(m) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(n) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(o) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(p) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(q) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(r) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(s) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(t) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(u) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(v) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(w) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(x) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(y) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(z) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(aa) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(bb) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(cc) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(dd) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(ee) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(ff) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(gg) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(hh) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(ii) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(jj) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(kk) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(ll) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(mm) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(nn) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(oo) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(pp) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(qq) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(rr) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(ss) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(tt) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(uu) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(vv) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(ww) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(xx) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(yy) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(zz) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(aaa) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(bbb) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the refusal of such alien seaman to depart from the United States was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel. Any alien seaman who shall refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized representative, shall be presumed to have deserted unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his refusal was due to the fact that he had been required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel to perform duty or render service not required of seamen in the ordinary and usual course of the operation and navigation of such vessel, or that he had been unlawfully imprisoned, or that he had not been furnished with proper food and accommodations during the period he was employed on board such vessel.

(ccc) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and whose lowest class ticket to such seaman by such vessel, shall be deducted on another vessel as the expense of the Secretary of Labor.

(ddd) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport.

(eee) Any person outside the United States who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, knowing that such alien seaman is afflicted with such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(fff) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in subdivision (a) of this section upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, without regard to the time limitations therein contained, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has not been guilty of negligence in connection with the desertion of such alien seaman, or in case such alien seaman was employed on board such vessel while it was engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port, unless the master, owner, agent

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of actual necessity, unless specifically authorized by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(b) Any alien seaman (master, officer, seaman, steward, or member of any vessel) arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien who has been employed on board any vessel upon the navigable waters of the United States, who shall remain in the United States for a period longer than twenty days, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by reasons beyond his control or by the provisions of this section. Deportation proceedings against any such alien may be instituted at any time after the expiration of the twenty days hereinbefore mentioned, irrespective of whether or not such alien has been granted a further period or periods in which to depart.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by reasons beyond his control or by the provisions of this section. Deportation proceedings against any such alien may be instituted at any time after the expiration of the twenty days hereinbefore mentioned, irrespective of whether or not such alien has been granted a further period or periods in which to depart.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, unless such alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by reasons beyond his control or by the provisions of this section. Deportation proceedings against any such alien may be instituted at any time after the expiration of the twenty days hereinbefore mentioned, irrespective of whether or not such alien has been granted a further period or periods in which to depart.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and upon vessel shall be delayed unreasonably, except that operations may be resumed prior to the determination of such question, such alien seaman may be required to remain on board of such vessel and proceed in such vessel to any port in the United States which the Secretary of Labor may designate, and such alien seaman shall not be entitled to any wages for the period during which he is required to remain on board under the provisions of this section.

(f) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall not be entitled to any wages for the period during which he is required to remain on board under the provisions of this section.

A notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

When an affidavit required by a "memorandum," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from a port in the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, or the Virgin Islands having on board any alien who intends to enter the United States, it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all such aliens, in the form prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival but otherwise at such time prior to the departure of such vessel from the foreign port as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe, and shall contain such information as is required by the Commissioner General of Immigration and the Secretary of Labor in addition to the following: Full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last permanent residence, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend and its address, whether in possession of a ticket to its ultimate destination, whether any person has paid his passage or transportation, whether the passage or transportation is paid by himself or by others, whether he has been in the United States before, whether he has been deported or excluded and the cause thereof, whether he is coming for himself or as the agent or representative of any firm or corporation or other person, whether he has a contract or promise of employment, and if so, what and with whom, whether he has a ticket through to his destination, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of a class of persons coming to perform any kind of labor if such laborers are not nationals of the country to which he belongs, and such other items of information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list or manifest at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to deliver such list or manifest at the time of the departure of such vessel from the foreign port, as the Secretary of Labor may by rule or regulation prescribe, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully the questions contained in such list or manifest as to each alien, or who shall fail to comply with any such rule or regulation issued by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such correct information is not furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond therefor in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $10 for each such alien, or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor in case a question is raised as to the liability of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of such vessel to pay such penalty or any part thereof. If a master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of any vessel fails to deliver such list or manifest at the time of the departure of such vessel from a foreign port for the United States, or if any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of any such vessel refuses or neglects to answer truthfully the questions contained in such list or manifest as to each alien concerning whom he is required by this section to furnish information, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 38. (a) That no person, including any officer or employee of the United States or of any corporation owned or controlled by the United States, shall, directly or indirectly, himself or through any other person, in connection with the employment, transportation, or landing of any alien, demand, accept, receive, collect, or retain from any such alien any fee, head tax, charge, or exaction of any character whatsoever, unless specifically authorized by law, or any part thereof, under a penalty of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and transporting any alien who has been refused admission to the United States, shall be required to return such alien on board such vessel or other vessel owned by the same interests, or to pay the cost of his transportation to the port from which he came, or to the port where he embarked, at the option of the master, unless the master shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien was allowed to land temporarily for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, or hospitalization, or that such alien is a stowaway for whom the master has complied with the requirements of section 10 hereof, or that such alien was subsequently admitted to the United States or is duly authorized to remain therein under the immigration laws, or that such alien is not a member of a class which was at the time of such alien's departure to the United States prohibited from entering the United States under the immigration laws. Any master who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay a penalty of $200 for each alien with respect to whom he fails to comply.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien assigned to or employed on any vessel arriving in the United States will result in hardship or injury to the crew or passengers of such vessel, or will be unduly expensive, he may, in his discretion, waive the deportation of such alien and require the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of such vessel to furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, as he may prescribe, conditioned that such alien will not become a public charge within five years after entry and will depart from the United States within such period as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the giving of such bond such alien may be admitted to the United States notwithstanding the provisions of any other law.

(d) Any vessel which shall have been required to return any alien to a foreign port shall not be granted clearance pending the decision as to the return of such alien, nor shall such vessel be granted clearance if such alien is returned pursuant to the direction of the Secretary of Labor, unless a bond in the penal sum of $300 has been given that such alien will not become a public charge within three years after entry.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. (a) No alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States under the immigration laws unless such alien seaman (1) is in possession of a valid passport and a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such alien seaman is a quota immigrant at the time of his application for admission, or (2) establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is not a quota immigrant, or (3) is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is not ineligible to be admitted to the United States under section 3 of this Act, or (4) is in possession of a valid unexpired nonquota immigration visa, or (5) establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is not ineligible to be admitted to the United States under section 3 of this Act, or (6) is in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, if such alien seaman is destined to a foreign port and intends to depart from the United States in pursuance of the laws thereof on the vessel on which he arrives or on some other vessel, or (7) establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that he is destined to a foreign port and intends to depart from the United States in pursuance of the laws thereof on the vessel on which he arrives or on some other vessel, and (8) presents a certificate from the master of the vessel on which he arrives stating that such alien seaman is employed on board such vessel and that the master intends to bring such alien seaman to the United States on the same vessel on which such alien seaman arrives and to return such alien seaman on board such vessel when she departs from the United States, and (9) establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that such alien seaman intends to depart from the United States within the period of time for which he is granted shore leave under the immigration laws and regulations thereunder, and (10) is not within any of the classes of aliens excluded from admission into the United States by section 3 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall be admitted to the United States under the provisions of this section shall be required to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, unless prevented from so doing by causes beyond his control which shall be certified to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor by the master of such vessel, or unless he shall be granted permission to land temporarily under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States temporarily as provided in this section and who shall fail to depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, and shall be refused admission to the United States at any time thereafter.

SEC. 10. (b) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and transporting any alien who has been refused admission to the United States, shall be required to return such alien on board such vessel or other vessel owned by the same interests, or to pay the cost of his transportation to the port from which he came, or to the port where he embarked, at the option of the master, unless the master shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien was allowed to land temporarily for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, or hospitalization, or that such alien is a stowaway for whom the master has complied with the requirements of section 10 hereof, or that such alien was subsequently admitted to the United States or is duly authorized to remain therein under the immigration laws, or that such alien is not a member of a class which was at the time of such alien's departure to the United States prohibited from entering the United States under the immigration laws. Any master who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay a penalty of $200 for each alien with respect to whom he fails to comply.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien assigned to or employed on any vessel arriving in the United States will result in hardship or injury to the crew or passengers of such vessel, or will be unduly expensive, he may, in his discretion, waive the deportation of such alien and require the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commander of such vessel to furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, as he may prescribe, conditioned that such alien will not become a public charge within five years after entry and will depart from the United States within such period as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the giving of such bond such alien may be admitted to the United States notwithstanding the provisions of any other law.

(d) Any vessel which shall have been required to return any alien to a foreign port shall not be granted clearance pending the decision as to the return of such alien, nor shall such vessel be granted clearance if such alien is returned pursuant to the direction of the Secretary of Labor, unless a bond in the penal sum of $300 has been given that such alien will not become a public charge within three years after entry.

The list of races or peoples printed above shall be posted for convenient reference by the master on board of each vessel bringing passengers to the United States from any foreign port. The list is divided into two parts. The first part contains the races or peoples of immigrants who are entitled to admission to the United States. The second part contains the races or peoples of immigrants who are not entitled to admission to the United States, unless they are in possession of unexpired visas issued to them by the proper United States consular officer at the port of departure. Each visa issued under the provisions of the immigration act of 1924 must be indorsed by the master of the vessel on which the alien sails for the United States before the alien will be permitted to land. Masters will be held responsible for the proper indorsement of visas before the vessel leaves the foreign port.

Masters are warned against bringing to the United States aliens who are afflicted with any of the loathsome or dangerous contagious diseases specified in the immigration act of 1924, as such aliens will be excluded from admission to the United States and the vessel on which they arrive will be required to return them to the foreign port from which they came.

Masters are also warned against bringing to the United States aliens who are not in possession of valid passports viséed by the consular officers of the United States at the ports from which they depart, or who are not in possession of such other documents as may be required by the immigration laws and regulations in force at the time of their departure for the United States.

Masters are further warned against bringing to the United States aliens who are not in possession of certificates of physical and mental examination issued by the medical officers of the United States at the ports of departure, or who are not in possession of such other certificates as may be required by the immigration laws and regulations in force at the time of their departure for the United States.

Masters are further warned against bringing to the United States aliens who are not in possession of unexpired immigration visas issued by the proper United States consular officers at the ports of departure, or who are not in possession of such other documents

The list furnished before shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port.

Each alien must be listed in accordance with the last nationality of which he claims to be a citizen or subject, and persons of races or peoples not specifically named in the list must be entered by the name commonly used to designate the race or people to which they belong.

Write in ink, plainly and legibly, using the English language.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or from a port of the Canal Zone, Panama, Porto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens, including members of the crew and cabin passengers, who are to be landed at such port, or at any other port in the United States, and shall furnish such other information in regard to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, the Secretary of Labor, or the Secretary of State, and such additional information relative to the right of any alien to enter the United States as may be required by the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's departure for the United States, in such form, and shall contain such particulars concerning each alien, as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe; but no such particulars shall be required which cannot be answered by the average intelligent person without research or consultation with other persons. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel upon which any alien arrives at a port of the United States shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection such list or lists, verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer and the surgeon of the vessel, as to the particulars thereof. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list or lists, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully and completely as to the particulars required concerning each alien, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer may be required to furnish, before the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, a bond with sufficient sureties, in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for any one alien, as may be fixed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, conditioned that no such alien will become a public charge within one year after the date of his arrival at such port, and that if he becomes such a public charge within such time the payment of the sum for which the bond is given will be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located. The penalty prescribed by this section shall not attach in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid immigration visa, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel on which such alien arrives has been notified that the immigration officer at the port of departure has been unable to ascertain the existence or whereabouts of such alien.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

Par. 6. Conditions shall not be required for aliens lawfully admitted for residence who have been temporarily absent from the United States for a period not exceeding one year, or for aliens in the United States who have been granted by the Secretary of Labor permission to depart temporarily and return, and who return within the time granted.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States unless the immigration laws and conditions of landing are complied with, and such seaman is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consular officer at the port at which he embarks, unless otherwise provided by the Secretary of Labor, except that seamen who are nationals of countries the immigration of whose nationals is regulated by treaties between the United States and such countries may be admitted in accordance with such treaties. Such seaman shall be identified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such seaman shall be required to present a valid passport viséed by the American consular officer at the port at which he embarks, unless he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consular officer at the port at which he last arrived by sea, or unless he has been in the United States for a period of two years or more, or unless he is a native of the United States who has lost his citizenship, or unless he is a native of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the Virgin Islands, or the Republic of Haiti, or unless he is a bona fide member of the crew of a vessel regularly engaged in the trade between the United States and the West Indies, Mexico, Central America, or South America, and is in possession of a valid seaman's identification certificate issued

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee of such vessel, within the boundaries then respectively fixed by the said Secretary, when and where such vessel shall first arrive, to cause a complete list to be made of all the aliens on board such vessel, which list shall state the full name, age, sex, calling, or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each such alien, together with such information likely to lead to the identification of such alien as the Secretary of Labor may require; and such list shall be delivered by the master to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, and before the master shall be granted a permit to enter the United States he shall deliver a duplicate of such list to the officer granting such permit. Such list shall be prepared in such manner and contain such other information touching each such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and the master shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien with respect to whom he fails to furnish such information, or with respect to whom the list furnished by him does not, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, contain substantially the information required by this section: Provided, That the master shall not be required to furnish such information concerning any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport duly viséed by a consular officer of the United States, unless he has reason to believe that such alien is inadmissible to the United States under the immigration laws. Upon the refusal by the master to deliver such list, or upon the discovery by an immigration officer of any inaccuracy in the list, the vessel may be required to remain in port at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor for a period not exceeding two days after the completion of the inspection of the aliens, and in the event of such delay, and in the event such alien be permitted, while the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien with respect to whom a correct list is not furnished: *And provided further

I, C. A. MOCKLEY, MASTER, of the BORDER KING, do depose and say that I am the master [master, first or second officer] of the vessel arriving at the port of Detroit, Michigan, on the 3rd day of March, 1924, from Windsor, Ontario, Canada, and that the following is a full and true list of all the crew now employed by me on board said vessel, and of all persons who have been discharged from said vessel since its last arrival at a port in the United States, stating in each case the reason for such discharge, and that I have complied with the requirements of section 35 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and the Regulations thereunder in relation to the posting of the notice required by said section, and that I have not knowingly or willfully shipped, employed, or harbored any person contrary to the provisions of said section, and that I have not knowingly or willfully concealed, harbored, or protected any such person from the discovery of immigration officers, and that the said vessel has not been used in any way in violation of said section.

Sworn to before me this 3rd day of March, 1924

Immigrant Inspector.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be delayed by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of entry (from 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.). "Motorvessel," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

When an alternate address is given, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee, or person in charge of the port or entry, before any passenger is landed from said vessel, to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of entry a list or manifest of all the persons on board said vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall state the number of the compartment in which each passenger is quartered, and the compartments in which the crew are quartered, and shall state such additional facts concerning each such person as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such other information as may be required by the rules and regulations of the Department of Labor made in pursuance of law. The said list or manifest shall be signed by the master of the vessel, which signature shall be sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of entry. Such list or manifest shall be prepared and delivered in duplicate, and the immigrant inspector shall indorse upon both lists the number of aliens on board, and return one list to the master, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, who shall deliver such list to the customs officer boarding the vessel. Such list shall be produced upon demand by any immigration officer or any officer of the customs, and shall be preserved on board the vessel for a period of three years after the date of the last entry appearing thereon. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse to indorse the same and return a duplicate thereof as herein required, or who shall refuse to produce such list or manifest when demanded by any officer of the customs or immigration officer, or who shall refuse to allow any such officer to make such examination of such vessel as is herein provided for, or who shall conceal, harbor, or protect, or assist in concealing, harboring, or protecting, any alien on board of such vessel after the same has been reported and demanded by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry, or who shall refuse to deliver any such alien to the immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien on board of such vessel when requested so to do by any such officer, or who shall refuse to assist such officer in the execution of any warrant for the arrest of any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in relation to whom any such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 7. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to file administrative fine hereinafter by said section or to fine prescribed by section 35 of said Act have been waived, the deposit directed in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, transit, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital to which removed in accordance with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may direct, any alien seaman (whether immigrant or nonimmigrant) employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued a certificate (which may be granted by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor after such examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to deliver such seaman on board such vessel when she departs from such port, or who fails to pay the cost of maintenance and treatment of such seaman while he is detained under this section, or who fails to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman, other than a native of the United States, who is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and who remains in the United States after the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, shall be deported as an alien seaman employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States, except that such alien seaman may be granted a period of not more than thirty days within which to depart from the United States without deportation, under such conditions as to bond and such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any such alien seaman who fails to depart within the period granted him

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival of each vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens in order to avoid detention. (Form 650) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival of each vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, name and native town or place of abode of each alien employed on such vessel, and the intended or last foreign port from which such alien came to the United States, and the number of days he has been employed on board such vessel.

SEC. 36. That upon arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons, whether cabin passengers or aliens, who may be on board such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, the nationality, last residence, and final destination of each person who may be an alien, and the intended or last foreign port from which such alien came to the United States, as far as can be ascertained. All cases in doubt may be reported by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to the Secretary of Labor, who shall decide the question of the right of any such person to land in the United States. Any person who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer, or to any person authorized to receive the same, any list required by the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question touching the matters required to be stated in such list, or who shall make any false answer thereto, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 for each such offense.

SEC. 38. That upon arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons in the employment of such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, the nationality, last residence, and final destination of each person who may be an alien, and the intended or last foreign port from which such alien came to the United States, as far as can be ascertained. All cases in doubt may be reported by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, who shall decide the question of the right of any such person to land in the United States. Any person who shall refuse to deliver to any such vessel if about to depart from the United States from any foreign port or place, or to any immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, any such list required by the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question touching the matters required to be stated in such list, or who shall make any false answer thereto, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 for each such offense.

(b) Front sheet an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port, to land as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver on demand to the master of such vessel at the time of departure from the United States a certificate of identification issued to him by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, or his authorized representative, or by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and such alien seaman may be treated as an alien seaman not in possession of such certificate.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be detained for such deportation by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(d) That any alien seaman who shall be master, officer, or member of the crew of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, and who shall refuse to submit to the physical examination by the medical examiners, or who fails to obtain on board such vessel such immigration or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10,000 for each alien seaman so refused a landing, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum when a sufficient bond is given to the collector of customs conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman if required by such immigration officer at any time within one year from the date of such deposit. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum when a sufficient bond is given to the collector of customs conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman if required by the Secretary of Labor within one year from the date of such deposit. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, nor in the case of the failure of such vessel to deposit an alien seaman, while a question is pending before the Secretary of Labor as to whether such alien seaman is a deserter from such vessel. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum when a sufficient bond is given to the collector of customs conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman if required by the Secretary of Labor within one year from the date of such deposit. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, nor in the case of the failure of such vessel to deposit an alien seaman, while a question is pending before the Secretary of Labor as to whether such alien seaman is a deserter from such vessel. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum when a sufficient bond is given to the collector of customs conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman if required by such immigration officer at any time within one year from the date of such deposit. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the payment disallowed to the application of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the girls, engineers, and other and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the names, nationality, and last residence of all such aliens; and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at multiple as soon as ascertained, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed at the time of the arrival but who have been employed during the progress of the voyage, or touched at any port or place in Cuba, Mexico, Central America, the West Indies, or adjacent islands, and the ports, and the cause of their discharge, and the names of all aliens who have been signed on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, or died on the voyage to the United States, and the cause and place of death. Such lists shall be produced at the time of the arrival of such vessel at each port of entry in the United States at which inspection is required, and shall be open to the inspection of any immigrant inspector. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or to report any desertion or death, or who fails to report such cases at the time of the arrival of such vessel at each port of entry in the United States at which inspection is required, or who refuses to allow the inspection of such lists, or who refuses to allow the immigrant inspectors to come on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who refuses to detain on board any alien when directed so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or by any officer of the United States authorized to give such direction, or who refuses to deliver to the collector of customs a certificate of the payment of the head tax of any such alien, or who refuses to pay the cost of maintenance and support of any such alien while detained under the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 37. That upon the arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a true and complete manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or in the steerage, before any such person shall be allowed to land in the United States from such vessel. The form of manifest shall be prepared by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to change and modification from time to time as he may deem necessary. Such manifest shall state the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket through, whether the passage is paid by himself or by other persons or by some society or other concern, whether in possession of money, and if so how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so what relatives or friends and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind to perform labor in the United States, and what is the condition of health, mental and physical, of each person, whether deformed or crippled and if so how and to what extent, and what is the height and complexion of each person. The said manifest shall also state specifically as to each alien his or her calling or occupation in his or her native country, whether he or she can read or write, whether he or she has been assisted to come by any individual, society, corporation, or other prepaid ticket or by any part of the money for the purchase of the same, or whether the same was furnished in whole or in part by relatives or friends, and if so by whom such amount was furnished, and the amount of money which each alien has with him or her at the time of landing, which information shall be carefully taken down by the examining officer and certified by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, or clerk or other officer of the vessel who may be designated for the purpose by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer, and certified by the surgeon of the vessel as to the mental and physical condition of each person on board, which certificate shall be sworn to before the examining officer at the port of arrival. The said manifest shall be produced at the time of the arrival of such vessel at each port of entry in the United States at which inspection is required, and shall be open to the inspection of any immigrant inspector. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such manifest, or who refuses to allow the inspection of such manifest, or who refuses to detain on board any alien when directed so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or by any officer of the United States authorized to give such direction, or who refuses to deliver to the collector of customs a certificate of the payment of the head tax of any such alien, or who refuses to pay the cost of maintenance and support of any such alien while detained under the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 38. (a) That no alien seaman (whether member of the crew or otherwise) employed on board any vessel arriving at any port within the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained in custody for any purpose or taken before any court, justice, or commissioner, or other official for any hearing or examination, or for the taking of his deposition, unless and until a permit for him to land has been granted by the Secretary of Labor or by such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, or unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on board which he arrived shall have given a bond to the United States, with sufficient sureties, in such sum as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and will pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such condition is broken, as hereinafter provided, and will comply with all the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to such alien seaman. Such bond shall be in addition to the bond required by section 4 of this Act. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any bond given under the provisions of this section, and in lieu thereof require a deposit of money in an amount not exceeding the face value of the bond canceled. Such deposit shall be refunded to the depositor after the departure of the alien seaman in respect of whom it was made, or after the bond given by the depositor has been canceled, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have applied the deposit or any part thereof to the payment of the penalty incurred by the depositor as a result of the failure of the alien seaman to depart or of any other breach of the conditions of the bond.

(b) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall fail to deliver any alien seaman entitled to be detained on board or at the port of arrival for the purpose of being returned to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or who shall fail to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while detained, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such penalty has been paid to the collector of customs, or a bond given for the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reported to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel the name of any alien seaman who has been ordered to be detained on board or at the port of arrival for the purpose of being returned to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, and such alien seaman shall have been so detained, such vessel shall not be granted clearance by the collector of customs until the Secretary of Labor shall have certified that such alien seaman is no longer required at the port for the purpose of being returned to the country to which he belongs, or that provision has been made for his return, or that the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while detained has been paid to the collector of customs.

(d) That any alien seaman who shall depart from the jurisdiction of the port of arrival in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel, without a permit from the Secretary of Labor or such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, or who shall remain in the United States after the revocation of such permit, shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman who shall be ordered deported under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such cost has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reported to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel the name of any alien seaman who has been ordered to be detained on board or at the port of arrival for the purpose of being returned to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, and such alien seaman shall have been so detained, such vessel shall not be granted clearance by the collector of customs until the Secretary of Labor shall have certified that such alien seaman is no longer required at the port for the purpose of being returned to the country to which he belongs, or that provision has been made for his return, or that the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while detained has been paid to the collector of customs.

(f) That any alien seaman who shall depart from the jurisdiction of the port of arrival in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel, without a permit from the Secretary of Labor or such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, or who shall remain in the United States after the revocation of such permit, shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman who shall be ordered deported under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such cost has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 18. (a) No alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained in custody for any purpose or taken before any court, justice, or commissioner, or other official for any hearing or examination, or for the taking of his deposition, unless and until a permit for him to land has been granted by the Secretary of Labor or by such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, or unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on board which he arrived shall have given a bond to the United States, with sufficient sureties, in such sum as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman employed, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and will pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such condition is broken, as hereinafter provided, and will comply with all the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to such alien seaman. Such bond shall be in addition to the bond required by section 4 of this Act. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any bond given under the provisions of this section, and in lieu thereof require a deposit of money in an amount not exceeding the face value of the bond canceled. Such deposit shall be refunded to the depositor after the departure of the alien seaman in respect of whom it was made, or after the bond given by the depositor has been canceled, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have applied the deposit or any part thereof to the payment of the penalty incurred by the depositor as a result of the failure of the alien seaman to depart or of any other breach of the conditions of the bond.

(b) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall fail to deliver any alien seaman entitled to be detained on board or at the port of arrival for the purpose of being returned to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or who shall fail to pay the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while detained, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such penalty has been paid to the collector, or a bond given for the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reported to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel the name of any alien seaman who has been ordered to be detained on board or at the port of arrival for the purpose of being returned to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, and such alien seaman shall have been so detained, such vessel shall not be granted clearance by the collector of customs until the Secretary of Labor shall have certified that such alien seaman is no longer required at the port for the purpose of being returned to the country to which he belongs, or that provision has been made for his return, or that the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman while detained has been paid to the collector of customs.

(d) That any alien seaman who shall depart from the jurisdiction of the port of arrival in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel, without a permit from the Secretary of Labor or such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, or who shall remain in the United States after the revocation of such permit, shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman who shall be ordered deported under the provisions of this section shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such cost has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

Each list must be legible, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and before the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 2425) shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port.

// non an attorney assigned it a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessels at the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, commander, or officer in charge of the port of arrival into which vessels carry passengers to cause a complete list to be prepared containing the name of all aliens employed on board such vessel, setting forth the position they respectively hold in the alien's country, which list shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the Secretary of Labor or by the proper officer of the customs authorized to grant clearance papers in his absence until the master thereof shall have delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the name of each alien employed on board such vessel, and the immigration officer at such port shall have certified upon the list that the same is correct, or to the best of the master's knowledge and belief contains the name of each such alien employed on board such vessel, and that the master has delivered a duplicate thereof to the Secretary of Labor. Any master who knowingly refuses to deliver such list, or who knowingly delivers a false list, or who refuses to such officer to certify the same, or who knowingly certifies a false list, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such false list is delivered, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Clearance papers may be granted prior to the delivery of such list by the master in case of accident, to be satisfied by the Secretary of Labor, which fact shall be stated in the clearance papers.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 8. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall before any alien is allowed to land in the United States, cause such alien to be examined by an immigrant inspector, unless such alien is entitled to enter the United States without such examination under section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, or is specifically exempted from such examination by the Secretary of Labor. Such examination shall be conducted in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any alien who refuses to submit to such examination or to furnish information in connection therewith shall be denied a landing.

(b) Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, or who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been refused a landing, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom such violation occurs.

(c) No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the right to land of any alien, or pending the taking of an appeal provided for in this section, nor shall such clearance papers be granted if any such alien is detained on board under the order of a special inquiry officer, unless such detention is waived, or such appeal is decided in favor of such alien.

(d) Upon the payment of the head tax, such alien, if in possession of a valid passport, shall be admitted to the United States if found by the immigrant inspector to be clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to land under all the provisions of the immigration laws and not subject to certification for special inquiry, unless such inspector has, prior to the payment of the head tax, determined that such alien belongs to one of the classes enumerated as excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and cannot be admitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or finds that such alien cannot be admitted to land in the United States under the provisions of section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, or any other existing law or treaty, and in such case or cases shall refer such alien for special inquiry under the provisions of section 16 of said act of February 5, 1917, and the rules and regulations made in pursuance thereof.

(e) Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to enter such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the alien passengers or the crew thereof, or to refuse to detain on board any alien member of the crew when ordered by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien on board or at such place in the United States as shall be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, or who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, or who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been refused a landing, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the right of any alien to land, or pending the taking of an appeal provided for in this section, nor shall such clearance papers be granted if any such alien is detained on board under the order of a special inquiry officer, unless such detention is waived, or such appeal is decided in favor of such alien.

(f) It shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who has been certified to special inquiry under the provisions of this section to detain such alien on board such vessel until a special inquiry officer has ordered such alien to be landed or has otherwise disposed of the case as provided in this section, unless such alien is sooner removed therefrom pursuant to the written direction of the Secretary of Labor or unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have given a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $500, conditioned for the return of such alien to the vessel for removal to the country whence he came, or for such other disposition of the alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor or by any board of special inquiry officers acting under his direction, within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor or by such board of special inquiry officers, not exceeding six months, and for the payment of the cost of the maintenance of such alien while in the custody of the United States. Such bond shall be in lieu of the detention of such alien on board or elsewhere, and the penalty thereof may be enforced against the owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or master of such vessel in case of default in the return of such alien for removal or other disposition as directed by the Secretary of Labor or by such board of special inquiry officers. Such alien shall not be allowed to land in the United States for any purpose except under the conditions and control prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued his decision within ten days after the application of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel for the return of any alien member of the crew, or for the removal of any alien passenger, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, grant such application and permit the return of such alien to the country whence he came, or such other disposition of the alien as may be required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, upon the deposit of such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor not exceeding $500 for each alien, to cover the cost of maintenance while in the custody of the United States and the head tax if such alien be entitled to enter the United States upon the payment thereof, and upon such vessel such alien or aliens may be returned or otherwise disposed of as directed by the Secretary of Labor or by such board of special inquiry officers.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued his decision within ten days after the application of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel for the return of any alien member of the crew, or for the removal of any alien passenger, such application may be granted by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port, and such vessel may be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers, upon the deposit of such sum as may be required by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port not exceeding $500 for each alien, to cover the cost of maintenance while in the custody of the United States and the head tax if such alien be entitled to enter the United States upon the payment thereof.

(i) Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or fail to deposit the sum or sums required by the Secretary of Labor or by such board of special inquiry officers within the time specified shall be subject to the penalties provided for in subdivision (g) of this section.

(j) Upon the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deposit the sum or sums required by the Secretary of Labor or by such board of special inquiry officers within the time specified, the vessel upon which such alien or aliens may be detained shall be liable to a lien for the payment of the sum or sums required, and may be libeled therefor in the United States district court for the district in which the vessel may be found.

(k) Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse to pay the head tax for any alien entitled to enter the United States upon the payment thereof shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien as to whom such refusal occurs.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or for humane reasons and then only under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who is required by this section to be deported shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 16 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and such penalty may be imposed, while the vessel is in port, by the collector of customs. Any alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, but the cost of such deportation shall not be collected from the vessel. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States after any vessel on which he arrived has departed therefrom shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, but the cost of such deportation shall not be collected from the vessel. Any alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, but the cost of such deportation shall not be collected from the vessel. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States after any vessel on which he arrived has departed therefrom shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, but the cost of such deportation shall not be collected from the vessel.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens shall be signed by the master, or other officer of the vessel (Form 950) shall not be construed as boarding, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving alien is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and discharged, and showing those to be paid off in the port of arrival; or lists containing no names of such aliens, as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer at Atlantic as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and report the deportation of any alien ordered deported at the time of the arrival of the vessel at which such alien was reported, or at the time of the departure of the vessel from the United States, whichever shall first occur. Any person who wrongfully refuses to deliver lists required by this section, or who refuses to report, or who reports incorrectly or falsely, or who refuses to allow the immigration officer to board the vessel for the purpose of examining the same, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by the immigration officer, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer a United States landing certificate for each alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses to pay the head tax for each alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien while detained on board such vessel, or who refuses to pay any head tax which may become due by reason of the refusal of any alien to land, or who refuses to pay the cost of the return passage of any alien who may be excluded and ordered deported, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in the district court of the United States for the district in which the offense was committed shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such offense. The master of any vessel bringing an alien who is afflicted with any loathsome disease, which would be cause for exclusion from the United States under the provisions of this act, shall be detained on board such vessel by the master thereof, if practicable, and shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital treatment or burial, during the period such vessel remains in port, unless such alien shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival as in his opinion not to be afflicted with such disease, or to be in proper condition for landing, or to be free from such danger of contagion as would result from such treatment, burial, or hospital treatment. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such violation.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the data required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative officer prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said act be given.

Where a penalty has been incurred, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital treatment, or burial, during the period such vessel remains in port, unless such alien shall have been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival as in his opinion not to be afflicted with such disease, or to be in proper condition for landing, or to be free from such danger of contagion as would result from such treatment, burial, or hospital treatment. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. A vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(a) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport such seaman by the immigration officer at the port.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense has been paid or is pursuant thereto to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, [illegible], of the [illegible], do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from and port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the cook of section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and cook of sections 13 and 50, Act of July 28, 1894, so far as they appear below.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens of alien members of crew (form 093) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "non-immigrant" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and describing their personal description, nationality, last permanent residence, and destination, as far as known, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival may require any alien employed on such vessel to exhibit his certificate of landing and discharge in the port of arrival, or such continuation as much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof to report any such alien who may have illegally landed from the vessel. Every master, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens arriving and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or illness, who shall refuse or neglect to answer fully and correctly to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor, any inquiry addressed to him in relation thereto, or who shall refuse to exhibit to any immigration officer or other officer acting under the Secretary of Labor, upon demand, the certificate of landing of any such alien, or who shall refuse or neglect to report, or make any false statement or give any false information in connection therewith, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10,000 for each such alien concerning in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Vessel that an alien seaman did not obtain when the opinion mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section was formed, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport him on board such vessel, unless it appears that the master has complied with the regulations of the Secretary of Labor governing such cases.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared until such expense shall have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fine referred to in section 36 hereof has been retired, the deposit specified in Rule 55 therefor to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 36 hereof has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall have been certified by the Secretary of Labor as specially required in the interest of the national defense, temporarily or deportation of such alien seaman, or pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor governing the issuance of certificates of identification to such seamen, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such seaman in respect of whom such on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Vessel that an alien seaman did not obtain when the opinion mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section was formed, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport him on board such vessel, unless it appears that the master has complied with the regulations of the Secretary of Labor governing such cases made and provided, and produced to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of the vessel on which he arrived a list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave both thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those who, after the arrival of such vessel, shall be employed, and if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens arriving and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or illness, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the duration of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded; but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER, COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain tough white approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be so delivered by taken from the vessel. The list of changes or additions indicated on such vessel, attached the boarding duly authorized officer at the port of arrival; or they shall be delivered to the master of the vessel by such officer, prepared as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe. And after the arrival of such vessel at the port, the master shall not permit any person to leave the vessel before the inspection of such persons by the immigration officer, or before such immigration officer has given him permission so to do, except in case of accident to the vessel, or for the purpose of saving life or property, and before the master shall deliver to such immigration officer, if arriving, as soon as discovered, all cases in which such alien has illegally landed from the vessel. Every description required in such list of each alien, touching such investigation likely to lead to the apprehension and deportation of any alien who may be found to be unlawfully in the United States or its possessions at any time subsequent to the date of such list, shall be entered therein at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival from a foreign port or place, and before the vessel shall leave such port or place. It shall be the duty of the master of each vessel, arriving at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place, to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival from a foreign port or place, and before the vessel shall leave such port or place, a list or manifest of all aliens who may be on board such vessel, whether they are destined to the United States or pass in transit through the United States to some foreign country, which list or manifest shall be prepared by the master, or the agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be sworn to before a consular officer of the United States at the port of departure of such vessel, or if there be no consular officer at such port, then before such officer at the nearest port to the place of departure of such vessel to which a consular officer is assigned. The master of each vessel shall also deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a separate list or manifest of all aliens who may be on board such vessel who are to be landed at such port, which list or manifest shall be prepared and sworn to in the manner hereinbefore provided. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse or neglect to prepare such list or manifest in the manner hereinbefore provided, or who shall refuse to subscribe and swear to the same before the proper officer, shall pay to the collector of customs at the customs district at which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10.00 for each alien concerning which such information is required and not furnished as herein provided, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or any other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until the payment of such sum has been satisfactorily proved to the collector or other officer. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers after the determination of such question upon which the payment of such sum may depend, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port specified in subdivision (a) of this section who may be refused admission to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel departing from the United States, or transferred to such vessel for the purpose of proceeding to a foreign port, shall be deported on board such vessel, unless he shall be lawfully entitled to enter some other foreign country, or shall, within such time as may be required by the immigration officer, obtain lawful permission to enter the United States. Deportation under this subdivision shall be to the country in which the alien boarded the vessel from which he was excluded, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, or to the country which he last departed which gave him lawful permission to enter, at the option of the master of the vessel. Any master who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien specified in this subdivision shall pay to the collector of customs at the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so to be deported, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or any other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until the payment of such sum has been satisfactorily proved to the collector or other officer. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers after the determination of the question upon which the payment of such sum may depend, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien examined on the vessel or while he arrives would cause undue hardship to such person he may cause such alien to be detained on shore or on board such vessel at the expense of the vessel or master for a period not exceeding five days pending the final determination of such question: Provided, That detention may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed the sum so deposited shall be returned, while if remission thereof not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

That § Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished.

And no fees unless notice of intent to be administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act have been paid, the deposit required by said section 38 of said Act has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or transferred, or intending to ship such seaman as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien on board who is afflicted with any of the diseases specified in section 2 of the immigration Act of 1917 (trachoma, favus, chancroid, granuloma inguinale, or leprosy), or who has been deported on board such vessel within one year after such deportation, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified and has given such permission as he may deem necessary for the landing of such alien, except that such alien may be detained on board or at quarantine for such period as may be necessary to enable the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to determine whether or not such alien is afflicted with any such disease, and except that such alien may be detained on board or at quarantine for such further period not exceeding forty days as may be necessary to enable a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to certify whether or not such alien is afflicted with any such disease in a communicable form. Such detention shall be at the expense of the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse to detain any such alien as required by this subdivision shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such refusal occurs. No such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the detention of any such alien, or while any such alien is detained under this subdivision, unless a sum sufficient to cover such penalty has been deposited as security for the payment thereof, or unless a bond with sufficient surety in such sum as the collector of customs may require is given for the payment thereof.

(b) Any such alien seaman who is not afflicted with any of the diseases or subject to any of the physical defects specified in subdivision (a) of this section, and who is duly certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as not having been exposed to any such disease during the period of such detention, shall, if he is destitute or has been in the United States for more than five years, be treated as an alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is destitute or has been in the United States for more than five years, and shall be deported in the manner provided by law in the case of such alien seamen.

(c) Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States during the period of such detention, except temporarily as a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived, or as a passenger, shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor and deported in the manner provided by law in the case of other aliens illegally in the United States.

(d) Any such alien seaman who shall not depart from the territory of the United States in the manner required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who shall depart from the United States on a vessel other than that on which he arrived, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided by law in the case of other aliens illegally in the United States.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, E. L. HEATH, MASTER, of the AMERICAN SS OLYMPIA, do depose and say that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, provided in said vessel from and port or place sailing for present voyage. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below and in the form approved by the Department and by law must be kept for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and it must be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 6001 shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival).

Where an alternate manner is a "motherway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each such alien; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immediate officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension; and before the departure of any vessel from any port of the United States it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of the vessel a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board, and shall report specially all cases of deserting seamen, stating the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and description of each deserter, and the vessel from which deserted, and shall make oath to the truthfulness of such report and list before the immigration officer making the demand. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such violation, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been collected, and no fee once paid will be refunded, nor shall any clearance be granted in case the immigration fees are not employed on board any vessel bound from a port in the United States to a port in the United States, except temporarily for inspection, or because of inability to land at the port of destination, or because of refusal of the master to pay the fees, or because of the refusal of the immigrant to land at the port of destination, in which cases the fees will be refunded by the collector.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from foreign contiguous territory, or between ports in the United States, to which such vessel is bound, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for inspection, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel unless such alien seaman (except those employed in the customary manner on vessels engaged in trade between the United States and the Philippine Islands, Guam, Samoa, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands) shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence or shall be in possession of a valid immigration visa and passport, or shall be in possession of a valid nonimmigrant visa and passport if such seaman is destined to the United States temporarily solely in pursuance of the business of the foreign vessel on which he arrived or to join a vessel at a port other than that at which he arrived, or if such seaman is destined to the United States temporarily as a bona fide visitor for pleasure, or if such seaman is in transit through the United States to a foreign country: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such questions upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the ordinary manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was otherwise lawfully entitled to be admitted temporarily without a visa, may be made by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel by affidavit of such alien seaman taken before a United States consular officer, or before the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, or before such other officer as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor. Such affidavit shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated in favor of such alien seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, and upon which vessel such seaman is to be employed on another vessel at the expense of

The list or manifest must be signed by the master (or, if he be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival). If there be no surgeon on board, the list must be delivered by the master as soon as discovered, all cases in which such vessel shall have been detained for hospital treatment or observation to be specially noted thereon. When a vessel shall be detained at quarantine, the list shall be delivered to the quarantine officer in charge, who shall indorse thereon the date of delivery to him and deliver the list to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port.

Women on arriving aliens coming in a "motherly" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of first arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they have been in the United States before, and if so, how long, and whether they have been in the possession of any visa issued by a consular officer, and if so, when and where issued, and such other information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to said immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to the apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to said immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed since the time of the arrival but who left prior thereto at the time of the arrival but who left prior thereto at the time of the departure of the vessel, and also the reasons for the departure of each of such aliens so far as known. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to deliver the lists required by this section, or who fails to report such cases of desertion or illness, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien with respect to whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the payment of such fine, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seeking admission was not aboard when the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was temporarily in the United States for a period not to exceed 29 days, and is otherwise admissible, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as a condition precedent to the granting by the Secretary of Labor of clearance papers to such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 38 of the immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 8

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 38 have been furnished, and not then unless, unless of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to any time prescribed by section 32 hereof, the deposit specified in Rule 55 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, except temporarily for inspection, or treatment in connection therewith, or on account of actual illness while in the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to obtain such a certificate when required, or who enters or lands in violation of any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who lands at any time or place other than as designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for immigrant inspection or to depart from such port, or who lands without having been duly admitted by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration Act of 1917. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a period in excess of the period allowed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or at any time within five years after the date of his entry, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of the immigration Act of 1917, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by circumstances over which he had no control. Any alien seaman who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be ineligible to citizenship.

(a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place who shall refuse or fail to deliver on demand to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the manifest required by section 30 hereof, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have granted such seaman (unless inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain any alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the alien seaman may be found a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the payment of such fine, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or that he was temporarily in the United States for a period not to exceed 29 days, and is otherwise admissible, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel as a condition precedent to the granting by the Secretary of Labor of clearance papers to such vessel.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Section 38 of the immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

The list described below shall be prepared and ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens to whom inspection certificates are issued shall not be removed from the vessel by the master or any other person until the inspection officer has been given the list. The master shall deliver the list to the proper immigration officer at the port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be certified by the master of the vessel to be correct. Any person who knowingly shipped or employed any person in any capacity on board of such vessel without having such person's name entered on the lists delivered to the proper immigration officer, or who refuses to exhibit such lists when demanded by any such officer, or who knowingly destroys or mutilates any such list, or who knowingly makes any false entry in any such list, or who refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer any such list when demanded, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such offense. And the master of any such vessel shall, for each and every person who is not included in the lists delivered to the proper immigration officer, or with respect to whom the master fails to report or makes a false report, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each and every such offense; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance or shall depart from the port of arrival until the amount of such fines has been determined and paid or secured to be paid to the satisfaction of the collector, except that in the event such fine is imposed while the vessel is on her voyage from one port to another within the United States, and the master thereof can show to the satisfaction of the collector that he has made due effort to secure the full number of persons included in the lists required by this section to be delivered to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, and has reported the cause of failure to secure such full number, and the list of those who have been left behind, to the proper immigration officer at the port of departure, and has furnished the name, last known address, and description of each person who has been left behind, and the cause for leaving, so far as ascertained by him, and has taken such other steps as may be required by the immigration officer at the port of departure, then the collector may remit such fine or any portion thereof upon the payment of the head tax and the performance of such other conditions, if any, as he may impose. The Secretary of Labor may from time to time prescribe the amount of bond to be given by masters of vessels to secure the payment of fines which may be imposed upon them under the provisions of this section, and may prescribe such regulations as he may deem necessary for the collection of such fines and the remission thereof in whole or in part, and may refer questions arising thereunder to the Board of Appeals from Decisions of the Commissioners of Immigration for its decision.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or upon its departure from one seaport to another in the United States with passengers on board, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer thereof shall deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel. Similar lists shall be delivered at the port of arrival or departure of vessels exclusively plying between ports of the United States and foreign contiguous territory, or between ports of the United States and adjacent islands, except that such lists shall be required in connection with vessels touching at ports of the United States from foreign contiguous territory when specially required by the Secretary of Labor. The lists required by this section shall be prepared and delivered in such manner and form and contain such particulars concerning each alien listed therein as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel upon which an alien is required by this section to be listed who shall refuse to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of the vessel from a port of the United States a correct list, as required by this section, of the aliens employed on such vessel, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully and correctly to the best of his knowledge any question touching the number, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, and other matters concerning each alien employed on such vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such port is located a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the said lists in cases of emergency, but in such cases the said lists shall be delivered within twenty-four hours after the departure of the vessel from the port: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel who fails to list any alien employed on such vessel, or who lists such alien incorrectly, shall be liable to the penalty above prescribed for each such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety therefor: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel who fails to deliver the lists required by this section at the time of departure of such vessel from a port of the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien not listed, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety therefor: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel who refuses to answer questions or who makes false answers concerning any alien employed on such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $20 for each such answer: And provided further, That the penalties imposed by this section shall not be remitted or refunded except that head tax erroneously collected from any alien not entitled to admission under the immigration laws shall be refunded to the master of the vessel on which he arrived upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that such alien was not entitled to admission under the immigration laws.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 9. (a) No alien seaman admitted from adjacent foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands to the United States under the immigration laws of the United States and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman admitted into the United States under the immigration laws of the United States and employed on board any vessel clearing from the United States for any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of quarantine, or unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is a bona fide alien seaman and intends to depart from the United States in the vessel on which he arrived or in some other vessel, and is not a member of a class of aliens who are not admissible into the United States under the immigration laws: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this subdivision in favor of any alien seaman who has been employed on board any vessel for a period of not less than one year immediately preceding his application for waiver, and who is found by the Secretary of Labor to be otherwise admissible under the immigration laws.

(b) Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of quarantine, or who shall remain in the United States more than five days after the departure of the vessel on board which he arrived, shall be deported as an alien who entered the United States without inspection at the time of his entry, unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable for reasons beyond his control or the control of the owner, agent, master, or consignee of the vessel on board which he arrived to depart therein within the said five days, or that he entered the United States in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he is a national, and a valid unexpired visa of such passport by a consular officer of the United States, and that he intended to depart therein within a period authorized by the visa, or that he entered the United States as a member of the crew of a vessel which subsequently departed therefrom within the period of time allowed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or that he was forced by illness or other cause beyond his control to remain longer than the period of time allowed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or that he was prevented from departing within the said five days by reason of the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel on which he arrived to permit him to depart therein, or that he was prevented from departing within the said five days by reason of the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel on which he arrived to permit him to depart therein, unless such refusal was based on the fact that he was a member of a class of aliens who are not admissible into the United States under the immigration laws.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and also any vessel which is owned or controlled by the same interests, will cause undue hardship, except that deportation shall not be suspended for a longer period than one year, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and also any vessel which is owned or controlled by the same interests, to any country to which the vessel on which he arrived is willing to return him, other than a country in which he was born, or a country in which he has his residence, or to any country which may be designated by the master of any vessel which is owned or controlled by the same interests as the vessel on which he arrived which is willing to receive

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or bona fide shipwreck, until the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have given a bond to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, in the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section, conditioned for the payment to the Secretary of Labor of the penalty provided by the following paragraph for each such alien seaman: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe rules under which a bond in a sum sufficient to cover such case, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(a) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the continental territory of the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or from any place outside thereof, or shall be found on board such vessel in violation of the immigration laws, shall be deemed a nonimmigrant alien of the class described in section 3 of this Act, and may be required to depart from the United States at any time and shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived cannot be effected without undue detention of such vessel at the expense of the vessel or master, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall fail to pay the penalty provided for in subdivision (a) of this section, or to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, or shall fail to report the desertion of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, or to make due search for such alien seaman, or to detain such alien seaman on board such vessel, or to present such alien seaman for examination by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or at any time within five years thereafter, or to pay the head tax imposed by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 for each such alien seaman, or to deport such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any other vessel on which he may be found in the United States, or to report the illness or hospitalization of such alien seaman, or to obtain a permit to land such alien seaman in case of his illness, or to pay the hospital expenses of such alien seaman, or to furnish a bond for the payment of such expenses, or to pay the cost of burying such alien seaman in case of his death, or to perform any of the duties imposed upon masters, agents, consignees, or owners of vessels by this section or by such rules and regulations as may be made by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance thereof, such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall pay to the collector of customs a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the case of any such alien seaman is being reported to the Secretary of Labor, or while any such alien seaman remains on board, except with the consent of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have given a certificate to the effect that the case of each such alien seaman has been reported to the Secretary of Labor, and that sufficient time has elapsed to receive instructions from the Secretary of Labor in connection therewith. Upon the payment of such penalty, or the giving of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor for the payment thereof, clearance shall be granted as to such vessel, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have been convicted of a violation of this section, in which case clearance shall be withheld for a period of one year thereafter as to any vessel of which he may be master, agent, consignee, or owner.

REG. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by said section or so fixed prescribed by section 35 of said act have been paid, or bond for their payment satisfactorily guaranteed.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying the ports at which they severally intend to land; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who have been employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who may have been discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, at the time of the departure, and such the names of those, if any, who have been hired to fill such vacancies, and the names of all such employees who have been employed thereon at the time of the departure but who may leave the vessel at any foreign port or place, stating the fact of such desertion or discharge, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the Secretary of Labor, for the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no alien vessel shall be cleared while any such default continues. Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector stationed at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Ellis Island (NY) shall not be considered on board, but shall be considered to be upon land from the vessel.

When an arriving alien is a "NORTHWEST," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival [duly constituted a the manner of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and discharged; and such master shall not be entitled to a clearance for the vessel from the collector of customs at the port of arrival until he has delivered to the immigration officer, or such immigration officer as the Secretary of Labor may designate, a list containing a correct account of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the information required by this section concerning each such alien, except that with respect to aliens employed in the service of the vessel as members of the crew the master shall be required only to state the number employed in each such capacity and the positions they respectively hold. Any master who refuses or neglects to deliver such list, or who knowingly and willfully delivers a false list or account, or who refuses to subscribe and swear to the same, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom any such false or incorrect statement is made, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located until the sum of $10 for each such alien has been paid to the collector or secured to be paid to his satisfaction or pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor, to which decision the master shall submit the question upon request. The master shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at each port of arrival a separate list of such aliens destined to that port, and no such vessel shall depart from one port to another in the United States until the master thereof has delivered to the immigrant inspector at such port a list containing the names of all aliens on board destined to that port. Masters of vessels who refuse or neglect to deliver lists, or deliver incorrect or incomplete lists, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors at the various ports of arrival as may be necessary to secure the prompt and efficient performance of the service required hereby, and may make such investigations and require such reports as he deems necessary with respect to the administration of the immigration laws at the various ports of arrival and the number, character, and disposition of the immigrants arriving thereat.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization to which he is certified to the Secretary of Labor under rules prescribed by him from time to time, or for such time as may be necessary to enable him to obtain a passport and to depart from the United States, or for such time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the purpose of effecting the departure of such alien seaman on board the vessel or some other vessel or conveyance, or for such time as may be necessary to enable such alien seaman to be treated for such disease or illness as may be certified by the United States Public Health Service as requiring treatment before departure, or for such time as may be necessary to enable such alien seaman to be hospitalized pending his departure on board the vessel or some other vessel or conveyance, or for such time as may be necessary to enable such alien seaman to be detained or hospitalized pursuant to the provisions of section 16 of this Act. Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse to receive any such alien seaman on board such vessel when ordered to do so by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse or fail to remove any such alien seaman on board when ordered to do so by the Secretary of Labor or any immigrant inspector, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of such district while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the continental territory of the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board some other vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain clearance papers for such vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such alien seaman has been paid or his payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel is located until the Secretary of Labor has certified that such deportation has been effected or that sufficient security has been given to guarantee such deportation.

(d) Every master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to report and detain any alien seaman as required by this section, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with any regulation of the Secretary of Labor governing the detention on board or removal from the United States of alien seamen, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense.

The list of races before which is to be entered on which foreign immigrants are to be reported to the Department has been issued by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and is to continue in force until further notice. The list of races or peoples is not intended to classify persons according to color, but is based upon the various races which have been found to predominate among the immigrants coming to the United States. Persons of mixed blood are to be reported according to the race or people with which they appear to be most closely connected, or which predominates in their composition. Persons who are citizens of the United States are not to be reported, but all others, including those returning after temporary absence, are to be reported, whether they intend to remain permanently in the United States or not.

SEC. 38. That when a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, at which such vessel first arrives, lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in such form and contain such information concerning each person as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master, or captain, or person in charge of such vessel. Before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers in the case of vessels engaged in the coastwise trade, or before the master, or captain, or person in charge thereof shall be granted a certificate of such clearance, in the case of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, it shall be the duty of the proper officer of the United States Government at the port of departure to require the master, or captain, or person in charge of such vessel to produce and deliver to him the lists or manifests required by this section to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and to certify on the outward manifest of such vessel that the lists or manifests required by this section have been delivered as aforesaid, or to state in writing the reasons why such lists or manifests have not been delivered. Such certificate shall be given by the Government officer without charge. Any master, captain, or person in charge of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to such immigrant inspector such lists or manifests, or who refuses to make oath to the same when required so to do, or who refuses to give the certificate required by this section, or who violates any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States having jurisdiction of such offenses shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense, and shall not be granted clearance papers for his vessel by the collector of customs until he shall have complied with the requirements of this section and paid the fine imposed upon him for such violation, or until the master, captain, or person in charge of such vessel shall have given a bond to the United States in double the amount of such fine with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, to be approved by the collector of customs. The Secretary of Labor shall have power to remit fines and cancel bonds imposed or required under the provisions of this section when in his judgment justice shall so require. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require masters of vessels to deliver lists or manifests containing the names of persons who may leave foreign contiguous territory to enter the United States by way of the Canadian or Mexican borders, unless such masters have reason to believe that such persons intend to enter the United States unlawfully.

SEC. 36. That when a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, at which such vessel first arrives, lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in such form and contain such information concerning each person as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master, or captain, or person in charge of such vessel. Before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers in the case of vessels engaged in the coastwise trade, or before the master, or captain, or person in charge thereof shall be granted a certificate of such clearance, in the case of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, it shall be the duty of the proper officer of the United States Government at the port of departure to require the master, or captain, or person in charge of such vessel to produce and deliver to him the lists or manifests required by this section to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and to certify on the outward manifest of such vessel that the lists or manifests required by this section have been delivered as aforesaid, or to state in writing the reasons why such lists or manifests have not been delivered. Such certificate shall be given by the Government officer without charge. Any master, captain, or person in charge of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to such immigrant inspector such lists or manifests, or who refuses to make oath to the same when required so to do, or who refuses to give the certificate required by this section, or who violates any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States having jurisdiction of such offenses shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense, and shall not be granted clearance papers for his vessel by the collector of customs until he shall have complied with the requirements of this section and paid the fine imposed upon him for such violation, or until the master, captain, or person in charge of such vessel shall have given a bond to the United States in double the amount of such fine with sufficient sureties to secure the payment thereof, to be approved by the collector of customs. The Secretary of Labor shall have power to remit fines and cancel bonds imposed or required under the provisions of this section when in his judgment justice shall so require. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require masters of vessels to deliver lists or manifests containing the names of persons who may leave foreign contiguous territory to enter the United States by way of the Canadian or Mexican borders, unless such masters have reason to believe that such persons intend to enter the United States unlawfully.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and which vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Each alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States shall be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel upon the same route unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him permission in writing, to be delivered to and kept by the master, to depart on some other vessel. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver such seaman for deportation, or upon the failure of such seaman to report for deportation, or upon the departure of such vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 in addition to any other penalty prescribed by this section.

SEC. 18. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States shall be required to deposit with the Secretary of Labor, if he shall so require, at the port of arrival, and before any such vessel shall depart from such port, a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay the cost of maintenance while in the United States and the return expenses of such alien seaman, and such deposit shall be required in the case of each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel. Failure to make such deposit shall be unlawful, and the vessel shall be liable to the United States for a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman employed.

(b) Each alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel departing from any port of the United States, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of arrival or departure, as the case may be, and if, upon such examination, it is found that any such alien seaman has remained in the United States in violation of law, or that he is then unlawfully in the United States, or that he belongs to any of the classes of aliens who are excluded from admission into the United States by the immigration laws, he shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor for deportation, and the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and which vessel shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 16 of this Act, shall be notified that such alien seaman will be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel upon the same route unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him permission in writing, to be delivered to and kept by the master, to depart on some other vessel. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver such seaman for deportation, or upon the failure of such seaman to report for deportation, or upon the departure of such vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman employed.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and which vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Each alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States shall be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel upon the same route unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him permission in writing, to be delivered to and kept by the master, to depart on some other vessel. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver such seaman for deportation, or upon the failure of such seaman to report for deportation, or upon the departure of such vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman employed.

Act, p. (Insurance shall not be granted nor vessel allowed to proceed on her voyage if the Secretary of Labor shall find that reasonable ground exists for belief that the vessel is unseaworthy by reason of overloading, improper loading, insufficient or improper ventilation, unsanitary conditions, lack of sufficient or competent crew, or any other cause likely to endanger the health or safety of passengers or crew during the voyage.

SEC. 16. That the Secretary of Labor shall have power to prescribe rules and make all necessary orders for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act, and shall establish all needful rules and regulations for the admission, detention, and deportation of aliens prohibited to enter the United States by this Act, and for the support and relief of such aliens as may become public charges for a period not exceeding three years after their entry, when such support and relief shall have been adjudged necessary by the Secretary of Labor, and for the regulation of the care and custody of such aliens during detention, and for the establishment of such hospitals, detention stations, and other places in connection with the enforcement of this Act as he may deem necessary, and may appoint such officers, agents, and employees as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act, and may enter into contracts with any State or Territory or municipality or private agency for the support and relief of such aliens and their care during detention, and may establish such regulations and prescribe such forms of bond, notice, and procedure as he may deem necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this Act. All appointments of officers and employees made by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the provisions of the civil-service laws and regulations of the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel departing from any port of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of emergency, unless a bond in the penalty of $500 with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of Labor, is given to the United States for such alien seaman, conditioned that he will not become a public charge within five years after entry and that he will not abandon his vessel at any port in the United States, and unless such alien seaman shall be in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the United States at the port from which he departed, if such visé be required by the rules made hereunder, and shall be examined by a United States immigrant inspector at the time of arrival and found to be admissible under the immigration laws. Such bond may be sued for and recovered in the name of the United States in the event of the failure of such alien seaman to depart with his vessel or within thirty days after notice that he has been ordered deported, and proof of such notice and failure to depart shall be sufficient evidence of the breach of the conditions of such bond to support a recovery thereon. Such bond shall be discharged, and the deposit, if any, on a part of the penalty thereof returned, upon the departure of such alien seaman on his vessel or within thirty days after notice that he has been ordered deported, or upon the payment of the hospital expenses and maintenance charges of such alien seaman, or upon the payment of the cost of his deportation, or upon the procurement of a passport viséed by the consular officer of the United States at the port to which such alien seaman is destined, and the payment of the cost of his deportation from such port, or upon the procurement of a passport viséed by the consular officer of the United States at any port other than a port of arrival and the payment of the cost of deportation from such port, or upon the establishment to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor of the identity of such alien seaman and the fact that he is not within the classes of aliens who are excluded from admission into the United States by the immigration laws, or upon the payment of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay the cost of maintenance while in the United States and the return expenses of such alien seaman, and such deposit shall be required in the case of each such alien seaman employed on board such vessel. Failure to make such deposit shall be unlawful, and the vessel shall be liable to the United States for a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman employed.

(b) Each alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any foreign port or place, or any vessel departing from any port of the United States, shall be examined by the immigrant inspectors at the time of arrival or departure, as the case may be, and if, upon such examination, it is found that any such alien seaman has remained in the United States in violation of law, or that he is then unlawfully in the United States, or that he belongs to any of the classes of aliens who are excluded from admission into the United States by the immigration laws, he shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor for deportation, and the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and which vessel shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 16 of this Act, shall be notified that such alien seaman will be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel upon the same route unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him permission in writing, to be delivered to and kept by the master, to depart on some other vessel. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver such seaman for deportation, or upon the failure of such seaman to report for deportation, or upon the departure of such vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman employed.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and which vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Each alien seaman excepted from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States shall be deported on board such vessel or some other vessel upon the same route unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him permission in writing, to be delivered to and kept by the master, to depart on some other vessel. Upon the refusal of the master to deliver such seaman for deportation, or upon the failure of such seaman to report for deportation, or upon the departure of such vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman employed.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the Immigration Inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 698) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such additional information relative to such aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe; and it shall be the duty of each owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, at arrival, as soon as ascertained, all cases in which such aliens have been left behind, and to report the cause therefor, and to report the name, last known address, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor concerning the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left the vessel prior thereto; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to the principal immigration officer a complete list containing the names of all alien employees who were employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left prior thereto, and the cause or reason for leaving, so far as known, and the intended future destination of each alien employee. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master failing to deliver correct lists of the kind first above mentioned at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last port at which it touched, or who shall refuse to answer questions concerning the same, or who shall report falsely or fraudulently in connection therewith, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense: Provided, That if any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall prove that he could not obtain from the members of the crew the information required by reason of the loss of the vessel's documents or for any cause not the master's fault or the fault of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, he shall not be subject to the penalty provided for herein: Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished.

and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fines prescribed by section 35 of said act previously been served, the deposit provided in rule 23 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN.

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port at any time after the expiration of the period of sixty days next after the date of enactment of this Act shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have given a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman employed on board such vessel, conditioned that such alien seaman shall depart from the United States from the port of arrival in pursuance of law, and that such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States from the port of arrival in pursuance of law, unless such alien seaman shall be duly discharged with the consent of the Secretary of Labor and the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and shall have procured a landing certificate or certificates to that effect, or unless such alien seaman shall have been taken from such vessel and lawfully detained by the authorities of the United States, or unless such alien seaman shall have been treated in a hospital with the consent of the Secretary of Labor and a certificate to that effect issued by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or unless such alien seaman shall have been certified by the Secretary of Labor or such consular officer as he may designate for the purpose as suffering from a contagious disease, and shall have been issued a passport by the country to which he belongs or of which he claims nationality, or some other country which will accept him, and within such period of time as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor shall have obtained a visa of such passport if such visa be required by the country issuing the same, and shall have furnished to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel a certificate from the consul of such country that such alien seaman has complied with the requirements of this section. Such bond shall be void and shall be returned to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel upon the presentation of such certificate or certificates and the payment of any fine imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or upon another vessel owned by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or that such alien seaman was found in the United States more than thirty days after the departure of such vessel, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to comply with the conditions of the bond.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be cleared pending such order, expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILLING ALIEN MANIFESTS

ITALIAN (NORTH).

The people who are native to the part of the Kingdom of Italy north of the River Po (i.e. Piedmont, Lombardy, Venetia, and Liguria, and the districts of Parma, Modena, Romagna, Tuscany, Umbria, Marche, Lazio, Abruzzi, Molise, Campania, Puglia, Basilicata, Calabria, Sicily, and Sardinia) and their descendants should be classed as "Italian (south)".

ITALIAN (SOUTH).

The people who are native to that portion of Italy south of the River Po (i.e. Piedmont, Lombardy, Venetia, and Liguria, and the districts of Parma, Modena, Romagna, Tuscany, Umbria, Marche, Lazio, Abruzzi, Molise, Campania, Puglia, Basilicata, Calabria, Sicily, and Sardinia) and their descendants should be classed as "Italian (south)".

Column 1 (Name).—Surname (family name) and given names to be entered.

Column 2 (Relationship).—Relationship to head of family, as husband, wife, son, daughter, mother, father, brother, sister, grandson, granddaughter, grandmother, grandfather, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, cousin, friend, servant, etc.

Column 3 (Age last birthday).—Age to be entered in years. If under 1 year, state number of months as "6 months", "9 months", etc.

Column 4 (Sex).—Write "male" or "female".

Column 5 (Married, single, widowed, or divorced).—Write "married" or "m" for married, "single" or "s" for single, "widowed" or "w" for widowed, "divorced" or "d" for divorced.

Column 6 (Occupation).—The entry should indicate as accurately as possible the occupation, trade, profession, or calling followed by the person mentioned, whether gainfully employed or not. Avoid vague terms such as "labourer", "engineer", "merchant", "manufacturer", "dealer", "clerk", etc., and do not use abbreviations. Where a person has no occupation, trade, profession, or calling, write "none". Persons of independent means should be described as "gentleman" or "lady", as the case may be.

Column 7 (Nationality).—Nationality to be entered is that of the country of which the person is a subject or citizen. Persons born in the British Dominions who have become naturalized citizens of the United States should be described as "United States (naturalized)".

Column 8 (Race or people).—The race or people to which each person belongs is to be entered here, as "English", "Welsh", "Scottish", "Irish", "German", "Italian", "Hebrew or Jewish", "Polish", "Russian", "Finnish", "Dutch", "Flemish", "Belgian", "French", "Spanish", "Portuguese", "Swedish", "Norwegian", "Danish", "Greek", "Turkish", "Armenian", "Syrian", "Negro", "Indian", "Chinese", "Japanese", or the race or people to which each belongs, as the case may be. Do not enter "American" in this column.

Column 9 (Last permanent residence).—Answer to be entered here will indicate the country in which the person has had a fixed home, as distinguished from a place of temporary residence. Thus, a person who has been living in Canada for a number of years, but who has always had a home in Ireland, to which he intends to return, should write "Ireland" in this column. Where no permanent residence exists, the entry should be "none".

Column 10 (Final destination).—Write the name of the city, town, or village in the United States or Canada to which the person is going. Do not enter merely the name of a State.

Column 11 (Whether going to join relative or friend, and, if so, name and address of such relative or friend).—The answer should indicate clearly whether the person is going to join relatives or friends, and, if so, the name and address of such relatives or friends should be given in full, including number of house and street, if any. Where the person is going to a city, the street address should be given if possible. Where the person is going to a State, the name of the county should be given.

Column 12 (Whether in possession of $50 in money, or not).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has the amount of money specified in his possession or not. Where he has less than $50, the exact amount should be stated. Where he has no money at all, write "none".

Column 13 (Whether ticket through to destination).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has a railroad ticket or other transportation to the place of his ultimate destination in the United States. Where he has not, the answer should be "no".

Column 14 (Whether in possession of valid passport).—The answer to be given to this question should show whether the person has a passport issued by the country of which he is a subject or citizen. Where he has not, the answer should be "no".

Column 15 (If not in possession of passport, state whether applied for and refused, or never applied for).—The answer should show whether the person has ever applied for a passport and been refused, or whether he has never applied for one. Where he has never applied for one, the answer should be "never".

Column 16 (Whether ever before in the United States, and, if so, when and where).—The answer should show whether the person has ever been in the United States before, and, if so, when and where. Where he has been in the United States before, the approximate date should be given, and the place of his last residence in the United States should be stated.

Column 17 (Name and address of nearest relative or friend in country whence alien came).—The answer to this question should show the name and address of the nearest relative or friend of the person mentioned in the country from which he came to the United States. It should not merely show the name of a husband, father, mother, or other relative, but should show the address as well. Where the person has no relative or friend in the country whence he came, write "none".

Column 18 (Ever in penitentiary, almshouse, asylum, or institution for support of poor).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has ever been in a penitentiary, almshouse, asylum, or institution for the support of the poor. Where he has been in any of these institutions, the answer should show which one, and the approximate date of his residence therein.

Column 19 (Ever in prison or reformatory).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has ever been in prison or reformatory. If he has been in prison or reformatory, the answer should show which one, and the approximate date of his residence therein.

Column 20 (Ever in poorhouse or supported by charity).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has ever been in a poorhouse or supported by charity. Where he has been in a poorhouse or supported by charity, the answer should show which one, and the approximate date of his residence therein.

Column 21 (Ever in insane asylum or institution for feeble-minded).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has ever been in an insane asylum or institution for the feeble-minded. Where he has been in such an asylum or institution, the answer should show which one, and the approximate date of his residence therein.

Column 22 (Ever in institution for epileptics).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has ever been in an institution for epileptics. Where he has been in such an institution, the answer should show which one, and the approximate date of his residence therein.

Column 23 (Whether a polygamist).—The answer to this question should show whether the person is a polygamist. Where he is a polygamist, the answer should show whether he has one wife or more than one wife living.

Column 24 (Whether an anarchist).—The answer to this question should show whether the person is an anarchist. Where he is an anarchist, the answer should show whether he is an anarchist by belief, by membership in an anarchistic society, or by both belief and membership.

Column 25 (Whether coming under contract labor law).—The answer to this question should show whether the person is coming under a contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States. Where he is coming under such a contract or agreement, the answer should show whether it is written or verbal, and should state fully the terms of the contract or agreement.

Column 26 (Whether in good health and good condition, mentally and physically).—The answer to this question should show whether the person is in good health and good condition, mentally and physically. Where he is not in good health and good condition, mentally and physically, the answer should show in what particular he is not in good health and good condition, mentally and physically.

Column 27 (Whether deformed or crippled, and, if so, how).—The answer to this question should show whether the person is deformed or crippled, and, if so, how. Where he is deformed or crippled, the answer should show the cause and character of the deformity or crippling.

Column 28 (Height).—The answer to this question should show the height of the person in feet and inches.

Column 29 (Complexion).—The answer to this question should show the complexion of the person, as "light", "medium", or "dark".

Column 30 (Color of hair).—The answer to this question should show the color of the hair of the person, as "light", "brown", "black", "auburn", "red", "gray", "bald", or "white".

Column 31 (Color of eyes).—The answer to this question should show the color of the eyes of the person, as "blue", "gray", "brown", "black", "hazel", "red", or "violet".

Column 32 (Marks of identification).—The answer to this question should show whether the person has any visible distinguishing marks of identification, such as moles, scars, etc., and, if so, what they are and where they are located.

Column 33 (Name of birthplace).—The answer to this question should show the name of the city, town, or village in which the person was born.

Column 34 (Name of country of birth).—The answer to this question should show the name of the country in which the person was born. Where he was born in the United States, the answer should show the State.

Column 35 (Name of race or people).—The answer to this question should show the race or people to which the person belongs, as "English", "Welsh", "Scottish", "Irish", "German", "Italian", "Hebrew or Jewish", "Polish", "Russian", "Finnish", "Dutch", "Flemish", "Belgian", "French", "Spanish", "Portuguese", "Swedish", "Norwegian", "Danish", "Greek", "Turkish", "Armenian", "Syrian", "Negro", "Indian", "Chinese", "Japanese", or the race or people to which each belongs, as the case may be. Do not enter "American" in this column.

Column 36 (Whether a citizen of the United States).—The answer to this question should show whether the person is a citizen of the United States. Where he is a citizen of the United States, the answer should show whether he is a citizen by birth or by naturalization, and the court and date of his naturalization should be given.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, [illegible], Master, of the [illegible] steamship [illegible], now lying in the port of [illegible], do solemnly, sincerely, and truly [illegible] that I have caused the surgeon of said vessel duly to examine each and every alien mentioned in the foregoing list, and that no person has been omitted from said list because of any fact, matter, or thing tending to exclude such alien from admission into the United States, or to subject him to detention for further inquiry thereunder, so far as I have been able to ascertain the same after diligent inquiry and investigation. I further state that no one of said aliens is of any of the classes excluded from admission into the United States by section three of the immigration act of February 20, 1907, and that each of said aliens is in possession of a ticket or passage through to his final destination, and has sufficient money to pay his railroad fare or other transportation to such destination.

[illegible] Master.

[illegible]
Immigration Officer.

Form 508

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list is to be filled in by the master or the officer in charge of the vessel at the port of departure. When no alien passengers are carried, a "Manifest" is to be delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the first port of arrival. See section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

(d) Section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 is repealed, but shall remain in force as to all vessels, their owners, agents, consignees, and masters, and as to all seamen, arriving in the United States prior to the enactment of this Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment or relief, or for such other purpose as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe, pending the departure of such seaman on the vessel or aircraft on which he arrived or some other vessel or aircraft.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except from a foreign contiguous territory, shall be responsible for the proper disposition of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel while in port, and for the payment of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such seaman while in the United States, and for his departure and the payment of any hospital expenses and burial expenses incurred on his account, unless the Secretary of Labor shall require the deportation of such seaman to a foreign contiguous territory. Such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or upon the furnishing of a bond approved by the Secretary of Labor in such amount as he may require not to exceed $300 for each alien seaman employed on board such vessel. Such deposit or bond shall be returned upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or upon the payment by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seaman while in the United States, or of any hospital expenses and burial expenses incurred on account of such alien seaman, not to exceed $300 for each alien seaman.

(b) Every alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, except from a foreign contiguous territory, shall be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or by a surgeon designated by the Secretary of Labor, before such seaman is granted shore leave, and no such seaman shall be granted shore leave if suffering from any disease, injury, or defect found by such medical officer to render such seaman unfit to land, except in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor in case of injury or illness occurring after such seaman's arrival in the United States. Any such seaman who is refused shore leave or who is not granted shore leave because of such medical examination shall be immediately returned to the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, unless such seaman is a citizen of the United States who elects to remain in the United States, or unless such seaman is a native of the United States who is entitled to land in the United States upon presentation of a certificate of identity issued by the Secretary of State or his authorized agent. Such seaman shall be returned on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. Such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or upon the furnishing of a bond approved by the Secretary of Labor in such amount as he may require not to exceed $300 for each alien seaman employed on board such vessel. Such deposit or bond shall be returned upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or upon the payment by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seaman while in the United States, or of any hospital expenses and burial expenses incurred on account of such alien seaman, not to exceed $300 for each alien seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that adequate medical attention for the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such vessel, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on such vessel or at a station designated by the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of the vessel to deliver to the immigration officers a complete list of all the persons on board such vessel, including the crew and passengers, and including the names of all persons who may have been landed from such vessel at any port during the voyage, and the reasons therefor, and shall furnish such other information regarding such persons as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer, taken before a consular officer of the United States, if there be one at the port of departure, and if not, then before the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or some person duly authorized to administer oaths for immigration purposes at the first port in the United States at which the vessel shall arrive, and shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such list shall contain such information and be in such form as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe, and the master or commanding officer and each member of the crew shall, upon the request of any immigration officer at the port of arrival, answer such questions as may be put to him by such officer touching his citizenship, nationality, and admissibility into the United States. Any master or commanding officer who shall refuse to obey any of the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $100 for each and every such refusal, and no clearance papers shall be granted to any vessel refusing to comply with the requirements of this section. Any master or commanding officer who shall knowingly or willfully report or cause or permit to be reported falsely or fraudulently any information required of him or of any person on board his vessel, or who shall knowingly or willfully report or cause or permit to be reported falsely or fraudulently the number of persons on board his vessel, or who shall knowingly or willfully land or permit to be landed from his vessel any person at any port or place without reporting the same and delivering such person to the proper immigration officer at the time of arrival, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each person so landed or reported, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The master or commanding officer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not entitled to admission to the United States shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, return such alien to the country whence he came or to the country in which he resided that brought him to the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by the alien who is willing to receive him, such return to be made at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Pending such return the alien shall be detained in such manner as the Secretary of Labor shall direct. The cost of such detention and of the return of such alien, including the wages of the officers in charge, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any master or commanding officer who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any lawful rule or regulation prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for the enforcement of this section shall pay a penalty of $200 for each such refusal or failure, and no clearance papers shall be granted to any vessel while any penalty incurred by its master or commanding officer remains unpaid. Clearance papers may be granted prior to the payment of any penalty incurred hereunder upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 6.

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 hereof has been furnished, and no alien master, before the immigration officials that the requirements of section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 have been complied with.

Rule 35 has been made.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The line described below shall be preserved on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors at the several ports. The line of dashes to be filled in with the name of the vessel.

The list of races or peoples to be observed in the entry of aliens at the various ports of the United States is printed on pages [illegible] of the manifest. Write the number of the page on which the race or people to which the alien belongs is listed in the blank column at the left of the name.

Write as many names on a page as the space will permit, and number the pages consecutively, beginning with 1.

Fill in all the columns, commencing with the left-hand column, and write the name of each alien as given by him.

Under the head of "Calling or occupation" write the occupation of each alien, such as "laborer," "servant," "farmer," "merchant," "tailor," "clerk," "shoemaker," "no occupation," etc.

Under the head of "Nationality" write the name of the country of which each alien is a citizen or subject.

Under the head of "Last residence" write the name of the country in which each alien had his last residence.

Under the head of "Final destination" write the name of the city, town, or village in the United States for which each alien is destined.

Under the head of "Whether going to join a relative, and if so, what relative" write the word "father," "husband," "mother," "wife," "child," "brother," "sister," "grandfather," "grandmother," "uncle," "aunt," "cousin," "nephew," "niece," "friend," or "none," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Whether in possession of a ticket through to final destination" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Whether in possession of $50 and upward" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be, and if "yes" add the date and place.

Under the head of "Whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be, and if "yes" add the cause.

Under the head of "Whether a polygamist" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Whether under contract (express or implied) to perform labor in the United States" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Whether in the United States or coming under the head of any of the classes excluded by law" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Condition—physical and mental, deformities, etc." write the word "sound" or "defective," as the case may be, and if "defective" add the nature of the defect.

Under the head of "Height" write the height of each alien in feet and inches.

Under the head of "Complexion" write the word "light" or "dark," as the case may be.

Under the head of "Color of hair and eyes" write the color of hair and eyes of each alien.

Under the head of "Marks of identification" write any visible distinctive mark of each alien.

Under the head of "Number on list" write the number of the alien on the list, beginning with 1 for the first alien on each vessel and continuing the numbers consecutively.

Under the head of "Name of vessel" write the name of the vessel in which each alien arrives.

Under the head of "Port where vessel took on board" write the name of the port at which each alien took passage for the United States.

Under the head of "Port where vessel will land" write the name of the port at which each alien will land in the United States.

Under the head of "Whether having been in prison, etc." write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be, and if "yes" add the cause.

Under the head of "Whether a polygamist" write the word "yes" or "no," as the case may be.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or other incomplete or error (from one) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the inspector to the immigrant immigration officer at the port.

When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the nationality, last residence, and intended final destination of each alien, whether in transit through the United States or destined to some foreign country, and such other information as the Secretary of Labor shall require to be set forth in such lists. Such lists shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and the Secretary of Labor may require such additional information to be furnished thereafter as he may deem necessary. Any master, owner, consignee, or master of any vessel who refuses to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the lists required by this section, or who refuses to furnish such additional information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom such information is required but not furnished. All aliens employed on such vessel shall be examined by the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, direct that aliens employed on such vessel shall not be examined until they have proceeded to such other port as may be most convenient for the masters, owners, consignees, or agents of the vessel. Any alien employed on such vessel who is not duly listed by the master, owner, consignee, or agent of the vessel, or any alien employed on such vessel who is not examined by the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, unless the Secretary of Labor, in his discretion, shall otherwise direct. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent of any vessel who refuses to deport any alien employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so refused deportation, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent of any vessel who refuses or neglects to report, list, or deliver to the immigration officer any alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of examining any alien employed thereon, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent of any vessel who refuses to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien employed on such vessel shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such alien. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent of any vessel who shall land, or permit to be landed, any alien employed on such vessel at any port in the United States from any place outside thereof, otherwise than as may be permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, pursuant to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any alien employed on such vessel who lands in the United States from any place outside thereof, otherwise than as permitted by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and any alien employed on such vessel who, after having been refused a landing by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, lands in the United States from any place outside thereof, otherwise than as permitted by the Secretary of Labor, may be arrested and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any master, owner, consignee, or agent of any vessel who knowingly or willfully conceals, harbors, or protects from discovery any alien who has been ordered deported under the provisions of this Act shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside thereof, or bringing to such territory or possession as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate departure of aliens from the United States, a sum sufficient to cover such alien's maintenance and incidental expenses while in transit through the United States, in such amount as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $10 for each alien, and shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for inspection, any alien for whom such sum is required until the same is deposited with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for

The list of vessels below will be furnished on blank forms upon approval by the Department and mailed to any customs port to which the vessel may proceed, if application therefor is made to the collector of customs at the port of entry. The list of vessels at each subport will be furnished by the collector of customs at the home port.

Where an affidavit contained in a "multiple" is rejected, the collector should be notified by the master.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or upon the sale of the cargo, vessel, or both, while in such port, or upon the departure of the master, officers, crew, passengers, or any of them, from such port, the master of such vessel shall report and deliver to the collector of customs at the port of entry, or if there be no collector at such port, then to the person in charge of the customs office at such port, a manifest, and a declaration under oath, in such form as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, setting forth the particulars required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such additional information relative to the persons on board as the Secretary of Labor may require. Such manifest and declaration shall be produced by the master upon demand of any such immigration officer at the port. Any master who refuses to comply with the provisions of this section, or who knowingly or willfully makes a false statement in any such manifest or declaration, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been collected, and the master has executed the affidavits and declarations required by section 38 of the said Act.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, or arriving at a port of the United States on the Atlantic or Pacific Ocean, or any waters tributary thereto, from any foreign port or place, except ports of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the Canal Zone, the United States Virgin Islands, and the islands of Bermuda, shall, if required by the master, be detained on board while such vessel remains in port, and such master shall report the name of such alien seaman to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and, upon the certificate of such immigration officer that such alien seaman is entitled to a landing certificate, or has been granted a landing certificate or permit, shall cause such alien seaman to be detained on board while such vessel remains in port, unless sooner removed therefrom for examination or other purpose by order of such immigration officer, and such master shall report the departure and cause the removal of such alien seaman at the port where such vessel shall depart from the United States. Upon failure of the master to comply with the provisions of this subdivision he shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Any vessel which is required by this subdivision to have on board any alien seaman who shall not be produced when required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival or departure, or at any time while in port, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000, to be collected by the collector of customs, and no clearance shall be granted any such vessel while any penalty remains unpaid.

(b) Upon the arrival of any vessel within the limits of the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, or arriving at a port of the United States on the Atlantic or Pacific Ocean, or any waters tributary thereto, from any foreign port or place, except ports of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the Canal Zone, the United States Virgin Islands, and the islands of Bermuda, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel shall be examined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for admission to the United States, but such examination may be waived in the discretion of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, in the case of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel touching at such port regularly in the performance of a definite schedule of sailings over a route or routes approved by the Secretary of Labor, and such alien seaman may be granted a landing certificate or permit valid for such period of time as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, not exceeding the period of such vessel's authorized stay in port, or for a period of four months, whichever is the shorter period, unless such alien seaman is found upon examination to be subject to deportation under the immigration laws, in which case he shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge pending the determination of his admissibility to be landed temporarily or permanently. Upon the granting of a landing certificate or permit to any such alien seaman, the master of the vessel on which he arrived shall be notified in writing by the immigration officer in charge at the port. Any such alien seaman who fails to remain on board his vessel or at such place as designated by the immigration officer in charge until the vessel departs from the United States, or until a landing certificate or permit is granted, and any master who fails to report the departure or the failure of any such alien seaman to depart with the vessel on which he arrived, or on any vessel on which he may thereafter be transferred, shall be subject to the penalties prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will result in undue hardship, such alien seaman may be granted a landing certificate or permit under such conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, notwithstanding the provisions of this section.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed without the permit or certificate required by this section shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by section 3 of the Act of May 10, 1920, but deportation shall not be limited to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands from which he arrived.

(e) Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(f) The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and may modify the provisions of this section to the extent necessary to prevent undue interference with the operation of vessels engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands.

(g) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by section 3 of the Act of May 10, 1920, but deportation shall not be limited to the foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands from which he arrived.

(h) Any alien seaman who shall fail or refuse to land in the United States from any vessel on which he arrives when required so to do by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(i) The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may issue such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(j) The term "contiguous territory" as used in this section shall not be construed to include any territory, island, or adjacent island belonging to any foreign country unless a railroad ferry shall be operated between such territory, island, or adjacent island and the United States.

(k) Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(l) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(m) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(n) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(o) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(p) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(q) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(r) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(s) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(t) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(u) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(v) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(w) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(x) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(y) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

(z) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel which shall have been duly registered as a vessel of the United States prior to the date of the approval of this Act, and which shall not thereafter be transferred to a foreign registry or flag.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival [date contemplated by master of vessel] (Form 528) shall not be destroyed or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the port.

When an affidavit required is a "MONTHLY" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, whether the destination therein be the port of arrival or not, and whether they were taken on board or entered the vessel by way of a contiguous country, and shall furnish such additional information relative thereto as the Secretary of Labor may require. All such lists shall be in such form and contain such particulars as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such examination and verification as he may prescribe. Before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant such papers, the master thereof shall deliver to the said collector a list, verified under oath before the said collector or before a consular officer of the United States, certifying that in addition to the persons, if any, mentioned in the lists of aliens required to be delivered by the master of the vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, no alien has been taken on board the vessel at any port or place in a foreign country or has entered the vessel from any contiguous country, and that the list of aliens required to be delivered by the master of the vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival includes the names of all aliens who have been taken on board the vessel at any port or place in a foreign country or have entered the vessel from any contiguous country, except such aliens as are specifically stated in such list to have been taken on board the vessel at some other port or place or to have entered the vessel from some other contiguous country, with the reasons for the failure to include the names of such aliens in the list required to be delivered by the master of the vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Any master of a vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the lists required by this section, or who refuses or neglects to answer questions relative to such vessel and the passengers carried thereon, or who makes a false answer to any question relative thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

SEC. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the immigrant inspector lists of all aliens on board such vessel, which lists shall be prepared and verified as required by section 38 of the act of February 5, 1917, and such additional information relative thereto as the Secretary of Labor may require.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, including the islands, Panama Canal Zone, and insular possessions of the United States, except temporarily for the ordinary purposes of the vessel, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States at the port of arrival shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at such port lists containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of every alien who intends to depart from the United States and who has been issued a certificate of identification by the Secretary of Labor, and such other information relative to such aliens as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Such lists shall be delivered before any such alien is granted clearance papers or permitted to depart otherwise from the United States. Any master who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who refuses to answer questions relative to such aliens, or who makes a false answer to any such question, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien as to whom such violation occurs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof was brought thereto, or that he was prevented by the immigration officer at the port of arrival from departing on such vessel, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such seaman.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel should depart without the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1922, as amended by section 14 of the Act of May 26, 1924, the Secretary of Labor may withhold clearance of such vessel until such tax has been paid or sufficient security therefor given.

(d) Any master who refuses or neglects to perform any duty required of him by this section, or who knowingly or willfully furnishes false information in relation thereto, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 for each offense.

(e) The provisions of this section shall not apply to masters of vessels plying exclusively between ports of Canada and ports of the United States on the Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

(f) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section to masters of vessels of countries which extend similar privileges to masters of vessels of the United States.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Captain Alexander Johnson, of the Polish S.S. Co., do depart. Then the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from and port or place, making per pages 1 and 2, and copy of section 38 of the act of February 5, 1917, extract from application B, rule 7, and copy of sections 13 and 30, act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Sworn to before me this 15th day of May, 1928.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival at the hour designated by the master to the agent of the vessel. The list of changes or additions (Form 838) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the hour of arrival. When an attorney assumes to act "MOTAWEY," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, commander, or consignee of any vessel to which the provisions laws regulating the inspection of vessels and the collection of duties on imports may be applied, or his authorized agent, to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival true and correct lists of all aliens on board such vessel, setting forth the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien, together with such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and such other information relative to the right of any alien to enter the United States as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival full and correct answers to all questions touching the right of any alien to enter the United States which may be propounded by said officer. Such lists shall be signed by the master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, who shall certify under oath at the foot of the last page of the list to the correctness of the entries contained therein. Any master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to the proper officer, or who conceals or attempts to conceal, any alien on board his vessel, or who refuses to answer truthfully the questions propounded to him by such officer concerning any alien on board his vessel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to enter such vessel for the purpose of performing any duty or exercising any power conferred upon him by this Act, or who shall refuse to detain on board his vessel any alien when directed so to do by such inspector, or who shall refuse to allow any such alien to be taken on board the proper tender for examination by the medical officers of the Service, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance of such alien while detained on board such vessel, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any master, commander, agent, consignee, or owner thereof is liable to the payment of any fine imposed upon him under the provisions of this section.

(a) That all aliens arriving at ports of the United States shall be examined by one or more immigrant inspectors at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, whose duty it shall be to determine whether such aliens belong to any of the classes excluded by law from admission to the United States, and for this purpose the said inspectors shall have authority to administer oaths and to take and consider evidence touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, which evidence shall be recorded and filed with the case. Said inspectors shall have access for the purpose of examination to the records of any steamship or transportation company relating to any alien carried or brought to ports of the United States, and shall also have power to require the production for their inspection of the trunks, valises, and other baggage of any alien. Said inspectors shall have power to administer oaths and to examine any person touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, which examination shall be under the sole control of the inspector conducting the same, and no person other than the alien whose right to enter is being inquired into shall be permitted to be present during the examination of witnesses unless in the discretion of the inspector conducting the examination the presence of such person is necessary or desirable. Said inspectors shall have power to arrest any alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, or of any rule, regulation, or order made in pursuance thereof, and to take him on board vessel or to such other place for hearing before the Secretary of Labor or such boards of special inquiry as he may designate, whose duty it shall be to decide whether or not such alien has the right to enter the United States under this Act. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, appoint a commission, to consist of three members, to be known as boards of special inquiry, which shall have authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses, and take testimony concerning the right of any alien to enter the United States, and said commission shall exercise all the powers conferred upon said inspectors in the foregoing respecting the examination of aliens. Said boards of special inquiry shall keep a record of their proceedings and of all testimony and evidence produced before them, and shall render their decision in writing. Such boards shall consist of not more than three members each, and a majority vote shall decide any question. The Secretary of Labor may from time to time confer upon such boards of special inquiry the power to issue warrants for the arrest of aliens who may be found in the United States in violation of this Act, or of any rule, regulation, or order made in pursuance thereof, and may designate any of the inspectors in charge of the several districts into which the United States is divided by the Secretary of Labor to issue warrants for the arrest of aliens who may be found in the United States in violation of this Act, or of any rule, regulation, or order made in pursuance thereof, and may confer upon such inspectors so designated the power to appoint, examine, and administer oaths to such boards of special inquiry, and

The list of races or peoples given below is for the information of masters in making entries in the certificate of discharge required by section 2 of the Act of December 21, 1898, and is not to be construed as restricting the right of any seaman to refuse duty on board any vessel on account of the employment of any person of a race not mentioned in the list. The certificate of discharge must contain a description of the personal appearance of the seaman, and the words "complexion," "race," or "color" are not sufficient for this purpose.

SEC. 38. That every person entering the United States from any foreign port or from a port in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, by water, shall be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or by a civil surgeon of the United States, or by a commissioned medical officer of the military or naval service of the United States, detailed for the purpose by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy, respectively, at the request of the Secretary of Labor, in order to obtain information required by the proper boards of special inquiry as to whether such person belongs to any of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by section 3 of this Act. Such examination shall be made in the country whence such person shall depart to the United States, if practicable, and shall be completed before the sailing of the vessel on which such person shall take passage to the United States: Provided, That such examination may be made on board such vessel during the voyage, if deemed practicable by the Secretary of Labor: Provided further, That in the case of any vessel sailing from a foreign port touching at a port in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, the examination of aliens destined to the United States may be completed at the first port of arrival in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman otherwise [illegible] shall be admitted into the United States under the immigration laws unless such alien seaman [illegible] at the time of application for admission [illegible] to the Secretary of Labor, by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien seaman arrived at the port of entry, a bond in the penal sum of $500 for each such alien seaman, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived, or some other vessel, within such time as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and that such alien seaman will not become a public charge. Such bond shall be executed by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, and by a surety company holding a certificate from the Secretary of the Treasury under the Act of August 13, 1894, as amended, or by two sureties approved by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel shall be admitted, each of whom shall file with the collector a justification in writing, duly acknowledged before some officer authorized to administer oaths, showing that he is worth the amount specified in such bond over and above all his debts and liabilities and property exempt by law from execution. Such bond shall be void and of no effect after the expiration of four months from the date of the arrival of such alien seaman, unless within such four months such alien seaman shall have been required by the Secretary of Labor to depart from the United States and shall fail to depart within the time allowed, in which case such bond shall remain in full force and effect until such alien seaman shall depart from the United States or until he shall be granted permission to land or shall be deported from the United States, as provided in this Act. Such bond may be sued upon and recovered in the name of the United States for the use of any person who shall be injured by reason of the breach of any of the conditions thereof, including the cost of maintaining any such alien seaman while detained under the provisions of this section, in the manner provided by section 32 of this Act for the recovery of the head tax. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any bond upon the substitution therefor of a new bond with sureties satisfactory to him, or upon the deposit with the Secretary of the Treasury of the amount of such bond in cash.

(b) Any alien seaman otherwise admissible who has been granted shore leave may be permitted to enter the United States without the execution of a bond as required by subdivision (a) of this section, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave and has remained in the United States in excess of the time allowed by his shore leave, or has violated any of the conditions upon which he was granted shore leave, and that such alien seaman cannot be found, the Secretary of Labor may cancel the bond given for the landing of such alien seaman and declare the same forfeited, and the same shall be recovered in the manner provided in subdivision (a) of this section.

(d) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(e) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen.

(f) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave and has remained in the United States in excess of the time allowed by his shore leave, or has violated any of the conditions upon which he was granted shore leave, and that such alien seaman cannot be found, the Secretary of Labor may cancel the bond given for the landing of such alien seaman and declare the same forfeited, and the same shall be recovered in the manner provided by subdivision (a) of this section.

(h) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(i) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen.

(j) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

(k) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave and has remained in the United States in excess of the time allowed by his shore leave, or has violated any of the conditions upon which he was granted shore leave, and that such alien seaman cannot be found, the Secretary of Labor may cancel the bond given for the landing of such alien seaman and declare the same forfeited, and the same shall be recovered in the manner provided by subdivision (a) of this section.

(l) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(m) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen.

(n) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

(o) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave and has remained in the United States in excess of the time allowed by his shore leave, or has violated any of the conditions upon which he was granted shore leave, and that such alien seaman cannot be found, the Secretary of Labor may cancel the bond given for the landing of such alien seaman and declare the same forfeited, and the same shall be recovered in the manner provided by subdivision (a) of this section.

(p) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(q) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen.

(r) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

(s) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave and has remained in the United States in excess of the time allowed by his shore leave, or has violated any of the conditions upon which he was granted shore leave, and that such alien seaman cannot be found, the Secretary of Labor may cancel the bond given for the landing of such alien seaman and declare the same forfeited, and the same shall be recovered in the manner provided by subdivision (a) of this section.

(t) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(u) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen.

(v) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

(w) If the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave and has remained in the United States in excess of the time allowed by his shore leave, or has violated any of the conditions upon which he was granted shore leave, and that such alien seaman cannot be found, the Secretary of Labor may cancel the bond given for the landing of such alien seaman and declare the same forfeited, and the same shall be recovered in the manner provided by subdivision (a) of this section.

(x) Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(y) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the admission of alien seamen.

(z) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to permit any vessel to touch at any port or place in Alaska, Hawaii, or Porto Rico, or the Canal Zone, or the Virgin Islands, or the islands constituting the municipality of Guam, or Tutuila, or any other island possession of the United States, before reaching a port in the United States, if he shall be of opinion that such vessel is not a suitable vessel to transport passengers to the United States by reason of the crowded condition of such vessel, or the danger of the spread of contagious or infectious disease, or for other sufficient reason.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The Bureau of Immigration desires that the following information be given to all masters of vessels bringing passengers to the United States:

Section 2 of the act of March 3, 1903, provides that the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All persons who cannot read and write the English language or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish, except that any admissible alien may bring in his father, grandfather, wife, mother, or grandmother, if over the age of fifty years, and any admissible alien may bring in his wife or minor children, and any such relative so brought in may be admitted or excluded in accordance with the provisions of this act; all persons who have been convicted of or who admit the commission of a felony or other infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, except that the fact that an offense is purely political shall not exempt the person committing it from exclusion or deportation; all persons who have been imprisoned or who have been adjudged insane or who have had two or more attacks of insanity; all persons who are paupers or likely to become paupers or who have been supported by charity; all persons who are mentally or physically defective, such defect being of a character which may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living; all persons who are afflicted with a loathsome or with a dangerous contagious disease; all persons who have been within one year next preceding their application for admission to the United States deported as paupers or who have been deported at the expense of the appropriation making such expenditure; all persons who have been within one year next preceding their application for admission to the United States expelled from the United States as laborers in violation of law; all persons who have been within one year next preceding their application for admission to the United States excluded from the United States as laborers in violation of law and who thereafter shall have entered the United States

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list of races or peoples to be employed on board vessels of foreign registry to the immigration officer at the port of arrival is for statistical purposes only. The last column (No. 29) shall not be answered by the master, but shall be answered by the immigration officer at the port.

Write in ditto marks (") in answer to any question to which the answer is the same as the answer to the question next above.

Write an affirmative answer in full in answer to a question to which a negative answer would be expected.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That a non-alien seaman who shall come to the United States on a vessel in the service of which he was employed at the time of the departure of the vessel from a foreign port or place, and who is destined to a port or place in the insular possessions of the United States, may be admitted into the United States without being subject to the head tax imposed by this section or to the provisions of section 2 of this Act relating to the physical and mental examination of aliens, and may be granted upon the certificate of the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival a landing permit valid for a period of not exceeding four months, subject to such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel in which any such seaman arrives shall furnish a bond in such amount as the Secretary of Labor may require, not exceeding $500 for each seaman, conditioned that such seaman will depart from the United States in such vessel or in some other vessel within the period for which he is granted a landing permit, and that he will not become a public charge before departure: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section requiring a bond in the case of any seaman who is a native, citizen, or subject of a country adjacent to the United States, or who has been in the United States for at least one year next preceding his application for a landing permit, and who is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section requiring a bond in the case of any seaman who is in transit through the United States to a foreign country for the purpose of shipping on a vessel departing from a port of the United States: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing to the United States any seaman who is required by this section to be granted a landing permit shall report the departure of such seaman from the United States to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival within forty-eight hours after such departure, Sundays and holidays excepted, and in default thereof shall pay to the United States a penalty of $500 for each and every such seaman, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety therefor: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any penalty collected from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel by reason of the failure of any seaman employed thereon to depart therein from the United States, if it shall be satisfactorily shown that such seaman was prevented from departing from the United States by illness or other cause beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any penalty collected from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel by reason of the failure of any seaman employed thereon to depart therein from the United States, if it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the vessel on which such seaman departed, or on which he was to have departed, was lost or destroyed subsequent to the departure of such seaman and prior to the departure therefrom of the vessel on which he was to depart or was to have departed: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any penalty collected from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel by reason of the failure of any seaman employed thereon to depart therein from the United States, if it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the vessel on which such seaman departed, or on which he was to have departed, was lost or destroyed subsequent to the departure of such seaman and prior to the departure therefrom of the vessel on which he was to depart or was to have departed: And

The list of names below shall be inserted on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel. The list of churches of each denomination should contain only those (Protestant) that are represented in Seoul. Buddhism is not to be mentioned on these forms.

Note on writing address in 4 a "Yokohama", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That when written or oral inquiry is made by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master forthwith to report to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival the name of the vessel, the name and nature of the flag of the vessel, the name of the master, the number of the crew, the number of passengers, the ports at which they severally embarked, the ports at which they intend to land, and the ports at which they have severally been landed from the vessel, except that the boarding officer may, in writing as soon as practicable, be excused from reporting the name of any member of the crew who has not completed the work for which he was employed at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of arrival, and the name of any passenger who has not completed the journey on which he was engaged at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of arrival, and the name of any passenger who has been landed from the vessel, except a description of such alien, sufficient with the information likely to lead to his apprehension, shall be given to the Secretary of Labor, and in the case of aliens employed on vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign ports, information in addition to that required by this section shall be furnished in such form and detail as the Secretary of Labor may by regulations prescribe, concerning the persons on board such vessels as may be considered likely to affect the welfare of such persons after their arrival in the United States, and the medical officer of the port may be present at the examination of any or all aliens. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who refuses or neglects to report, or who reports incorrectly, any matter concerning which information is required by this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each such alien in respect to which such refusal, neglect, or incorrect report is made.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Rule 7. (b) Aliens in transit through the United States shall be inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and may be admitted or excluded temporarily or finally as the case may be determined by the facts disclosed by such inspection. Such aliens may be required to furnish a bond, in such form and amount as may be prescribed by direction of the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the departure of such aliens within the period of time specified by the immigrant inspector at the time of their admission, or upon the submission by them to further examination before the United States Commissioner of Immigration at the port of departure within such period of time after notification as may be prescribed by direction of the Secretary of Labor. Such aliens may be detained in the discretion of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival for examination by the Public Health Service and for such further action by the immigrant inspector as may be necessary for the proper enforcement of the immigration laws. Such aliens may be detained on board the vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival. Such aliens may be required to pay the cost of their detention and subsistence while so detained.

Sec. 23. Any alien coming to the United States who is excluded from admission by any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, or who shall be found unlawfully in the United States or who shall hereafter come in violation of any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, shall be deported in the manner provided by this act to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to the country in which he last had a residence, at the option of the Secretary of Labor, unless the Secretary of Labor shall be of opinion that the cost of such deportation is unreasonably great when compared with the circumstances of the case, or that deportation to such country will result in serious injury to persons having a right to remain therein, or that deportation to such country will expose such alien to physical persecution, in which case the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien to be deported to any country which he may select where the admission of such alien is not prevented by the laws thereof, and which will receive him. The cost of transportation and maintenance of any alien ordered deported under the provisions of this act, from the time such alien leaves the immigrant station, shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States. Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this act shall be incapacitated thereafter from coming to the United States, unless prior to his application for admission he shall obtain the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this act shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who enter in violation of any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made.

SEC. 24. (a) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this act or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within two years after entry, unless the violation of law was not known or could not have been discovered by the exercise of reasonable diligence or, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, the ends of justice do not require such deportation.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien arrested on the charge of entering in violation of law will result in serious injury to the party entitled to his custody as a near relative, or to the community or any individual dependent on such alien, he may cause such alien to be released on such bond, not exceeding $500, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, sufficient to indemnify the United States against any charge for the maintenance of such alien thereafter and his ultimate deportation if he shall be required.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien arrested on the charge of entering in violation of law will result in serious injury to the party entitled to his custody as a near relative, or to the community or any individual dependent on such alien, he may cause such alien to be released on such bond, not exceeding $500, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, sufficient to indemnify the United States against any charge for the maintenance of such alien thereafter and his ultimate deportation if he shall be required.

(d) Every alien arrested under the provisions of this act shall be given a hearing before a board of special inquiry, which shall have the power to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to enter or shall be deported. Such hearing shall be fixed with reasonable speed and shall be separate and apart from the public, and only such persons as may have business before the board shall be admitted to the room where it is held. Such persons may include a stenographer employed by the board. The decision of the board shall be based upon the evidence adduced at the hearing, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Such appeal must be taken within such time as may be specified by the rules and regulations of the Department of Labor. Pending the decision on appeal the alien shall be detained in custody unless released on bail in such amount as may be fixed by the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor. Such bail may be forfeited in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the failure of the alien to appear for examination or for deportation at any time or place required by the Secretary of Labor or any authorized official. Such bail may be cancelled in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor at any time before a deportation order is executed. Pending the decision of the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigrant station, and shall not be released therefrom except on bail as provided herein or as provided in section 3 of this act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman (except those employed on board vessels regularly plying between ports in the United States and ports in the Panama Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Philippine Islands) shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or for a period not to exceed 29 days, and under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, from any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, unless such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and unless he is in possession of a valid visa granted by a consular officer of the United States, which visa shall be granted only upon the application of such alien seaman in person and only after such consular officer has ascertained that such alien seaman is entitled to enter the United States solely for the purpose of performing his duties as a seaman and intends to depart therefrom on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within such period of time as may be fixed by the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such visa shall be valid for such period of time as may be fixed by the Secretary of State, but not exceeding five years from the date thereof, and may be revoked by the Secretary of State or any diplomatic or consular officer at any time. Such visa shall be void after the first entry of the alien seaman into the United States subsequent to the issuance thereof. Such visa shall be granted only upon the payment by such alien seaman of a fee of $10, which shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as a part of the appropriation "Miscellaneous Receipts". Such fee shall be refunded if such alien seaman is refused admission into the United States.

(b) Any alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be detained on board or at the immigrant station at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel, and shall be deported on board such vessel, unless specially permitted to land in the United States by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported on board such vessel or on board some other vessel leaving the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any such vessel, except in pursuance of such special permission, shall be deported as provided in section 23 of this act. Any such alien seaman who shall be found in the United States in violation of this act shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who enter in violation of any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made.

(c) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who refuses to comply with the immigration laws in respect to any alien seaman employed on board such vessel shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect to which such refusal occurs.

(d) Every alien seaman shall be given a hearing by special inquiry before he is permitted to land in the United States, except that the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may in his discretion permit any such alien seaman to land temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency, or for a period not to exceed 29 days, pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, from any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, when such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport and a valid visa granted by a consular officer of the United States, and is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws. Such hearing shall be separate and apart from the public, and only such persons as may have business before the board shall be admitted to the room where it is held. Such persons may include a stenographer employed by the board. The decision of the board shall be based upon the evidence adduced at the hearing, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Such appeal must be taken within such time as may be specified by the rules and regulations of the Department of Labor. Pending the decision on appeal the alien shall be detained in custody unless released on bail in such amount as may be fixed by the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor. Such bail may be forfeited in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the failure of the alien to appear for examination or for deportation at any time or place required by the Secretary of Labor or any authorized official. Such bail may be cancelled in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor at any time before a deportation order is executed. Pending the decision of the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigrant station, and shall not be released therefrom except on bail as provided herein or as provided in section 3 of this act.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien arrested on the charge of entering in violation of law will result in serious injury to the party entitled to his custody as a near relative, or to the community or any individual dependent on such alien, he may cause such alien to be released on such bond, not exceeding $500, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, sufficient to indemnify the United States against any charge for the maintenance of such alien thereafter and his ultimate deportation if he shall be required.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien arrested on the charge of entering in violation of law will result in serious injury to the party entitled to his custody as a near relative, or to the community or any individual dependent on such alien, he may cause such alien to be released on such bond, not exceeding $500, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, sufficient to indemnify the United States against any charge for the maintenance of such alien thereafter and his ultimate deportation if he shall be required.

(g) Every alien arrested under the provisions of this act shall be given a hearing before a board of special inquiry, which shall have the power to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to enter or shall be deported. Such hearing shall be fixed with reasonable speed and shall be separate and apart from the public, and only such persons as may have business before the board shall be admitted to the room where it is held. Such persons may include a stenographer employed by the board. The decision of the board shall be based upon the evidence adduced at the hearing, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Such appeal must be taken within such time as may be specified by the rules and regulations of the Department of Labor. Pending the decision on appeal the alien shall be detained in custody unless released on bail in such amount as may be fixed by the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor. Such bail may be forfeited in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the failure of the alien to appear for examination or for deportation at any time or place required by the Secretary of Labor or any authorized official. Such bail may be cancelled in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor at any time before a deportation order is executed. Pending the decision of the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigrant station, and shall not be released therefrom except on bail as provided herein or as provided in section 3 of this act.

(h) Every alien arrested under the provisions of this act shall be given a hearing before a board of special inquiry, which shall have the power to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to enter or shall be deported. Such hearing shall be fixed with reasonable speed and shall be separate and apart from the public, and only such persons as may have business before the board shall be admitted to the room where it is held. Such persons may include a stenographer employed by the board. The decision of the board shall be based upon the evidence adduced at the hearing, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Such appeal must be taken within such time as may be specified by the rules and regulations of the Department of Labor. Pending the decision on appeal the alien shall be detained in custody unless released on bail in such amount as may be fixed by the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor. Such bail may be forfeited in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the failure of the alien to appear for examination or for deportation at any time or place required by the Secretary of Labor or any authorized official. Such bail may be cancelled in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor at any time before a deportation order is executed. Pending the decision of the board of special inquiry or the Secretary of Labor, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigrant station, and shall not be released therefrom except on bail as provided herein or as provided in section 3 of this act.

(i) Every alien arrested under the provisions of this act shall be given a hearing before a board of special inquiry, which shall have the power to determine whether such alien shall be allowed to enter or shall be deported. SEC. 36. That upon arrival by sea or by way of a foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place to present lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the manner in which they were employed, whether they were permanently or temporarily employed, and specifying the capacity in which they were employed, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each alien, together with such information touching the right of such aliens to enter the United States as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to deliver to each immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel, a description of each alien, together with such information touching the right to land of the aliens as the immigrant inspector may require, and before the departure of such vessel from the port to deliver to each immigrant inspector at such time a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, showing as to each such alien, so far as known, the matters required to be shown in the lists delivered at the time of the arrival of such vessel: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver to each immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel lists containing the names of any alien employees who were not employed therein at the time of the arrival but who left the vessel prior thereto, and lists containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed therein at the time of the departure of the vessel but who joined the vessel prior thereto, but such lists shall be delivered to the proper immigrant inspector at the time of the departure of the vessel from the port: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver lists to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival and departure when the vessel touches at such port solely for the purpose of taking fuel or supplies, or both, and has no intention of discharging or taking on cargo or passengers, and has been in such port for not more than forty-eight consecutive hours, and has complied with the provisions of this section at the last port at which it touched before coming to the port of arrival: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver lists to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure when the vessel has been in such port for not more than twenty-four consecutive hours and has complied with the provisions of this section at the last port at which it touched before coming to the port of departure: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver lists in respect of any alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is in possession of a certificate issued to him by the Secretary of Labor, which certificate shall be delivered by such alien to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure in respect of any alien who has been granted such certificate and who is in possession thereof at the time of departure.

(b) That there shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel for each alien employed on board thereof who is not lawfully admitted to the United States or who does not depart therefrom with the vessel upon which he arrived, or upon some other vessel in which he shall subsequently sail or be transported from a foreign port or place to the United States, a tax of $10, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by the collector of customs of the district to which the vessel shall first arrive or depart, or by any collector of customs to whose attention the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel shall report the presence of such alien on board thereof, or by the Secretary of Labor, by any of the remedies provided by law for the collection of duties imposed upon vessels entering the ports of the United States, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the tax or while the same remains unpaid, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a special permit for one departure of such vessel before the payment of such tax: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. If recovered, any person paying such tax shall be entitled to a lien upon the vessel to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall refuse the application of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel for clearance on account of the presence of any alien employed thereon who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States from any foreign port or place, or if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall refuse or neglect to report, list, and pay the tax imposed by this section in respect of any such alien, or if any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall refuse to furnish information concerning any such alien required by the Secretary of Labor, such vessel shall be refused clearance until such refusal, neglect, or failure shall have been reported by the Secretary of Labor to the Secretary of the Treasury and such tax paid, information furnished, or permit granted by the Secretary of Labor, as the case may be.

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors at the port of arrival; and shall not be delayed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the proper officer as the boat comes (From 1918) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

"Alien an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, duty and where they were respectively applied for, the amount of money each has in his possession, and the amount he has paid for his passage, and whether his passage is paid in whole or in part by any person, company, or corporation, and the name and last known address of the person or company who paid the same, and the final destination of each alien as far as known, as well as such other information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left the vessel previously, and the cause for their departure, so far as known. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer a list as herein required, or who refuses to furnish such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, or by any such officer, in relation to the immigration of aliens, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100 for each such offense. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who knowingly lands or permits to land from any such vessel at any port in the United States any alien not duly listed, unless such alien is specially exempted from the operation of this section by the Secretary of Labor, or who knowingly lands or permits to land any alien at any port other than a port designated by the Secretary of Labor as a port of entry for such alien, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such alien so landed, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. If any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel shall refuse or fail to deliver to the proper officer the list required by this section, or shall refuse or fail to furnish any information required by the Secretary of Labor, or by any officer authorized by him to obtain the same, or to make any report required by this section, or shall refuse or fail to pay any tax imposed by this section, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such refusal or failure, and such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, her tackle, furniture, apparel, boats, and cargo, and may be collected by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

If remission refused: not shall such fine be remitted or refunded.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Art. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not after unless reason to believe it incomplete in the administrative time prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said act.

Penalty been served, the deposit required in rule 55 has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital to such extent and under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the United States from any place outside thereof, such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has examined such seaman (unless inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers until the determination of the question upon which the imposition of such penalty depends has been finally determined by the Secretary of Labor, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient in amount to cover such penalty, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outward manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from such vessel, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, _____, of the _____, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from and port or place during the past transportation, and that I have not, nor has any person to my knowledge or belief, secreted or detained on board any alien seaman, or any person who intends to desert the vessel, or any person who has been refused a certificate by the Secretary of Labor, or any person who has been refused a certificate by the Secretary of Labor, or any person who has been refused a certificate by the Secretary of Labor

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 6, 1917.

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the alien's employ, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held for and discharged by Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any vessel in the port of arrival; or lists containing as much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of any of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens arriving and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION 3, RULE 10.

RULE 3. Manifesting, registering, and identifying.—(a) Arriving and departing seamen shall be manifested on the blank forms provided for that purpose by the department, in accordance with the terms of section 30. When an arriving seaman is a "crewman" a notation to that effect should be made upon the manifest.

(b) Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 32 hereof, the deposit specified in rule 38 (subd. 3) has been made.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER.

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held for and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens arriving and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while if remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION 3, RULE 10.

SEC. 3. Manifesting, segregating, and identifying.—(a) Arriving and departing seamen shall be manifested on the blank forms provided for that purpose by the department, in accordance with the terms of section 38. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made upon the manifest.

(b) Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 20 have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 pravid for, the deposit specified in Rule 38 (subd. 5) has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That after the [date] a passport duly viséed by a consular officer in charge of the port of arrival shall be the only document accepted from an alien seeking admission to the United States from any foreign port or place at which a passport is required by the President under the provisions of section 4 of this Act, except that a passport shall not be required from an alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning from a temporary visit abroad, except during the existence of a national emergency proclaimed by the President; and after the [date] no alien shall be admitted to the United States unless he shall be in possession of a valid passport as aforesaid, or unless he is specifically exempted from the production of a passport by the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Labor jointly, or unless he is proceeding to the United States from a country contiguous to the United States and shall establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival that it is impracticable because of the unavailability of transportation or other cause, beyond the control of the alien, for him to obtain a passport and that he belongs to the class of aliens to whom a passport shall not be required as a condition precedent to admission to the United States: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to accredited officials of foreign governments coming to the United States solely to perform official duties, or to their suites, families, or guests; or to aliens in transit through the United States; or to seamen employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States and seeking temporary shore leave; or to aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who are returning from a temporary visit abroad; or to such other classes of aliens as may be subsequently specified by the President of the United States whenever he finds that the interests of the United States require the application of this provision to them.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Rule 7. (b) Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port a list or manifest of all the aliens on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared and sworn to by the master in quadruplicate on blank forms furnished by the Department of Labor, and which shall contain the following information regarding each alien, to wit: Full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last permanent residence, race, final destination, whether having a ticket through to such destination, whether the expenses of the alien are paid by himself or by others, whether in possession of money, and if so how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so what relatives or friends and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or prepayment of transportation, assistance, or advice, express or implied, to induce him to enter the United States, whether he intends to return to the country from which he comes, whether he has a ticket through to the place to which he is destined, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, whether he has been deported or excluded and if so why, whether he is coming to the United States to practice polygamy or any other crime, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is a member of any organization entertaining such views, whether he is coming to the United States to perform labor, if so what kind, whether he has a contract or engagement, the name and address of the person who sent for him, the amount of money in his possession, and whether he has any relatives in the country from which he comes, and if so what relatives, and whether he has been supported in part or in whole by others, and if so by whom, whether he is a stowaway, whether he has been a member of the United States Army or Navy, and if so when and how long, whether he has ever been in the employ of the United States Government, or of any State government, or of any municipal government, and if so when and in what capacity, whether he is a citizen of the United States, and how he acquired citizenship, whether he is deaf, dumb, blind, crippled, or otherwise physically defective, and if so from what cause, whether he is under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what is the nature of such contract or agreement, and the amount of money he has agreed to receive therefor, whether he has ever been in prison or supported by charity, and if so when and where, whether he is a polygam

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival [date conforming to date of sailing (Form 6X6) shall not be required on penalty], but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

Where [Form 6X6] shall not be required on penalty, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where two or more ports are to be visited in the United States, the list of aliens destined to ports in the district of the first port of arrival shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at that port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee, or the person in charge of the vessel at the time of its departure, to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, what aliens they were respectively in possession of at the time of sailing, and the final destination of such aliens, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor; and no person shall be permitted to land from any such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival shall have been furnished with such lists, or shall have been satisfied that no such lists are required to be delivered. It shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel, before it leaves its last port of departure for the United States, to cause a list to be prepared containing the name, age, sex, calling, nationality, and last permanent residence of each alien who is destined to the United States and who is on board such vessel, and to deliver such list to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such list shall contain such additional information concerning such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be prepared in such manner, and with such headings, as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe. Such lists shall be open to the inspection of immigration officers at all times until the vessel has been admitted to entry or has departed from the port. Any master who refuses to deliver such list, or who refuses to allow the inspection thereof, or who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list of the aliens employed on such vessel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list is not delivered, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The master of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the list required by this section, or who shall refuse to allow the inspection thereof, or who shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port the list required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list is not delivered, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The master of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the list required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, or who shall refuse to allow the inspection thereof, or who shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port the list required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list is not delivered, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such penalties shall be in addition to any other penalties provided by law. The list of aliens required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such list shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival [date conforming to date of sailing (Form 6X6) shall not be required on penalty], but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where two or more ports are to be visited in the United States, the list of aliens destined to ports in the district of the first port of arrival shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at that port.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee, or the person in charge of the vessel at the time of its departure, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, what aliens they were respectively in possession of at the time of sailing, and the final destination of such aliens, so far as the same are known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel; except that no list shall be required in the case of aliens in transit through the United States to foreign countries, who are in possession of through tickets reading to such destinations, and who submit to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel such evidence of the existence of such tickets as may be required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival; and except that no list shall be required in the case of aliens who are in possession of through tickets reading to such destinations, and who submit to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel such evidence of the existence of such tickets as may be required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival; and except that no list shall be required in the case of aliens who are in transit through the United States from one foreign country to another through a port of the United States, if the intending transportation of such aliens is shown by the ticket or other documentary evidence in their possession to the satisfaction of the immigration officer at the port of arrival; and except that no list shall be required in the case of aliens who are members of the crew of any vessel arriving at the United States and who remain on board while such vessel is in port; but the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel shall be required to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list of all the members of the crew employed on such vessel, and to make oath to the correctness of such list, which oath may be administered by any such immigration officer. Such list shall contain such additional information concerning such members of the crew as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be open to the inspection of immigration officers at all times until the vessel has been admitted to entry or has departed from the port. Any master who refuses to deliver such list, or who refuses to allow the inspection thereof, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port the list required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, or who shall refuse to allow the inspection thereof, or who shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port the list required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list is not delivered, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The master of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the list required by this section, or who shall refuse to allow the inspection thereof, or who shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port the list required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list is not delivered, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such penalties shall be in addition to any other penalties provided by law. The list of aliens required by this section to be delivered before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such list shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival [date conforming to date of sailing (Form 6X6) shall not be required on penalty], but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where two or more ports are to be visited in the United States, the list of aliens destined to ports in the district of the first port of arrival shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at that port.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Quarters shall not be granted any vessel until the data required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and no vessel shall receive clearance papers after entry until the data required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, unless notice to the administrative officer has been previously given as provided by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and a permit granted, which permit shall be returned to the collector of customs at the time clearance papers are granted.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness which arose subsequent to the departure of the vessel from a foreign port, or because of quarantine, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel unless such alien shall have been duly admitted to entry or has departed from the United States within the period of a bona fide shore leave, to be determined by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman employed on any such vessel shall, upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, be granted a bona fide shore leave, or shall be required to remain on board while in port. Any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall, upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, be issued a landing card, which shall be surrendered each time such alien leaves or returns to such vessel. Upon the departure of such vessel from a port of the United States, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel who has not been admitted to the United States or who has not returned on board, and shall deliver to such immigration officer the landing card issued to each such alien seaman. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any such vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers, or granted pratique by any health officer, until the payment

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place at which the master or other person in charge of such vessel, whether the vessel be bound in the first instance to the port of arrival or to some other port in the United States, shall be required to report and deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete list of all aliens employed on board such vessel, whether the inspection officer or the master of such vessel desires to land any such alien at such port or not, and the master of such vessel shall not land any such alien at such port or allow any such alien to land elsewhere in the United States from such vessel without the permission of the inspection officer in charge at such port, except as provided in section 3 of this Act. Such list shall contain the name and age of each such alien, his sex, whether married or single, his calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country from which he last came, the port in the United States at which he intends to land, whether he has a ticket through to such port or place, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so, when and how long, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is in possession of $50 in cash or more, whether he is going to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend and what his address is, whether he has a contract to labor in the United States, and if so what it is, whether he has been deported from the United States and if so when and why, whether he is coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, expressed or implied, to perform labor in the United States, and if so what the nature of such labor is and for how long a period he intends to stay, and such other facts as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization as to the right of any such alien to enter the United States under the law. The master of such vessel shall also report and deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival full and complete information concerning any seaman who is employed on board such vessel and who intends to leave the vessel at such port, and shall not permit any such seaman to leave the vessel until such information has been reported and delivered as required by this section. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each such violation.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, within the boundaries of customs districts established by the Secretary of the Treasury, and where and where they were inspected, as to the number of aliens on board, their nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether they have been in the United States previously and how long, whether they have a ticket through to their destination, whether their transportation was paid for by themselves or others, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are coming to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and whether they have money in their possession, and if so, how much, whether they are in good health, mentally and physically, and all such facts as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to enable him to properly classify them as to admissibility into the United States, which information shall be noted on the list or manifest at the time of the inspection of the alien passengers by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival. Such list or manifest shall be prepared by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, or by the chief officer thereof, in such manner as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of first arrival in the United States. It shall be unlawful for any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to refuse to furnish such list or manifest in the manner and form required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or to refuse to furnish such additional information relative to any of the aliens carried in such vessel as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, or by any person duly authorized by him, at any time before the departure of such vessel from the port at which such demand is made, or to refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board any such vessel for the purpose of examining the list or manifest of aliens carried in such vessel, or to refuse to permit such inspector to make such examination of the aliens carried in such vessel as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, or by any person duly authorized by him, at any time before the departure of such vessel from the port at which such demand is made, or to refuse to permit any such inspector to take such other steps as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this section relating to the examination of aliens on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States, or to refuse to carry out any lawful order of the Secretary of Labor, or any person duly authorized by him, for the detention on board or at quarantine of any alien who has been certified to the Secretary of Labor by the medical officer of the port as suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or to refuse to detain on board or at quarantine any alien who has been certified to the Secretary of Labor by the medical officer of the port as being afflicted with such
